PREFACE.

This is the 124th, Edition of the Asylum Press Almanack and Directory.

We take this opportunity of thanking the Government, all our advertisers and other patrons for the ready help they have rendered by their willing co-operation.

We assure the Government and the Public that we have no greater aim than to serve them properly, and to the extent to which such service is utilised and appreciated, we shall feel highly rewarded. Particular care has been taken for verifying and bringing up to date all information in the Directory, and making several improvements which the following pages will show, utilising some matter from the "Madras Year Book" wherever possible.

We also tender our thanks to the members of the Legislative Council for their very kind help in supporting this Almanack and Directory at the meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 10th October 1924, and we sincerely thank the Government for renewing to us their kind and valued patronage. With this kind help we have been able to issue the Directory for the current year at a much earlier date than last year. We regret we were not able to issue the Directory on the 1st January 1925, as we originally intended to do, as our arrangements for the 1925 issue had to be begun late after we were guaranteed the help from Government which we anxiously awaited.

We assure the Government and the public that with their continued help and patronage we shall be able to publish our 1926 edition on the New Year's Day of 1926.

No Directory, especially one published in India, can claim to be thoroughly accurate. We realise our short comings. And we shall appreciate all suggestions for improvement and any corrections sent to us by 1st. October 1925, will be incorporated in the 1926 edition.

MADRAS:

26th Feb. 1925.

CHAKRAVARTHI CO

PRESS OPINIONS ON THE 123rd EDITION (1924).

The "Madras Mail," June 28, 1924.

* * * It is with special pleasure that we see the old publication make its appearance for the one hundred and twenty-third time Its present publishers, Messrs. Chakravarthi Co, have taken much trouble in bringing the book up to date by retaining all the valuable old features and introducing such new matter as the change of conditions and the development of political life in Madras make necessary The book contains a short history of the administration of the Presidency, as a whole in addition to the Work done by the various departments during the year, the Rules regulating elections to the Indian Legislatures and the Provincial Council which were revised last year, and a really useful feature is the carefully compiled "Who's Who." Accompanying the volume is an accurate and very practicable map of the City of Madras specially prepared by the Madras Survey Department. The Almanack is well printed and got up and its price remains the same as that of its predecessors, namely Rs. 8 or with postage Rs 9, The exigencies of the situation due to the need for correcting and bringing the book up to date are responsible for a rather belated appearance in the middle of the year but we are promised a much earlier issue next year.

The "Hindu," June 28, 1924.

The Asylum Press Almanack and Directory, for the current year has just been issued by the publishers Messrs, Chakravarthi Co Madras, and judging from the several useful improvements, that have been introduced, the publishers are to be congratulated on the issue of this one hundred and twenty-third Edition That the publication has proved its usefulness for nearly a century and a quarter is in itself a sufficient testimony to the immense popularity of this pioneer Madras Annual Among the several improvements must be mentioned the chapters giving in brief a short history of the administration of the Madras Government followed by an account of the work turned out by the different departments during the last official year The rules relating to the Elections to the Indian Legislature and the Provincial Legislative Council which were revised last year have been incorporated Every portion of the Directory has been improved by the addition of fresh information and statistics The "Who's Who" has been enlarged and one could find very easily all available information regarding the prominent men in this Presidency etc, all available information is given in brief about every member of the Provincial Legislative Council The printing and get up of the book for which the Associated Printers Ltd, are responsible are excellent and a most welcome addition this year is the issue of an up-to date Map of the city specially prepared for the Almanack by the Madras Survey Office. The Map alone is worth one rupee.

We have no doubt that this Annual which has been an every day reference book for the past 123 years, will continue during the current year also to answer the needs of every one in every walk of life in this presidency. The price of the Annual continues to be the same as previous years viz, Rs 8 and every one that can afford this paltry sum should have a copy on his desk so that he can easily find the exact information he wants on all matters of general interest.

The "Swarajya," June 30, 1924.

Messrs Chakravarthi Company, Madras have just published the Asylum Press Almanack and Directory for 1924. This is the 123rd edition of the Almanack and a perusal of the same gives us an impression of much care and discretion in the selection of material and of omission of unnecessary information which too often gets into reference books of this kind A useful and up to-date copy of the Map of the Madras City is appended. The new electoral rules have been incorporated and the Mofussil directory has been considerably enlarged The volume has been divided into eight convenient sections and each section has been separately paged. A general index running to 26 pages has been given at the end and references are thus picked up easily from any of the several sections.

The printing and general get up are as usual good and the Directory should be found highly useful wherever a really reliable book of reference is needed We congratulate Messrs. Chakravarthi Co, on their production of the volume at the very reasonable price of Rs 8.

Etc., Etc., Etc.

PLANETARY PHENOMENA.

The planets known from ancient antiquity are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. To these were added Uranus and Neptune. Several of these have one or more moons or satellites attending on them and their phenomena are noted below

Mercury.—Is one of the inferior planets having its orbit nearer to the Sun than that of the Earth. It is the smallest of the planets. Its diameter varies from 4". 6 to 16".4 (according to the distance from the Earth) It revolves round the Sun in nearly three months. It is gibbous, when its illuminated portion lies between its semi circle and its circle. In high latitudes when the twilight is long it can seldom be seen with the unaided eye and then only when its angular distance from the Sun is greatest, which is 29°. When the Sun is between the Earth and the planet, it appears perfectly round but very small, not more than 5" in diameter, but when in the opposite portion of its orbit, its form is a slender and brilliant crescent nearly 12" in diameter. It has all the phases of the Moon during its revolutions round the Sun. Owing to its proximity to the Sun several important discoveries have been prevented from being made. It is a Morning Star from the beginning of the year to February 15th ; from April 26th to June 10th, from September 2nd to 16th; and from December 16th to the end of the year; and an Evening Star during other portions of the year Transits can occur only near the dates when the Earth passes the planet's node.

Owing to its swiftness in motion it is called "The Nimble Messenger of the Gods." If inferior conjunction takes place when the planet is near its node it crosses the disc of the Sun as a small black spot.

It is in South Declination from 1st January to 18th March, and from October 2nd to end of the year and at other periods it is in North Declination

Venus.—Is one of the ancient inferior planets having its orbit so far within that of the Earth that it appears to us as an attendant upon the Sun and never more than 47° from the Sun. It revolves round the Sun in nearly 7½ months and is regarded as the most beautiful of the planets and the second in order of distance from the Sun It is well recognised as a Morning and Evening Star in modern times. It exhibits to the telescope phases similar to those of the Moon. The diurnal period of this planet is little less than 24 hours. Every 8 years it forms conjunction with the Sun in the same part of the heavens. Whatever appearances, therefore, arise from its position with respect to the Earth and the Sun, they are repeated at the end of every 8 years in nearly the same form. When it attains the greatest brilliancy it may be easily distinguished by the unaided eye in day light provided its position is known. Occasionally it passes between the Earth and the Sun at inferior conjunctions and transits or crosses the disc of the Sun from east to west as a round black spot. The transit can happen only within a day or two of the dates when the Earth passes the nodes. It appears West of the Sun from inferior to superior conjunction and East of the Sun from superior to inferior conjunction. Hence it is, termed Phosphor and Hesperus respectively. It is a Morning Star from the beginning of the year to about 5th March and an Evening Star from about the 26th May to the end of the year.

It is in South Declination from 1st January to 30th March and from 24th August to the end of the year. At other periods it is in North Declination

Mars :—Is one of the ancient superior planets next to the Earth in order of distance from the Sun. It revolves round the Sun in nearly two years. It is a small planet having its diameter only about half that of the Earth. It is always very near the Ecliptic, never varying from it more than 2°. It is distinguished from all other planets by its deep red colour and fiery aspect. It is called "God of War" When the planet is at its opposition, it comes within 47 millions of miles of the Earth and rising about the time the Sun sets, surprises us by its magnitude and splendour. It rotates on its axis in about 24 hours 40 minutes To the inhabitants of the Earth it is sometimes gibbous, some times full, never horned. It has two satellites Phobos and Deimos discovered by Prof. Hall of Washington Observatory in 1877 and these could be seen only with a large and powerful telescope. It is a Morning Star from about the 22nd October to the end of the year and an Evening Star during other periods of the year. It exhibits all the phases of the Moon like Mercury and Venus to the inhabitants of the Earth.

It is in North Declination from 1st January to 1st October and in South Declination from 2nd October to the end of the year.

Jupiter —Is an ancient superior planet further distant from the Sun. It is the most brilliant of the planets sometimes surpassing Venus in brightness. It revolves round the Sun in about 12 years It rotates on its axis more swiftly than any other planet in about 9 hours 55, minutes. The most remarkable phenomena in the disc of the planet is the number of belts by which it is encompassed. These appear variable at different times and even at the same time viewed by telescopes of different powers; yet they appear parallel to each other and to the equator of the planet. Its belts and phenomena are very interesting subjects for examination There are a number of Moons attending on it but only 8 have now been discoverd. Of these the last one discovered in 1908 has a retrograde motion while the rest and their primary move from west to east. These moons not only eclipse each other but are eclipsed by their primary. To a powerful telescope, the moons present a delightful prospect. They seem generally ranged in a straight line parallel or nearly parallel to its belts. The observation of the eclipses of the Satellites of this planet gave rise to the discovery of the velocity of light by Romer, the Danish Astronomer. It is a Morning Star from the last week of October to the end of the year and an Evening Star from the beginning of the year to about the 4th August

It is in South Declination throughout the year.

Saturn :—Next in size to Jupiter is this planet, which is one of the superior planets. It was considered the remotest of the planets It shines with a dull, pale, leaden light In heathen mythology this planet was the father of Jupiter Like Jupiter, it has belts on its surface A still more wonderful appendage is its ring which encompasses it at a great distance from it. Its ring consists of two concentric rings separated from each other by a dark space It will regain the same place in about 378 days To an inhabitant of Saturn the Sun's light and heat must be about 90 times less than they are to us About the time of opposition, these systems of rings will be best seen. There are ten Satellites attending on it The 9th Satellite has a retrograde motion. Its moons are not of such interest as those of Jupiter. Their distance from us precludes us generally from observing their eclipses and occultations; their orbits also are largely inclined to the orbit of their primary and consequently eclipses are rare Neither its rings nor its Satellites can be best seen without the aid of a very powerful telescope It makes a revolution round the Sun in about 29½ years. It is a Morning Star from about the 26th November to the end of the year and an Evening Star from the beginning of the year to about October 24th.

It is in South Declination throughout the year.

Uranus :—It is a superior planet discovered by Sir William Herschell in 1784. It was for a long time named after him. Prior to its discovery it was observed by several astronomers who thought it a fixed star. It could be best seen by any telescope if its position is known. It has 9 satellites which are very minute and require a telescope of a very high order to see them. The discovery of Neptune has brought this planet somewhat nearer the Sun. The Satellites have retrograde motion. It is in South Declination throughout the year.

Neptune :—Is a superior planet most distant from the Sun. It has only one Satellite attending on it which could be seen always with its primary. The discovery of this planet is most remarkable, for two different Astronomers have independently discovered this planet. Any pocket glass is sufficient to see it if its position is known. It is in North Declination throughout the year.

Minor Planets :—The supposition that a great number of those lie between Mars and Jupiter led some astronomers to draw their attention to find out the truth. Till the discovery of a new minor planet in 1910, Eros was considered the nearest to the Earth after the Moon. Vesta is the only one ever visible to the naked eye which under certain conditions acquires a brilliancy equal to stars of the fifth magnitude.

THERMOMETER.

There are three kinds of thermometers, Fahrenheit, Reaumur and Centigrade. The scales of their comparison are noted below.

Freezing Point – 32°F = 0°C = 0°R.

Boiling Point – 212°F = 100°C = 80°R.

To convert Centigrade or Reaumur into Fahrenheit or vice versa, use one of the following formulæ.

Let F, C, R, represent the number of degrees in Fahrenheit, Centigrade and Reaumur respectively then $F = \frac{9C}{5} + 32 = \frac{9R}{4} + 32 = C + R + 32$, $C = \frac{5(F-32)}{9}$; $R = \frac{4(F-32)}{9}$.

SHIP'S TONNAGE.

Is described as "Gross" and "Register," Gross Tonnage (does not include the entire space available on a ship—for from this measurement all spaces above deck, solely appropriated to the ship's machinery, deck house cabins, deck shelters, the galleys, wheel and chart houses, cable tiers, sail, carpenter's and boatswain's stores and a few minor spaces, are excluded. Register Tonnage excludes in addition to the above, crew space, Masters, Officers and Engineers accommodation, etc., and in the case of steamers, 32 per cent. of the whole is also deducted for engine rooms allowance. In steamers, the difference between gross and register tonnage is often very great, the "Oceanic," for example, has a gross tonnage of more than 17,000 tons, while her register tonnage is only a little over 7,000. A "displacement ton" is 35 c. ft.

NOTE.—France, Belgium, Italy, Greece and Switzerland constitute the "Latin" Union, and their coins are alike in weight and fineness, occasionally differing in name. The same system has been adopted by Spain, Servia, Bulgaria, Russia and Roumania, but they have not joined the Union. Francs and centimes of France Belgium, and Switzerland are respectively designated lire and centesimi in Italy,, drachmai and lepta in Greece; dinars and paras in Servia; pesetas and centimos in Spain; leys and banis in Roumania, leve and stotinkis in Bulgaria.

The Scandinavian countries, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, all employ coins of the same weight and fineness, their names being also alike. Most of the South American States possess a standard coin. equal in weight and fineness to the silver 5-fr. piece, generally termed a "peso." In Hayti, the corresponding coin is a "gourde."

In most of the British Colonies English money is current. The currency of Ceylon, Mauritius, and the East African Protectorate is, however, based on the rupee of British India; that of the Straits Settlements is on a dollar basis. Canada and British Honduras coinage are on the basis of the United States gold dollar. A British dollar, identical in weight and fineness with the Japanese "yen," is legal tender in the Straits Settlements, Hongkong, Sarawak, British North Borneo and Labuan.

The exchange value of the monies of many countries is determined by the rate of exchange for the day. The rate given in the exchange notes of the newspapers generally represents the number of standard coins that are equivalent to one sovereign. The Spanish rate is given in terms of pence per dollar (=2 escudos), the Russian in pence per rouble, Portuguese in pence per milreis, and the United States rate in pence per dollar.

The exchange value of the Indian rupee depends on the rate for "India Council Bills," but by an Act of 1898, the British sovereign was made legal tender and equivalent to 1½ rupees, the rupee being thus rated at 1s. 4*d.*

In "bimetallic" countries pure gold is generally taken as being worth 15½ time its weight of pure silver. This proportion corresponds to giving standard silver a constant value of 60⅞*d.* per oz.

BRITISH WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

UNIFORMITY.—An edict of King Edgar decreed that there should be but one Standard Measure, that kept at Winchester; and by the 27th section of Magna Charta, there was to be one weight for all England. Nevertheless, numerous customary weights and measures have continued in use—custom was stronger than law, especially with regard to land, corn and wool. In 1824, however, an Act was passed rendering uniformity compulsory from the 1st of January 1826, since which time, the Imperial Statute System of Weights and Measures has been in general use, although some remains of the older form still linger.

Chain = 16 rods = 484 yds. = 4,356 ft.
Rood = 40 rods = 1,210 yds. = 10,890 ft.
Acre=4 roods = 160 rods = 4,840 yards.
Yard of Land = 30 acres = 120 roods.

Mile = 640 acres = 2,560 roods = 6,400 chains = 102,400 rods, poles, or perches, or 3,097,600 square yards.

An Acre roughly stated has four equal sides of 69½ yards; accurate measurement gives each side 208·71 feet.

The sides of a square half-acre would be 147·581 feet. and of a square quarter-acre 104·355 feet.

The above Imperial land Measure is now employed as the standard in the United Kingdom, in Canada, Australia, and the Colonies generally, also in the United States; but occasionally some older measurements are referred to. Of these—

The Lancashire and Irish Acre. each of 160 perches, contains 7,840 sq. yards, equal to 1·619835 Statute. 1 Statute = 0·617347 Lancashire or Irish acre.

The Cheshire Acre of 160 perches, each containing 64 square yards = 10,240 square yards.

The Cunningham Acre, equal to 1·291322 Statute; or 1 Statute Acre is equal to 0·7744 Cunningham.

The Scottish Acre = 1·261183 Statute (nearly 6,104 square yards).

Electrical Measures.

For practical and commercial purposes the chief units are the—

VOLT —Electromotive force = about 92·6% of that given by one Daniell's battery cell.

OHM – Resistance = the resistance offered to the passage of a current of electricity by a thread of mercury 106 cm. long, and 1 mm. cross section at the temperature of melting ice.

746 watts = 1 horse-power.

In incandescent lamps of 16-candle power, (nominal) about four watts are required, per candle power to give good economical results for domestic purposes.

One Board of Trade unit will keep a 16-candle, incandescent lamp alight for about 16 hours.

METRIC WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Metric System is based upon the (assumed) length of the direct distance from the Equator to the North Pole. The ten millionth part of this distance, as calculated in 1795, was adopted by the French Government as the unit of length, and called a mètre. All other measurements are derived from this unit; the cube of the tenth part of the mètre is the unit of capacity, called a litre, and the weight of a litre of water, at a certain temperature is the unit of weight, called a kilogramme. The unit of land measurement is 10,000 sq. mètres, called a hectare The above terms are now used in this country under the English names of meter, liter, kilogram, and hectare.

The Metrical System is used in Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Spain Sweden and Norway, and some other countries, the unit of which is the Gramme = 15·432 grains; the chief multiple of the Gramme is the Kilogramme = 2·2046 lb., in practical use this is found inconvenient for small purchases, and nearly all commodities are sold by the demi or half kilo. The Centner of 50 kilos = 110¼ lb., very nearly represents the English cwt.; but heavy goods are sold by the Tonneau of 2204·621 lb, about 19 cwt. 77 lb., the Myriagramme being ignored.

In the United States and in Canada the cwt. is generally reckoned as 100 lb., and the ton of 20 cwt. = 2,000 lbs.

In Russia the Pood of 36 lb. is the commercial weight: 62* Poods = 1 English ton.

BRITISH INDIAN WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

The Unit of the British Indian Ponderary System is called the Tola. It weighs 180 grains English Troy Weight, as does the Rupee. From it upwards are derived the heavy weights, viz., Chittack, Seer and Maund; and by its sub-division, the small or jewellers' weights called Mashas, Ruttees and Dháns.

1 Dhán or grain		= $\frac{15}{32}$ grain Troy	= $\frac{8}{175}$ dr.	Avoir.

40 Seers	= 1 Mun	= 100 lbs. Troy	= $82\frac{2}{7}$,,	,,

To Convert Indian Weight into Avoirdupois.

Multiply the weight in Seers by 72, and divide by 35; the result will be the weight in lbs. Avoirdupois, or multiply the weight in maunds by 36, and divide by 49 the result will be the weight in cwts. Avoirdupois.

To Convert Avoirdupois Weight into Indian Weight.

Multiply the weight in lbs. Avoirdupois by 35, and divide by 72; or multiply the weight in cwts. by 49, and divide by 36; the result will be the weight; in the latter, in Maunds; in the former, in Seers.

A Ton is equal to 27·222 Maunds, or $27\frac{1}{4}$ Maunds nearly.

Bazar Weight.—16 chittacks are one seer, or 2 lb. 0 oz. 13 drs.; and 40 seers, 1 maund or 82 lbs. 2 ozs. 3 drs. 100 Bazar maunds = 100 Factory; and $1\frac{1}{4}$ Factory maunds = 1 cwt.

Factory Weight.—16 chittacks are 1 seer, or 1 lb. 13 ozs. 14 drs.; and 40 seers, 1 maund or 74 lbs. 10 ozs. 11 drs. The Indian maund = $82\frac{2}{7}$ lb. Avoirdupois Weight.

8 Unglis	,,	1 Girah ... ,, =	$2\frac{1}{4}$ Inches.	2 Haths	,,	1 Guz ... ,, =	1 Yard.

N.B.—The Guz varies in different localities from 24 to 36 Inches.

There appears to be no Indian measures of capacity for such Dry and Liquid goods as are sold by weight. Wherever, for the sake of convenience, measures are employed, they are intended to represent some specific weight of a Seer, Chittack, &c.

LINEAL MEASURE.

Notwithstanding that the cubit or human forearm is the basis or unit in Oriental and Western countries, there is no fixed standard established in India.

In Bengal the measure mostly used is the following:—

1 Hath (Cubit) = 18 Inches ; 4 Haths = 1 Danda or = 2 Yards , 2,000 Dandas = 1 Coss

The Coss or Bengal mile is equal to 1 mile, 1 furlong, 3 poles, $3\frac{1}{2}$ yards English.

The Indian Imperial Coss is equal to $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles nearly.

NOTE.—In the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh the average distance is about 2 miles, but it differs in almost every province in the country. In Agra and Muttra, the coss is about $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles ; towards the Himalayas, the coss is a little more than a mile , in Bundlekhund, it is three times as long as in other parts and is called a Pucca coss ; while in the Doab it is the Gow coss, or as far as the lowing of a cow can be heard at the dead of night.

1.—When Government 4 per cent. Securities sell at 76, what are the equivalent values of the 5 and 5½ per cent. loans?

In the table opposite 76 in the first column are 95, the value of 5 per cent. loan, and 104½, the value of 5½ per cent. loan—the interest in all the three cases being 5·263 or 55·19 per cent

2.—At what price should I purchase 4 per cents. to obtain 5½ per cent. for my money?

In the fourth column opposite 5½ or 5·5 in the column for 4 per cent., stands 72·727 or 728·11, the price required.

3.—What would I gain by selling out Rs 10,000 5 per cent Government loans at 104 and purchasing 5½ per cent. at 112?

In the third column opposite 104 in the 2nd, is .. .. 114·4
112

Gain on Rs. 100 of Capital ... . 2·4
And in the fourth column opposite 112 in the 3rd, is 4·911 per cent.
" " " " 104 " 2nd, 4·808 "

Difference, or gain per cent per annum on Capital 0·103 " or fully 1·10 per cent. being Rs. 10-5a on every Rs. 1,000 invested.

4.—To find the equivalent values of 4 and 5½ per cent. Securities when 5 per cent. are selling at 103⅜, or Rs. 103-6a.

Opposite 103 in the 2nd column are 82·4 and 113·3 in the 1st and 3rd, and among the "proportional parts" corresponding to 375 or 6a. in the 5 per cent. column are 0·3 R in the 4 per cent. and ·413 in the 5½ per cent column.

Hence 82·4 + ·3 = 82·7, the equivalent price of 4 per cent., and 113·3 + ·413 = Rs. 113·713, or Rupees 113, 11a 5p, the equivalent price of 5½ per cents.

Other uses of this Table will readily occur to brokers and others.

FOREIGN PASSPORTS.

NEW REGULATIONS.

RULES GOVERNING THE ISSUE OF PASSPORTS AND VISAS.

British Indian passports are only issued to British subjects and to British-protected persons. Once issued they will be regarded for all ordinary purposes as constituting sufficient proof of the national status of their holders.

The primary object of a passport is to constitute official proof of the national status and identity of its holder, for purposes either of travel or of residence abroad. Full particulars of such national status should be clearly stated in the space provided for that purpose, and the description of the holder should be as full and accurate as possible.

Married women who are British subjects derive their British nationality from that of their husbands, irrespective of the nationality they possessed before marriage In every case, therefore, full particulars of the husband's (or late husband's) nationality should be given.

In all cases where a passport is issued to a British Protected person, as distinct from a British subject, the fact that the holder is a British-protected person should be clearly and conspicuously stated, followed by particulars of the State or territory of which he is a native, e.g:—"British-protected person, native of the Indian State of Baroda"

All persons applying for British Indian passports are required to complete a declaration on form A. which can be obtained from all Collectors and the Secretary to Government, Law Department, Fort St. George.

The declaration, including the personal description, must be completed by the applicant in his or her own handwriting and signed in the spaces, provided provision is made for the inclusion in the declaration of the wife of the applicant and his minor children under the age of 16. if they are accompanying him or residing with him abroad, and if it is desired that they should be included in his passport. Minor children under 16 may also be included, on similar conditions, in the passport of their mother, if she holds a separate passport, or in the passport of some other responsible person officially in charge of them. All other persons must apply for separate passports, and fill in separate declarations.

In the case of persons deriving their British nationality from a husband, father, or paternal grandfather born within His Majesty's Dominions, the particulars of the place and date of birth of such husband, father, or paternal grandfather must be given in the body of the declaration, as well as those of the applicant's own place and date of birth. The latter particulars only, however, will appear on the passport itself.

Wives (including divorced wives) and widows of British subjects must in all cases give their own maiden surname and, if twice married, the surname of their former huband also.

Where application is made for a joint passport including husband and wife, the body of the application must be completed and signed by the husband, who must state that he is accompanied by his wife, as indicated in the margin of the form The wife must complete and sign her personal description, giving her maiden surname. She must also give the place and date of her own birth but need not repeat the particulars of the date and place of her husband's birth, since these already appear on the form.

In the case of minor children under the age of 16 accompanying their parents or guardians, the names ages and sexes should be given in the space provided at the bottom of the margin of the form. It must however, be clearly understood that the fact of a minor child having been included in a British Indian passport cannot in itself be claimed as evidence that the child is a British subject in contemplation of British law.

For children under the age of 16 who require separate passports a declaration is required from their parent or guardian, on form B. As the separate passport so issued will constitute permanent evidence of the child's British nationality, no less care should be taken in verifying the British nationality of the child concerned than in verifying that of an adult.

In the case of naturalized British subjects, or of persons deriving their British nationality from the naturalization of their husband or father, full particulars of the certificate of naturalization should be given in the body of the form, i. e., the place and date of its issue, and its serial number. In the case of persons who were themselves naturalised as British subjects, the production of the certificate itself should always be insisted on, and should the applicant be unable to produce it the case should be referred to the Government of India with a full statement of the circumstances which render the production of the certificate impossible. In the case of persons deriving their British nationality from the naturalization of their husband, father or mother, the production of the certificate, or, failing that, of an official copy of it, should be insisted on as far as possible; but if the issuing officer is satisfied as to the bona fides of the applicant and considers that special circumstances make the production of the certificate or of an official copy of it genuinely impossible, he may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of it a statutory declaration from the applicant deposing to the necessary facts.

The subsidiary declaration or recommendation shown below the declaration to be made by the applicant must be completed and signed by a Political officer, Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or Police officer not below the rank of Superintendent, or Notary Public resident in India. If there should be no such person in a position to make the subsidiary declaration at the place where the issuing officer resides, or if the issuing officer is satisfied from his own knowledge that the applicant is unquestionably a fit and proper person to be furnished with a passport, he may, in the exercise of his discretion, accept the recommendation of some other responsible British subject, or dispense with it altogether, noting on the form his reason for so doing. Should any of the statements contained in the declaration prove to be false, more particularly in regard to the nationality of the applicant, the consequences to both the applicant and the person recommending him may be serious.

The recommendation is intended to serve as a verification of the facts stated by the applicant, and of his identity. The particulars of any additional documents produced, such as birth or marriage certificates, should be recorded in detail.

To the completed form of application must be attached duplicate unmounted photographs (size approximately two and three-quarters by two inches) of the applicant, and, if she is included the application, of his wife. One copy of each photograph should be certified on the back by the person who recommends the application in the following terms:—

"I certify this to be a correct photograph of

"(Signed)"

"(Place and date)"

The fee for the issue of a passport is Rs. 3.

A passport is valid for two years from the date of issue, and is renewable for four further periods of two years, unless all available space on it is covered, in which case a new passport must be obtained. When there is no further space available for endorsement or visas a new passport should be issued. British subjects and British-protected persons applying for the renewal of their passports should be required to complete the form of application (Form "E"). The fee for the renewal of a passport is Rs. 1—8—0 for each period of two years for which the passport is renewed.

VISAS FOR ALIENS.

British visas for aliens are of two types :—

(a) The transit visa, good for one or more direct journeys through British territory undertaken for the sole pursose of reaching the territory of another State.

(b) The non-transit visa, good for any number of journeys to British territory for any legitimate purpose during the period of its validity.

Both visas are valid for one year unless their validity is specially limited to a shorter period, except that in the case of the transit visa, the period of its validity cannot exceed that of the validity of the visa of the country of ultimate destination.

The fees to be charged for British visa granted to aliens are (a) for the transit visa Rupee 1 and (b) of the non-transit visa Rs. 7.

SECTION III.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

SHORT HISTORICAL SUMMARY.

The territory included within the Presidency of Fort St. George, or the Madras Presidency, is the southernmost of the Indian provinces. The coast line extends on the east of the peninsula from Orissa in Bengal to Cape Comorin. On the west the narrow strip of country formed by the Native States of Travancore and Cochin gives the coast line from Cape Comorin as far as the town of Cochin. After that Madras territory again forms the coast line until the Bombay Presidency is reached at the northern extremity of the South Canara district. In the centre of the peninsula thus enclosed are the Nagpore country and Berar, the territories of the Nizam, known generally as the Deccan, and the province of Mysore; but all the country south and east of Mysore belongs to the Madras Presidency.

The Presidency occupies an area of 142,260 square miles; excluding the area occupied by five Indian States.

The Presidency has a coast line of about 1,700 miles, and consequently there is a large area of country but little elevated above the level of the sea. Mountain ranges run northward from Cape Comorin along the Western Coast, attaining an elevation in some parts of from 4,000 to nearly 9,000 feet. Ranges of hills follow also the general line of the East Coast; but these, as a rule, are of lower elevation than the Western Ghauts. The Anaimudi mountain in the Anamalai range is now known to be the highest in Southern India, its summit being 8837 feet above the level of the sea. The drainage of the peninsula is for the most part from west to east into the Bay of Bengal, the area of country drained by rivers running westward being only the narrow strip of territory between the Western Ghauts and the sea. As a rule the country slopes gradually from the eastern base of the western mountain chain down to the Coromandel Coast, while the fall is sudden and precipitous on the western side of the mountains. The centre of the peninsula consists generally of undulating tablelands from 1,000 to 3,000 feet above the level of the sea.

The peculiar physical geography of the peninsula of India, with a huge mountain chain running from north to south along its western boundary, is of importance in regard to climate and the productions of the various districts. These hills have the effect of arresting the lower strata of rain clouds brought up from the Indian Ocean by the periodical winds of the south-west monsoon, and of causing excessive rain precipitation on the narrow strip of coast line on the western side of the peninsula. Where the mountain range is of great height, as between Malabar and Coimbatore, the rain clouds are almost entirely diverted from the districts immediately below the mountains on the eastern side, and while the annual rainfall on the western side may be 150 inches, not more than 20 inches will be registered on the eastern side, immediately within the influence of the mountain ranges. Where the mountain chain is of lower elevation, the rain clouds pass over the hills, and rain is precipitated in uncertain and varying amount over the peninsula to the east of the Western Ghauts; but, except in the northern districts, where the rainy season approximates to that of Bengal, the heaviest rainfall of the southern portion of the eastern division of the peninsula occurs during the period of the north-east monsoon. During the continuance of this monsoon, the western ranges of mountains have a similar effect in arresting the rain clouds, so that at the season of the year when the Carnatic is deluged by heavy rain, the Western Coast districts enjoy fire clear weather.

To the physical barrier of the Western Ghauts must be attributed, not only the vast differences of climate, but also those in the nature of the productions, in the eastern and western divisions of the peninsula. In the former the uncertainty and capricious character of the rainfall has taught the cultivators of the soil the necessity of making provision for the storage of water for irrigation purposes, and the existence of innumerable tanks or reservoirs, scattered all over the country, testify to the fact that, from periods of the remotest antiquity, the inhabitants of the tracts of country, which receive an irregular rainfall have exercised great ingenuity and readiness of resource in the construction of public works for the artificial irrigation of the soil. On the western side of the mountains, however, the necessity for such works has never arisen. There the periodical rains fall with great regularity as to time and quantity, and the earth yields her fruits so abundantly that, although in certain exceptional years there may be partial failures of crops, absolute famine, as a result of bad seasons, is unknown. Only three of the 26 districts of which the Madras Presidency is composed lie within the influence of the never-failing rains of the south-west monsoon in the remaining 28 districts nature demands the assistance of art in the collection, storage, and distribution of the condensed moisture of the heavens. In some of these 28 districts, however, as in the northern coast area, the periodic rains fall more regularly than in others, while in several of them the rivers running eastward, swelled by the south-west monsoon rains, are utilized in the fertilization of districts in which the natural moisture is defective.

The chief staples of the Presidency are rice, cholum (a kind of maize), cumboo (a kind of millet), ragi, and varagu amongst food-grains; gingelly amongst oil-seeds; and chillies, tobacco, sugar-cane, plantains, and betel leaf amongst garden crops. Cotton, as a special crop, is cultivated to an extent almost equalling that of ragi. The trees most grown for their fruits are cocoanuts, areca-nut, jack, tamarind, and mango. Rice, as might be expected, is produced in largest quantities in the alluvial and highly-irrigated districts of Tanjore, Godavari, Kistna and Guntur on the East Coast, and in Malabar and Kanara on the West Coast, where the rainfall is so abundant as to render irrigation by artificial means almost unnecessary. Cholum is most abundant in the tableland districts of Bellary and Kurnool, while cumboo and ragi are most extensively grown in the other inland, but less elevated, districts, such as Salem and Coimbatore. Cocoanut palms flourish most luxuriantly on the banks of the estuaries and backwaters or salt-water lagoons of the western districts of Malabar and Kanara and areca-nut palms in the valleys intersecting the lower slopes of the Western Ghauts.

Within the Madras Presidency there are six well-defined linguistic boundaries. In the northernmost district of Ganjam is included a portion of the Ooriya-speaking population. The Telugu language is commonly spoken by the people of the Northern Circars, and in a portion of the Nizam's country, Kurnool, Cuddapah, part of North Arcot, Nellore and some parts of Bellary. Tamil is the common language of the districts from a few miles north of Madras to the extreme south of the eastern division of the peninsula. Malayalam is the language of the Native States of Travancore, Cochin, and the Malabar district. Tulu is spoken in a limited portion of the South Canara district; and Canarese in certain portions of the Bellary, Coimbatore, Salem, and South Kanara districts. Besides these six Dravidian languages, the hill tribes of certain districts have dialects of their own, also of a Dravidian type. From time to time colonies of Telugu and Kanarese-speaking people have found their way down to the southern or Tamil country. In some cases they have been invited to settle as cultivators in localities where waste lands are available. In others they followed probably in the train of invading armies. In the same way people from the Mahratta country have settled in the south, and in all the large towns there are colonies of silk-weavers from Gujerat, who still speak a language of their own amongst themselves. Along the border lines of the prevailing languages two or more languages are indifferently spoken by the people. There is no instance of the Tamil people pushing their colonies up towards the north. The migrations appear to have been always from north to south. In the large military cantonments of Secunderabad and Bangalore there are Tamil-speaking populations, but these people have settled as camp followers.

The earliest inhabitants of Southern India of whom any traces now remain were the prehistoric builders of the cairns, barrows, kistvæns, and dolmens found in many districts; the makers of the rude stone weapons discovered in considerable quantities on the tops of the rocky hills of the Deccan; and the authors of the more finished utensils and implements now in course of excavation at the wonderful burial-grounds which have recently been discovered in Adichanallur and other places in Tinnevelly. Except that they may be declared to have passed from a Palæolithic, through a Neolithic, to an Iron age, little is known or can be conjectured regarding these ancient peoples. Presumably they were of the stock named Dravidian, which is distinguished from more northern ethnic families by its comparatively low stature, its dark skin, its high nasal index, and its use of the languages, so prominent in the Presidency, known as the Dravidian family.

The great gulf which yawns between them and the earliest historical data is vaguely bridged by legends and traditions, such as the story of Rama's expedition through the Deccan and across Adam's Bridge to Ceylon in quest of his wife Sita (whom Ravana, the ten-headed king of that island, had carried off), or the many local puranas which remain in the keeping of the temple priests. Some of these legends have been held to refer to the great immigration of conquerors and settlers from Northern India which undoubtedly took place at an early period; but they are scarcely serious history, and not until the Muhammadans appear upon the scene is the literature of the country of any real value to the analyst.

The gap is filled to some extent by the many inscriptions on stone which record gifts to temples, by coins, and by grants of bygone dynasties engraved on copper. The transcription and examination of these is now proceeding under expert supervision and in a systematic fashion, but the work has not yet proceeded far enough to enable any final account to be written of the early fortunes of the South of India.

The earliest historical evidence is that furnished by the edicts of the Buddhist Emperor Asoka which have been discovered at Jaugada in Ganjam and at a village in Mysore close to the border of Bellary. These perhaps go to show that about 250 B. C. at least the northern half of the Presidency formed part of the Mauryan dominions.

The south of it was divided between the Pandyas of Madura, who governed the extreme south; the Cholas, who held the country north and east of them; and the Cheras (Keralas), who ruled the West Coast. At some period subsequent to Asoka, the dynasty of the Pallavas of Conjeeveram rose into prominence and extended its sway along the east coast as far north as Orissa.

In the north, Mauryans were succeeded by the Andhras. They were Buddhists, and by them were erected the splendid marble stupa at Amaravati and the other Buddhist buildings of which the ruins occur in Kistna and Guntur Districts. Their curious leaden coins are still found in some numbers in those parts. About the fifth century after Christ the Chalukyas, who were immigrants from more northern parts, began to grow in importance in the Western Deccan. In the seventh century they divided into two branches, a Western and an Eastern. The latter conquered the Pallava kings of the Vengi country—the tract between the Kistna and Godavari rivers and south of Kalinga—and settled in that locality, while the former remained in its original home.

Alongside it, in the south-west of the Deccan and the north of Mysore, the Kadambas, whose capital was at Bhavanasi in North Kanara, now rose to power They defeated the Pallavas of Conjeeveram and continually harrassed the Western Chalukyas.

The latter were also vigorously opposed by the Rastrakutas of Malkhed in the present Nizam's Dominions, who eventually overthrew them and were supreme in the Western Deccan from about A. D. 750 to 950.

At the end of this period the Western Chalukyas once more rose to prominence and maintained their position until A. D. 1189, when they were finally overthrown by two of their own feudatories, the Yadavas of Deogiri and the Hoysalas of Dorasamudra, the modern Helebid in Mysore.

Meanwhile, in the south and the east, the Cholas of Tanjore were rapidly extending their boundaries. By 999 they acquired by conquest the whole of the coast possessions of the Eastern Chalukyas. They had already subverted both the Pallavas and the Pandyas, annexing the dominions of the former and controlling the destinies of the latter. These events form the first great landmark in the history of Southern India. But the Chola expansion westwards was checked by the Hoysalas, and towards the end of the twelfth century their territory in the north was taken from them by the Ganapathis of Warrangal (Orangal).

Thus at the end of the thirteenth century the three greatest dynasties of Southern India were the Hoysalas, the Cholas, and the Pandyas. At the beginning of the 14th century, however, a new power—the Mussulmans of Delhi—appeared suddenly upon the scene In 1303 the ruling king of the Khilji dynasty of Delhi sent his first expedition into the Deccan; and seven years later, a date which makes the second landmark in the history of Southern India, the armies of his general, Malik Kafur, swept like a torrent down the peninsula. The Yadavas, Hoysalas, Ganapathis, Cholas, and Pandyas were in turn defeated and suppressed. Anarchy followed over the whole south—Mussulman Governors, representatives of the old ruling families, and local chiefs struggling for supremacy, until out of the confusion rose the kingdom of Vijayanagar, which from its capital at Hampi in the Bellary District for the next two centuries and a half checked the southward expansion of Muhammadan power.

The rise of this dynasty was dramatically rapid. The several Hindu chieftains everywhere admitted its sovereignty, the more willingly in that the only alternative was a despotism of Mussulmans; and from chiefs its rulers quickly grew into kings, and from kings into emperor. Within a century and a half from the foundation of the capital at Vijayanagar they governed the whole of the peninsula from the Kistna to Cape Comorin. The empire reached the height of its power under Krishna Deva (1509-1530), the greatest of monarchs, contemporary with Henry VIII of England.

The chief opponents of Vijayanagar had been the Sultans of the Bhamini dynasty, founded in 1347 by a rebellious subordinate of Delhi, whose capital was at Gulbarga in what is now the Nizam's Dominions. This line crumbled to pieces at the end of the fifteenth century and was followed by five separate Mussulman kingdoms. For many years the mutual jealousies and animosities of these rendered it easy for the Vijayanagar kings to play off one of them against the other: but at length they combined, and in 1565 at the great battle of Talikota, the third historical landmark, they utterly defeated the Hindu forces and followed up their victory by razing the city of Vijayanagar to the ground and forcing its king to flee. The empire never recovered from the blow. One by one its local governors threw off their allegiance, and established themselves as independent rulers, and Southern India passed through a second period of anarchy, during which all local powers fell in many places into the hands of small chieftains called Naiks or Poligars, who usually harassed their subjects mercilessly.

The only governors of the fallen empire who established themselves in any permanency were the Naiks of Madura, and the suzerainty of the rest of the country fell gradually into the hands of the Sultans of Bijapur and Golconda. The former marched upon the country directly south of the Tungabhadra river and the latter took a line further to the eastward. By the middle of the seventeenth century the Bijapur Sultans had possessed themselves of most of the Carnatic which lay above the Ghats and of much territory below.

It was under this dynasty that the Marathas first came into prominence. Serving first as military vassals, they eventually, in 1646, revolted openly against them and under the famous Sivaji established their independence.

In 1686 Aurangzeb, the Mughal emperor of Delhi, marched south to reduce Bijapur and Golconda, and to crush the growing power of the Mahrattas. He took Bijapur in that year and Golconda in the next, and the territories which had been won by these two kingdoms from the Hindus thus became a portion of the Mughal empire. But with the Marathas he was less successful. He seized Sivaji's son, Sambhaji, and put him to death in 1689; but the power of the race increased rather than declined, and they levied tribute throughout the Deccan and in other parts of the South as well, and do not disappear from Madras history until the beginning of the nineteenth century.

In 1724 Asaf Jah, the viceroy whom the Mughal emperor had appointed to govern his conquests in the South and who bore the title of Nizam-ul-mulk, threw off all real allegiance to his suzerain and made himself virtually independent. He and his successors are known in history as the Nizams or Subahdars of the Deccan; and their chief subordinate in the South was the Nawab of the Carnatic, otherwise called the Nawab of Arcot.

Meanwhile the Hindu kingdom of Mysore, which had arisen from small beginnings on the ruins of the Vijianagar empire, had become more and more powerful, owing largely to the exploits of a soldier of fortune in its army named Haidar Ali. By methods which were none too scrupulous, he rapidly gained supreme authority in the kingdom, and in 1761 he usurped its throne and began with more energy than ever to extend its possessions.

In the middle of the eighteenth century, therefore, the native powers in the South which had to be reckoned with were the Mussulmans under the Nizam, Mysore under Haidar Ali, and the Marathas. Meanwhile, however, various European powers had begun to establish a footing within its limits.

The Portuguese were the first nation to form a settlement there. By the beginning of the sixteenth century they had occupied Calicut and Goa on the West Coast. Vasco de Gama, the pioneer of maritime adventure, had visited that part of the country as early as 1498. For a century they prospered; but they were feebly supported at home after the union of Portugal with Spain, and eventually fell before the progress of the Dutch.

From the beginning of the seventeenth century the Dutch, who had long been powerful in the Eastern Archipelago, settled at Pulicat, Sadras, and other places along the East and West Coasts. They rapidly ousted the Portuguese; but their ideas were commercial rather than imperial, the remoteness of their headquarters at Batavia hampered them, and they soon dropped out of the race.

Another European nation attracted by the wealth of the East was the French. Their original settlement had been in Madagascar. This they abandoned in 1672 in favour of Mauritius and Bourbon. Later they came on to India; and in 1674 Francois Martin founded and fortified the town of Pondicherry, which has since been the French headquarters in the peninsula. In 1742 the famous Dupleix succeeded to the governorship of the place, and rendered it the one European settlement in the South which was capable of offering any real resistance to the English East India Company.

The earliest settlements of the English within the Presidency were at Nizampatam and Masulipatam, at which places Captain Hippon of the ship Globe landed in 1611 and founded factories. Five years later, settlements were planted on the West Coast at Cranganur and Calicut by the permission of the Zamorin. In 1619 another settlement was effected at Pulicat, but the jealousies of the Dutch compelled its abandonment. In 1625, two years after the massacre of the English by the Dutch at Amboyna, the Company's agents at Bantam in Java despatched a vessel to Armagon in the present Nellore District and set up a small trading establishment there.

In 1639, owing partly to the annoyances caused to the Company's officers at Masulipatam by the subordinates of the Sultan of Golconda, within whose territories that place lay, and partly to the desire to possess a factory nearer to the real centres of the weaving and dyeing industries of the country, Francis Day, the chief official of Armagon, sought for and obtained through a subordinate of the last representative of the old Vijayanagar dynasty, who was then living at Chandragiri in North Arcot, the grant of the land on which Fort St. George now stands. A small fort was at once erected, and two years later the place became the Company's headquarters on the Coromandel Coast. In 1653 Fort St. George was raised to the rank of a Presidency, independent of Bantam, and in 1658 the factories in Bengal were placed under its orders. In 1690 the Company purchased from the Marathas the land on which Fort St. David, near Cuddalore, now stands; and at the end of the century there were also English factories within the present limits of the Madras Presidency at Porto Novo, Madapollam, Vizagapatam, Anjengo, Tellicherry and Calicut.

Up to 1740 the Company's agents had managed to keep themselves clear of the wars between the various native governments which were going on around them, and free from serious trouble with the other Europeans who had stations in the South. But in 1741 the War of the Austrian Succession lit the first flame of a conflict between them and the French, which lasted until the capture of Pondicherry in 1761, followed by the Peace of Paris in 1763.

The first notable event in this contest was the capture of Madras by La Bourdonnais in 1746. Under the orders of Dupleix, who was then in command of the French possessions, the Governor and the chief merchants were taken prisoners to Pondicherry. Fort St. David became for the time the Company's headquarters in the South. Madras was, however, restored to the English under the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1749, and the Company set themselves vigorously to work to render it more defensible than it had been at the time of the French attack.

Peace being declared between the two nations, the forces which each of them had collected in the South engaged on opposite sides in the struggles between the native powers. Each espoused the cause of a different claimant for the Nawabship of the Carnatic, and each supported its own candidate for the office of Nizam of the Deccan. The stirring details of the severe conflicts which ensued fill many pages in the histories of the period, and concern themselves with the exploits of many Englishmen—Clive and Eyre Coote among the number—whose names will ever be famous.

In 1757 news reached India that war had again broken out in Europe between England and France and the forces of the two nations in the South were once more at each other's throats. The advantage at first lay with the French. They captured successively the English Forts of Vizagapatam, Fort St. David and Devicottai (which last had been granted to the Company by the Mahrattas of Tanjore) and in 1758 they besieged Madras. Here, however, they were unsuccessful and eventually withdrew and meanwhile Col. Ford, who had been despatched by Clive from Bengal to the Northern Circars, had signally defeated them at Condore and captured Masulipatam. This victory resulted in the cession to the Company of a considerable tract round about the latter town which led eventually, after many vicissitudes, to the whole of the Northern Circars being granted to the British by the Mughal emperor in 1765. Farther south the struggle culminated in the battle of Wandiwash, in which Eyre Coote utterly routed the French under Lally. Gingee, Arcot, and other minor French settlements fell in quick succession; and in May, 1760, the English were in a position to attack Pondicherry itself. Lally called in the help of Haidar Ali of Mysore, but events in his own territory prevented the latter from taking any important part in the contest. Pondicherry surrendered in January, 1761. With the other French possessions, it was restored by the Peace of Paris in 1763; but the power of the French in Southern India was never again formidable, and it was thus in the Madras Presidency that the question was decided which of the European nations should be supreme in India.

We have now reached the middle of the 18th century, when, as has been said, the native powers which had to be reckoned with were the Mussulmans under the Nizam of the Deccan and the Nawab of the Carnatic, Mysore under Haidar Ali, and the Mahrattas. The only European force of any consequence was that of the English, and between these four the struggle for the possession of the peninsula now lay. The Nizam and the Mahrattas invited the English to assist them in clipping the wings of Haidar who was encroaching upon their territories. Haidar however, bought off both Mussulmans and Mahrattas, and then made a descent upon the English possessions in the Carnatic. Fighting followed on both coasts of the Peninsula; but the operations were indecisive and peace was eventually concluded in 1769 by a treaty based on mutual restitution of conquests.

In 1780 broke out the next war with Haidar, who was again befriended by both the Mussulmans and the Mahrattas. He descended upon the plains of the Carnatic in July of that year, burning crops and devastating villages, so that a cordon of blackened desert was formed all round the town of Madras, from Pulicat on the north to Pondicherry on the south and extending 50 miles inland.

Warren Hastings, then Governor-General of Bengal, despatched Sir Eyre Coote to Madras with reinforcements. His ability soon caused the tide of fortune to return; but age had sapped his old energy and it was not until after three years of severe fighting in every part of the peninsula that peace was at length made in 1784. As before, the basis of the treaty was a mutual restoration of conquests. Haidar Ali had died during the operations in 1782, and was succeeded by his son, Tippu Sultan, a man in every way his inferior.

Six years later war once more ensued with Mysore, Tippu having provoked hostilities by raiding the native state of Travancore, which was in alliance with the British. Lord Cornwallis, the Governor General, commanded the forces in the field in person, and this time the British were assisted by the Nizam and the Mahrattas. After two years' fighting, Seringapatam, the Mysore capital, was besieged; and thereupon Tippu, in 1792, agreed to cede to the allies one-half of his territories, and to pay an indemnity of three crores and fifty lakhs of rupees. The British share of the territory thus ceded included the country round Dindigul and the districts of Salem and Malabar.

Tippu then began to intrigue to draw to his own side the allies of the British, and even sent an embassy to Mauritius to invoke the aid of the French. Lord Mornington, now Governor-General, realised the danger to British supremacy in India which such action involved, and came south to deal with the situation. The Nizam and the Mahrattas again joined the British. Tippu, after a feeble resistance in the field, retired to Seringapatam. The fortress was stormed on May 4th, 1799, and Tippu's body was found among the slain. A representative of the Hindu dynasty, whose rights had been usurped by Haidar in 1761, was placed upon the throne of Mysore proper, and the rest of Tippu's territories were divided between the allies. The share of the British included Kanara, Coimbatore, and Wynaad.

In the same year, 1799, the Mahratta Raja of the principality at Tanjore, in return for aid received in gaining the throne, executed a treaty resigning the administration of his kingdom to the Company in consideration of an annual payment. In 1800 the Nizam ceded to the Company, in return for a subsidiary force to be established in his dominions, all the territories he had acquired from Mysore at the partitions of 1792 and 1799. These tracts included the present districts of Bellary, Anantapur, Cuddapah, and part of Kurnool, which are still known as the "Ceded Districts." When Seringapatam fell in 1799 a treasonable correspondence had been discovered between Tippu and the Nawab of the Carnatic, who was nominally the ally of the Company. In consequence, after many negotiations, a treaty was concluded with the Nawab in 1801, under which he resigned the government of his country to the Company, but retained the titular dignity and received a considerable stipend. The existing representative of the family bears the title of Prince of Arcot and has the position of the first native nobleman of Madras.

The Company had thus obtained possession of the whole of the present Madras Presidency from Cape Comorin to the Northern Circars, except a part of the Kurnool District, the Danish station of Tranquebar, the existing French settlements at Pondicherry and other places, and the territories of the five native states still in subordination to the Madras Government, the history of which will be found in the separate articles regarding them.

In 1839 internal mismanagement and treasonable intrigue on the part of the Nawab of Kurnool led to the annexation of his country. Tranquebar was purchased from the Danes in 1845. In 1862 the district of North Kanara was transferred to Bombay. Since then no alterations of importance in the limits of the Presidency have occurred.

The territories thus rapidly acquired at the end of the 18th and beginning of the 19th century were in most cases reduced to order with little trouble. The poligars in the Ceded Districts had to be suppressed by an armed force, and the turbulence of those in the extreme south necessitated more than one regular campaign. In the Northern Circars the hill chiefs gave trouble as late as 1836. The last occasion on which the employment of regular troops was necessary was the rebellion in the Rampa hill tracts of the Godavari Agency in 1879.

After the palæolithic and neolithic implements which have been discovered in scattered sites, the oldest objects of archæological interest in the Presidency are the pre-historic barrows, cairns, kistævans, and dolmens found in almost all districts, the first three of which frequently contain pottery, ashes, arms, implements, personal ornaments, etc. The chief remains of historic times consist (beside coins) of inscriptions, temples, and forts. During the last twenty years much has been done to survey, describe, and preserve these links with the past. In 1882 the first list of antiquities in the Presidency was published and about the same time Archæological Survey in charge of a specialist was set on foot, while a few years later a Government Epigraphist was appointed. These two officers make annual reports of the results of their works and also publish the more important of their discoveries in the Imperial Series of Reports of the Archaeological Survey of India and in South Indian Inscriptions, the Epigraphia Indica and elsewhere. The Epigraphist is systematically translating and publishing the countless inscriptions on the thousands of temples in the Presidency, and his work is doing much to eliminate the existing darkness of its early history. The Archæological Survey embraces both pre-historic and historic remains. Such pre-historic antiquities as the Madras Museum contains including the well-known collection made in the Nilgiris by Mr. Breeks, have been catalogued and described by Mr. Bruce Foote and lately some extensive burial places had been discovered at Adichanallur in Tinnevelly, the extraordinary variety and richness of the finds made in which are referred to in the notice of that place.

The Madras Presidency, according to existing boundary divisions, is made up of 26 districts, namely,—Northern, including Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna and Guntur; East Central, including Nellore, Madras, Chingleput, Chittoor, North Arcot and South Arcot; Ceded Districts, including Kurnool, Bellary, Cuddapah and Anantapur; West Central, including Salem, Coimbatore and Nilgiris; Southern, including Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Ramnad and Tinnevelly; West Coast, including South Canara, Malabar and Anjengo.

The first four districts and the fifth which was recently carved out of the third and fourth with a small portion of Nellore are known as the "Northern Circars." Prior to 1859 and 1860 these Circars consisted of five districts, but in that year the three districts of Rajahmundry, Masulipatam and Guntur were divided to form the Godavari and Kistna Districts, with effect from 1st October 1904; the latter have been again split up into three districts, known as Godavari, Kistna and Guntur. To the first have been added the Nagur, Albakatcherla Taluks of the Sironcha Tahsil of the Chandu District in the Central Provinces and to the last, the Ongole Taluk which belonged to the Nellore District. The northern districts were formerly under the Nizam's Government, and in that time the divisions were as follows: Guntur, Condapilly, Ellore, Rajahmundry and Chicacole. They came finally into British possession in the year 1823, by the payment to the Nizam's Government of Rs. 11,66,666 in lieu of an annual tribute. When these districts fell into the hands of the East India Company they consisted chiefly of large estates, held by renters or zemindars, of lands called "Havelly," which were the old demesnes, or private estates, of former rulers; and of tracts near the principal towns which had been resumed by the Muhammadan Governors of the districts, and appropriated for the support of their numerous bands of soldiers and public establishments. For some years prior to 1855-56 these Northern Circars were under the charge of a separate Commissioner, but each district had then also its own revenue and judicial establishments. The appointment of Commissioner of the Northern Circars was abolished in June 1856.

The part of the Presidency, usually known as the Carnatic, appears to have been originally formed of three divisions, namely, Northern, extending from the river Pennar to the river Gundegama, and consisting of a portion of the Nellore District; Central, extending from the Coleroon to the Pennar river, and containing a portion of Trichinopoly, Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Madras and Nellore districts; and Southern, consisting of a portion of the Trichinopoly and the whole of Tanjore, Tinnevelly and Madura districts. These districts came into the possession of the British between the years 1799 and 1801.

In the year 1859-60 the two districts of Madras Town and Chingleput were amalgamated into a single district, the collection of Sea Customs revenue being separately provided for. In the year 1870 the Chingleput district was again divided as before, leaving the administration of the Madras Town district in the hands of the Sea Customs Collector. The Chingleput District was obtained from the Nawab of Arcot in 1763 in return for services rendered to him and his father by the Company. The grant was confirmed by the Great Moghul in 1765, and for a long time the district was known as the "Jaghire" of the East India Company. The site of the Town of Madras was obtained in the year 1640, by a grant from the descendants of the Vijianagar rulers, subsequently confirmed by the Moghul Government.

The districts of Bellary and Cuddapah were ceded to the English by the Nizam in the year 1800 for the maintenance, in perpetuity, of a body of troops known as the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force, and as payment for troops furnished during the Mysore wars. The territories so made over are still known as the Ceded Districts.

In 1800 the rights of sovereignty exercised by the Nizam over the Kurnool country as Soubadar of the Deccan became vested in the East India Company. The Nizam, in the treaty of partition, gave over to the British all his possessions south of the Tungabhadra and Kistna rivers below their junction. At this time the ruler of the Kurnool country paid a yearly tribute of one lakh of rupees to the Nizam. In 1839 the Kurnool district, through the rebellion of the then ruler of the country, was placed under British administration.

The districts of Salem and Coimbatore came into British possession, the former in 1792 by the Treaty of Seringapatam, and the latter in 1799 after the final defeat of Tippu and the partition of his territory between the British, the Nizam, and the legitimate successor to the Mysore Government—the Maharajah of Mysore.

The Nilgiri Hills, formerly a taluk of the Coimbatore District, was constituted a separate district under Act I of 1868.

The two districts of Malabar and Kanara, on the western side of the Ghats, fell into the possession of the British in 1792 and 1799, respectively. Kanara was in 1859 divided into North and South Kanara for administrative purposes, and in 1860 North Kanara was transferred, for convenience of administration, from the Madras to the Bombay Presidency. The taluk of Coondapoor, which formerly belonged to North Kanara, is now attached to South Kanara.

THE GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS

HISTORY OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

The Executive Civil Government of the Madras Presidency is subject to the superintendence, direction and control of the Governor-General in Council. Under the Government of India Act, 1915 as amended by the Government of India Act, 1919, rules have been framed under which certain subjects have been declared to be provincial and these again have been divided into reserved and transfered subjects; the administration in respect of reserved subjects is in the hands of the Governor in Council and in respect of transferred subjects in those of the Governor acting with his ministers. The term "Local Government" means the Governor in Council or the Governor acting with his ministers, as the case may be. The Council includes the Governor, who is the President, and four members of whom one is appointed by the Governor as the Vice-President; one of the members at least must be a person who, at the time of his appointment, has been for at least twelve years in the service of the Crown in India. The Governor and the members of the Executive Council are appointed by the Crown. The terms for which they may hold office are not limited by any legal enactment. The Secretary of State has directed that a member of the Executive Council should hold office for five years exclusive of any time during which he draws less than full pay, not having himself been granted leave. The ministers are appointed by the Governor and hold office during his pleasure; but they must not be members of the Executive Council or officials, and no minister can hold office for a longer period than six months unless he is, or becomes, an elected member of the local legislature. When a vacancy occurs in the office of the Governor and there is no successor on the spot, to supply the vacancy, the Vice-President or, if he is absent, the senior member of the Executive Council assumes office as acting Governor. If a vacancy occurs in the office of a member of the Executive Council and there is no successor present on the spot, it may be filled by the Governor in Council by the appointmant as temporary member of any person qualified for such appointment. The Governor may make rules and orders for the transaction of business in his Executive Council and with his ministers. On questions brought before the Executive Council, the opinion of the majority ordinarily prevails, the Governor or other presiding member having a second or casting vote in the event of an equal division of opinion; but when any measure is proposed which in his judgment affects the safety, tranquillity or interests of the province or any part thereof, and he differs from the opinion of the majority of the members of the Executive Council the Governor has power to act on his own authority and responsibility. The Governor in Council is not empowered to declare war or to make treaties and has no immediate control over the military administration of the Presidency. He corresponds directly with the Secretary of State except in certain cases. The authority of the Local Government is not superseded by the presence in its province of the Governor-General. The Local Government is empowered to undertake works of public utility, not being railways, which are not expected to cost more than fifty lakhs of rupees. The Governor in Council, or the Governor acting with the ministers, possesses all the civil patronage of the Presidency which is not retained by the Secretary of State or delegated to subordinate members of the administration. Despatches to the Secretary of State in the reserved departments are signed by the Governor and all the members of the Executive Council; despatches in the transferred departments are signed by His Excellency alone. Letters addressed to the Government of India and all orders of the Local Government are signed by an officer of the Secretariat. All correspondence regarding public business reaches Government through the Secretariat.

The year 1921 witnessed the introduction of the Reforms, which brought about a complete change in the financial relations between the Central and Provincial Governments, involving important changes in the general form of accounts and in the prescribed major heads. Till then the Provincial Governments had no separate revenues of their own, their resources being obtained mainly from a share of divided heads of revenue and from lump assignments from Imperial revenues. The transactions of the Imperial and Provincial sections were accordingly combined, but shown under distinct divisions, against each major head of revenue and expenditure, in the general accounts and estimates. Now, however, definite sources of revenue have been allocated to the Provincial Government and there has been a complete separation between the revenues and the expenditure of the Central and Provincial Governments, though all monies received from sources of provincial revenue are paid to the public account of which the Governor-General in Council continues to be the custodian. The estimates and accounts of the Government of India now embrace the transactions of the Central Government only under each head of account, the transactions of the Provincial Government appearing in them merely as a net addition to or withdrawal from their banking account with the Central Government. The Provincial Government is concerned with central subjects only in so far as they act as agents of the Government of India in their administration and in such capacity are vested with certain financial powers.

Prior to 1921-22 all items of receipts and expenditure which were creditable or debitable to Government were either Imperial or Provincial according as they appertained to the Supreme or to the Local Government. This classification had no statutory basis and depended upon the terms of the "Provincial Settelment." as the administrative arrangements made between the Government of India and the Local Government and approved by the Secretary of State for the distribution of revenues and expenditure between these two Governments were designated. The history of these provincial settlements, which may be divided into five periods, represents a succession of expedients by which the Central Government secured from local sources of revenue such share as, added to the profits of commercial departments and revenue the locale of which was no guide to its true incidence, was necessary to enable them to carry on the services which they must of necessity administer.

The permanent settlement was in force until 1921-22, when the complete separation between the finances of the Central Government and those of the Provincial Governments, which was found to be an essential corollary of the constitutional reforms, took shape in the system now prevailing Divided heads were abolished and each source of revenue became either wholly central or wholly provincial, land revenue, excise and stamps being made to contribute the major part of the provincial income; but the resource left to the Central Government under this arrangement being insufficient to enable it to balance its budget, contributions are levied from the provinces to diminish the deficit. Under the statutory rule governing the matter, out of a total of 983 lakhs of rupees contributed to the Central Government by all the provinces the initial contribution of the Madras Presidency was fixed at Rs. 348 lakhs. The rule provides that the total of the contributions shall not exceed Rs. 983 lakhs and that if it is reduced below that figure the reduction shall be in the contributions of these provinces only which are now called upon to pay more than a certain specified proportion. Any reduction would therefore benefit Madras whose payment is now most in excess of the proportion to be aimed at; but there has hitherto been no reduction and the levy of such a large contribution as Rs. 348 lakhs has been the subject of strong and continued protests.

The power of borrowing was never conceded to Provincial Governments prior to the Reforms. That power has now been conferred by section 30 (1)(a) of the Government of India Act under which a Local Government may, on behalf and in the name of the Secretary of State in Council, raise money on the security of the revenues allocated to it under the Act, and make proper assurances for that purpose. The only restriction on the powers of Local Governments to raise loans is that no loan shall be raised, in the case of loans to be raised in India, without the sanction of the Governor-General in Council or, in the case of loans to be raised outside India, of the Secretary of State in Council, and in sanctioning the raising of the loan the Governor General in Council, or the Secretary of State may specify the amount of the issue and any or all of the conditions under which the loan shall be raised. In practice it has been found more convenient for the Local Government to borrow from the Government of India than to go into the market separately.

In the pre reform period the Government of India completely controlled the imposition of any taxation in British India apart from local taxes which were raised by Local Bodies. The scheduled taxes rules framed under section 80 A (3) (a) of the Government of India Act have, for the first time, given local legislature powers of taxation without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in respect of certain specified matters. Prior to the introduction of the Reforms, capital expenditure on major irrigation works was provided entirely by the Imperial Government either from revenues or from loans. The financing of famine expenditure has also been placed on a new basis under the Reforms.

Revenue.—The principal sources of revenue and the objects on which Provincial funds are expended can be learnt from an examination of the Provincial accounts for the year. The total revenue (excluding opening balance) received during the financial year 1st April, 1921 to 31st March, 1922 amounted to Rs. 2,465 05 lakhs of which the amounts credited to "Central" and "Provincial" were respectively Rs. 1,291 63 lakhs and Rs. 1,173·42 lakhs. These figures have been arrived at after adding to "Central" and deducting from "Provincial" the Provincial contribution of Rs. 348 lakhs to the Government of India and the assignment to the Government of India of Rs. 35·81 lakhs on account of income-tax adjustments. The amount expended from Provincial funds was Rs 1,280·24 lakhs, leaving a deficit of Rs. 106 82 lakhs, Nearly two thirds of the Provincial revenue was derived from Land Revenue which amounted to Rs. 726 63 lakhs. The next important source of revenul was Excise which yielded Rs. 468·17 lakhs. Other important items of revenue were Stamps, Rs. 189·85 lakhs, Forests, Rs. 48·57 lakhs and Registration, Rs. 32 56 lakhs.

Expenditure.—The principal items of expenditure were Land Revenue, Rs 129·04 lakhs, General Administration, Rs. 134·06 lakhs, Police, Rs. 196·67 lakhs, Education, Rs. 142·30 lakhs, Civil Works Rs. 129·78 lakhs, Administration of Justice, Rs. 94 18 lakhs, Forests, Rs. 51·94 lakhs, Medical, Rs. 54·46 lakhs, Excise, Rs. 30·83 lakhs, Superannuation Allowances and Pensions, Rs. 45·67 lakhs, Stationery and Printing, Rs. 24·26 lakhs' Public Health, Rs. 26·63 lakhs and Agriculture, Rs. 25·18 lakhs.

Budget.—The procedure in connexion with the framing of Provincial budgets and their passage through the Legislative Council has, under the recent Reforms, been materially changed in certain respects. For example, the sanction of the Government of India is no longer required. The procedure laid down in full in the Legislative Council rules is briefly summarised below. A statement of the estimated annual expenditure and revenues of the provinces, referred to as the "budget," is presented to the Council on a day appointed by the Governor. A separate demand has to be made in respect of the grant proposed by each department of the Government, and this demand should first contain a statement of the total grant proposed and then a statement of the detailed estimate under each grant divided into items. The budget is then dealt with by the Council in two stages, a general discussion and the voting of demands for grants. The general discussion begins on a day appointed by the Governor subsequent to the day on which the budget was presented, and it continues for such time as the Governor may allot for this purpose. The discussion may concern the budget as a whole, or any question of principle involved therein, but no motion may be moved at this stage, nor may the budget be voted upon. Then, after an interval during which motions for the reduction or omission of grants are submitted, discussion of demands follows for which a maximum of 12 days may be allotted. If the Legislative Council votes a reduction or omission of a demand relating to a reserved subject, it is open to His Excellency the Governor to restore the provision by giving a certificate that the expenditure provided for by the demand is essential to the discharge of his responsibility for the subject, but no such action can be taken when a demand pertaining to a transferred department is affected.

Committees.—Under a statutory rule a Committee on Public Accounts has been established to scrutinize the audit and appropriation accounts of the province, and to satisfy itself that the money voted by the Council has been spent within the scope of the demand granted by the Council. It is its duty to bring to the notice of the Council every re-appropriation from one grant to another grant, every re-appropriation within a grant which is not made in accordance with the rules regulating the functions of the Finance Department or which has the effect of increasing the expenditure on an item, the provision for which has been specially reduced by a vote of the Council, and expenditure which the Finance Department wishes to bring to the notice of the Council. An advisory Finance Committee has also been constituted to examine all proposals for new expenditure before they are placed before the Council.

The control of the Local Government over the funds at their disposal is limited by certain rules which prescribe that the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is necessary before expenditure can be incurred on certain accounts. In this matter, a clear distinction has been drawn between powers to sanction and incur expenditure on transferred subjects and powers in relation to expenditure on reserved subjects. The Joint Parliamentary Committee appointed to revise the draft rules made under the Government of India Act of 1919 have stated that it is the intention of that Act that expenditure on transferred subjects should, with the narrowest possible reservations, be within the exclusive control of the Provincial legislature. The main reservations laid down are that the Secretary of State must retain control over expenditure on transferred subjects which is likely to affect the prospects or rights of the all-India services, which he recruits and will continue to control; and that he should also retain power to control the purchase of stores in the United Kingdom.

The recognized privilege, under which a person aggrieved by the action of any Government official may ordinarily appeal to the next higher authority by means of a petition and receive back a written reply, either refusing or promising redress, is of much importance in all branches of the administration, but especially in matters dealing with the land revenue, owing to the number of small holdings of land under the ryotwari tenure and the consequent multiplication of details in the administration of the land revenue. An aggrieved person may generally appeal in succession to the officers representing each grade in the department concerned, and may finally address in turn the Local Government, the Government of India and the Secretary of State. The three last named authorities have prescribed certain rules to check the indiscriminate presentation of petitions, in some cases a period is fixed within which the appeal must be filed, in others a restriction is imposed upon the number of authorities an aggrieved official may invoke with reference to the status of such official, but there is, in general, no check except where a legal enactment or regulation provides for the appeal and imposes limits on its presentation. The Government do not act as a channel of communication for memorials addressed to Parliament.

The Civil Service.—The Executive and, outside the Presidency town, the Judicial administration are in the hands of the Civil Service in which are included both the Imperial branch called the Indian Civil Service and the Provincial branch now known as the Madras Civil Service. The Indian Civil Service, designated until 1890 the "Covenanted Civil Service of India," is the modern representative of the merchants, factors and writers who were employed under covenant by the East India Company. Until 1919 this service was recruited only by competitive examination in London. During the war, however, there were few recruits and to fill up vacancies power was taken for a limited period under the Indian Civil Service (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1915, to select candidates by nomination both in England and in India; and further changes have been introduced after the amendment of the Government of India Act in 1919, mainly with a view to provide fresh avenues of recruitment whereby effect may be given to the recommendation made by the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India (1912—1915) and amplified in the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms, that Indians should be appointed more extensively in the public services. The five methods of recruitment now are open competitive examination in London, separate competitive examination in India, nomination in India, appointment from the Indian bar, and promotion from the Provincial Civil Service. The Provincial or Madras Civil Service was constituted in 1892 as a result of the recommendations of the Public Service Commision (1886-87) to fill appointments, some of which had till then been reserved for the Indian Civil Service while others had been held by what was then called the Unconvenanted Civil Service. It comprises on the judicial side Subordinate Judges and District Munsifs, recruited for the most part direct to the lower of these ranks from the legal profession and engaged in dealing with civil litigation; and on the executive side Deputy Collectors and Magistrates, a few of whom have been recruited by competitive examination or direct nomination, but the majority by promotion from the Subordinate Civil Service. The lower administrative appointments above the ministerial grade form the Subordinate Civil Service.

At least one of the Members of the Executive Council of the Governor of Fort St. George must be a person who at the time of his appointment has been in the service of the Crown in India for at least 12 years and not less than one-third of the Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Madras must be members of the Indian Civil Service: as also, subject to certain exceptions which are noticed below, must all officers holding appointments of the following classes: (a) Secretaries to Government, except in the Public Works Department, (b) Members of, and Secretaries to, the Board of Revenue, (c) District and Sessions Judges and Additional Sessions Judges, and (d) Collectors and District Magistrates. These and a certain number of appointments of Sub-Collector are classed as "superior," the "inferior" appointments being regarded as posts in which officers are trained for positions of independent responsibility. The cadre of the Indian Civil Service also provides for certain other appointments which are not reserved by statute, such as those of the Commissioner of Coorg, the Registrar of Co-operative Societies the Registrar of the High Court, the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, and the Collector of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. The Director of Industries and the Provincial Superintendent of Census Operations are usually members of the Indian Civil Service. In special circumstances a person not belonging to the Indian Civil Service may be appointed to one of the posts reserved by statute for that service, but every such appointment must be reported to the Secretary of State with the special reasons for making it, and it is only provisional until it has been approved by the Secretary of State in Council. Statutory rules were framed however as far back as 1892 under which a certain number of appointments ordinarly so reserved were scheduled as thrown open to members of the Provincial Civil Service and other persons domiciled in India. In the first instance fifteen appointments were thus thrown open to the members of the then newly formed Provincial Civil Service, including two posts of Collector and District Magistrate, four of District and Sessions Judges, one of Secretary to the Board of Revenue and eight of lower rank which have since been assimilated to the corresponding grades of the Provincial Civil Service, i.e., the Deputy Collectors cadre. Additions have subsequently been made to these "listed" appointments and there are now eleven superior appointments listed, including five in the executive service and six posts of District and Sessions Judge. Of which two have recently been filled by direct nomination from the bar, while several "inferior" appointments such as those of Under Secretaries to Government which were formerly held by members of the Indian Civil Service are occasionally filled otherwise.

Besides the Indian Civil Service, the Imperial Service of the Public Works Department is now included in the Indian Service of Engineers, which is divided into two branches, consisting of officers recruited in Europe and in India. All appointments to the Indian Service of Engineers are made by the Secretary of State. Appointments to the Europe recruited branch are made on the advice of a selection committee including at least one eminent representative of the engineering profession. Candidates for this branch must produce evidence that they have obtained one of the University degrees prescribed by the Secretary of State or that they have passed sections A and B of the A.M.I.C.E. examination, or obtained such other diploma or distinction in engineering or general and technical (theoretical and practical) education as the Secretary of State may decide to accept in any particular case. Appointments to the India-recruited branch are made from two sources--graduates of the College of Engineering, Madras, and selected officers of the Provincial Engineering Service. Officers for the Indian Police Service are recruited by competitive examination in England, and in India on the nomination of a selection committee, followed by a competitive examination among the nominees. Officers for the Imperial Agricultural Service are recruited in England and in India on the advice of a selection committee. Special qualifications of a practical and scientific nature are essential both for administrative and for research and instructional posts. Officers for the Imperial Veterinary Service are appointed by the Secretary of State. They must hold a diploma of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons. Officers of the Imperial Forest Service are recruited both in England and in India on the advice of a selection committee and are required to pass through the forestry course at one of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge or Edinburgh.

Educational qualifications for admission to the Public Service.—Admission to Government service in this Presidency is not as a rule dependent on success in a competitive examination, but no person can in general be appointed to a post, the sanctioned pay of which is Rs. 35 per mensem in the mofussil or Rs. 40 per mensem in the Madras City or more unless he possesses the minimum educational qualifications laid down Various examinations-public or departmental—are also prescribed for particular posts in each department.

Secretariat.—There are eight Secretaries to Government, each of whom has ordinarily an Under Secretary and one or more Assistant Secretaries, though the exact arrangements differ in different departments; and at times of pressure a Deputy Secretary, may be appointed to assist any one of them. The Chief Secretary deals with the correspondence relating to the Public, Judicial, Political and Ecclesiastical Departments; the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, with the administration of the Land Revenue, the Agency tracts and the Laccadives, the Court of Ward and Zamindars, Excise and Stamps; the Secretary in the Law Department with Civil Justice, Emigration, Depressed Classes, Jails, Labour, Legislation, Elections, Education and Registration; the Finance Secretary, besides Finance, with Pensions, and Central subjects, viz., Archaeology and Epigraphy, Customs, Income-tax, Marine, Meteorology, Opium, Post Office and Salt; the Secretary in the Development Department, with Agriculture, Co-operation, Forests, Factories, Industries, Fisheries and Veterinary, and the Secretary to Government, Local Self-Government, with matters concerning Local Boards, Municipal Councils, the Medical Department, Public Health Religious and Charitable Endowments, Tramways and Town-planning. Of the two Secretaries to Government, Public Works Department, one deals with Irrigation and the other with all other Government public works except Railways with regard to which the Senior Government Inspector of Railways occupies the position of Secretary to Government.

One officer is appointed as Agent of the two Indian States of Travancore and Cochin: he has under him an Assistant. The Collectors of Trichinopoly, Bellary and Kurnool are ex-officio Political Agents for the Indian States of Pudukkottai, Sandur and Banganapalle, respectively, and the Collectors of South Arcot, Tanjore, Malabar and Godavari are ex-officio Political Agents for the French Settlements of Pondicherry, Karikal, Mahe and Yanam. A Consul is appointed for Pondicherry and Karikal. The Collector of Madras is ex-officio Paymaster of Carnatic Stipends and in that capacity is under the Political Department of the Government. Officers in the service of Government are occasionally employed in the Indian States with the sanction of the Government.

Administration.—For purposes of general administration the Presidency, is divided into 26 districts under the executive administration of a District Collector and Magistrate, who is generally a member of the Indian Civil Service. Each district, with the exceptions of Madras and Anjengo, contains two or more divisions or sub divisions; a division or sub-division again comprises one or more taluks, each of which is under the jurisdic. tion of a Tahsildar. Some of the Divisional Officers are members of the Indian Civil Service; the majority are, however, Deputy Collectors, who are members of the Provincial Civil Service. The Collectors as Revenue Officers are subject directly to the control of the Board of Revenue which consists of the senior officers of the Revenue Department, usually members of the Indian Civil Service. There are no officers corresponding to Commissioners of Divisions in other provinces who have charge of a number of districts. The revenue jurisdiction of each member of the Board of Revenue extends over the whole Presidency, and the work of the Board is distributed among the members under Madras Act I of 1894. But orders on important matters are passed by the full Board. Two members of the Board are Commissioners of Land Revenue; and one of these is also Commissioner of Revenue Settlement; the third is Commissioner of Salt, and Inam Commissioner. Under the Commissioner of Land Revenue Settlement are the Director of Survey, five Settlement Officers in charge of Settlement Parties and thirteen Special Assistant Settlement Officers. The Land Revenue and Settlement offices of the Board which were till recently separate have been amalgamated into one and the combined office is in charge of a Secretary, a member of the the Indian Civil Service, who is assisted by two Assistant Secretaries, both of whom belong to the Provincial Service.

Criminal Law.—The superior court for civil and criminal judicial work is the High Court at Madras. The High Court may consist of a Chief Justice and as many Judges not exceeding 20, as His Majesty may from time to time think fit and appoint. At present, in addition to the Chief Justice, there are 11 puisne judges. The judges must be barristers of five years' standing or members of the Indian Civil Service of ten years' standing, who have exercised the powers of a District Judge or like powers for at least three years, or persons who have held judicial office not inferior to that of a subordinate judge or a judge of a Small Cause Court for five years or pleader of the High Court of ten years' standing; one-third of the judges, including the Chief Justice, must be barristers and one-third must be members of the Indian Civil Service. A judge holds office during His Majesty's pleasure but has power to resign. The Governor in Council may make temporary arrangements if a vacancy occurs in the High Court. A High Court Bench may consist of one or more judges, a Full Bench being a bench of not less than three of the judges for the time being present as judges of the court. The High Court has framed rules showing what class of work may be disposed of by the various Benches; certain matters may be disposed of by a judge in Chambers. A list showing the sittings of the various courts during the following week is published every Friday. For the administration of criminal justice, there are 25 Sessions Judges in the mofussil, the High Court being the Sessions Court in the Presidency town. Additional and Assistant Sessions Judges are sometimes appointed to assist courts in which the work is heavy. Sessions are held once a month at the head-quarters of each judge, but once a quarter in the High Court. Magistrates are of three classes—first, second and third. The powers of a first-class magistrate are more extensive than those of a second-class magistrate; for instance, a first-class magistrate can pass a sentence of imprisonment for two years, while the longest terms for which second and third-class magistrates can pass sentences of imprisonment are six months and one month respectively. Village magistrates are not included in these three classes of magistrates; they may try persons charged with petty thefts when the value of the property stolen does not exceed one rupee and certain other cases of a trivial nature; they may sentence such persons if found guilty to be confined in the village choultry for a time not exceeding twelve hours. The Collector is always District Magistrate except in the Presidency town, where there are three stipendiary magistrates (including the Chief Presidency Magistrate). There are also four benches of Honorary Presidency

Magistrates for the trial of petty cases. Divisional Officers are also Sub-divisional Magistrates. These magistrates generally exercise all the powers of a first-class magistrate as well as certain other special powers. The bulk of the magisterial work, as far as the trial of original cases is concerned, is disposed of by second-class magistrates. In taluks where the work is light the Tahsildar and Sarishtadar—the head of the taluk office under the Tahsildar—exercise the powers of magistrates including the power to try cases and to commit accused persons for trial before the Sessions Courts, but in other taluks Stationary Sub-Magistrates are appointed for this purpose. Tahsildars are magistrates of the second class ex-officio and Deputy Tahsildars, and Sub-magistrates and taluk Sarishtadars are magistrates of the third class ex-officio. In important mofussil stations, retired Government officers with, judicial experience are appointed Honorary Magistrates and exercise the ordinary and certain special powers of stipendiary first class magistrates. Benches of magistrates are sometimes appointed in mofussil municipalities, and other mofussil towns and villages with powers to try regularly cases under certain special law and with summary powers to dispose of certain other classes of petty cases. Special third-class magistrates, chiefly selected from among Sub-registrars, are appointed to try such petty cases in mofussil towns and villages not within easy reach of a regular magistrate's court. District Magistrates rarely take cases on their own file. Divisional Magistrates dispose of cases triable by a first-class but not by a second-class magistrate and of other cases which are of special importance for any reason or in which it is probable that a heavier sentence should be awarded than a subordinate magistrate is competent to pronounce in view of the previous history of the accused or of the value of the property stolen, etc. The District and Divisional Magistrates closely supervise the work of subordinate magistrates. The judgments of Divisional Magistrates are perused by District Magistrates and Sessions Judges. District Magistrates and Sessions Judges transmit to the High Court copies of their judgments in certain cases In three cantonments in the Presidency the station staff officers are appointed magistrates of the third class and also cantonment magistrates under the Cantonment Act to try petty cases including breaches of cantonment rules.

Police.—The head of the Police Department is the Inspector-General. The Presidency is divided into four ranges, each of which is under a Deputy Inspector-General of Police. A Superintendent of Police is stationed at the headquarters of each district and in most districts there are Assistant Superintendents or Deputy Superintendents, who are subordinate to the Superintendent and have either distinct local charges or are employed as Personal Assistants to the Superintendent. The superior service is divided into two kinds—Indian (Imperial) and Madras (Provincial). Recruitment for the former is, as a rule, made both in England and in India, on the results of competitive examinations, open to European British subjects and to such Indians as are admitted by the Secretary of State in exceptional circumstances and to statutory natives of India respectively. Recruitment for the latter (Madras Police) is made partly by the promotion of Inspectors and partly by direct appointment. Under them are the Inspectors, the Sub-Inspectors and the subordinate police establishment. The railways form two separate districts for the purposes of the Police Department, a special force known as Railway Police being employed under two Superintendents for the detection of offences within the railway limits and for the maintenance of order at railway stations. A Criminal Investigation Department is constituted to deal with crime of a special character and criminal organizations of more than local importance. To enable old offenders to be recognized, the finger-prints of all convicts are taken and sent to the Finger-Print Bureau at Madras. The Railway Police, the Criminal Investigation Department and the Finger-Print Bureau are under the control of a separate Deputy Inspector-General. A Provincial Training School has been established at Vellore for the training of probationary and Assistant Deputy Superintendents, Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors. Central recruits' schools for the training of the constabulary have also been established at Vellore, Vizianagaram, Coimbatore and Anantapur. The magistracy exercise a limited control over the work of the Police but have no power to inflict departmental punishments or to interfere directly in the internal administration of the department. The Madras City Police is controlled by a Commissioner assisted by two Deputy Commissioners and two Assistant Commissioners. The Commissioner is subject to limited control by the Inspector-General In each village one or more village watchmen or talaiyaris are employed, they are under the orders of the village magistrates and are appointed by Divisional Officers; they are not ordinarily under the control of officers of the Police Department but the Local Government may allow the powers of punishing them usually vested in a Divisional Offier, to be exercised by a Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent of Police in a specified area. Among other duties, they have to patrol the village at night, to carry the village magistrate's reports regarding crime and criminals to the nearest police station and sub-magistrate, to watch the cattle pounds and to assist in tracing offenders and detecting crime; they have no uniform but in some districts they are supplied with badges of office. In special localities that talaiyaris enlisted and controlled by the Police Department, are employed to supplement the police in guarding roads. Such additional police are commonly spoken of as punitive police.

Prisons.—The Inspector General of Prisons controls the Jail Department. There are ten central jails (nine permanent and one temporary) and four district jails. The temporary jail was opened to ease the pressure in existing jails caused by the influx of Mappilla prisoners due to the Mappilla rebellion. There are also two special jails—the Borstal Institution, Tanjore, for the confinement of prisoners of ages between 15 and 23, and the Civil Jail, Madras, for civil prisoners admitted within the City of Madras. Central jails are those in which prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for one year and upwards and prisoners sentenced to transportation are confined, they also serve the purpose of district jails for the districts in which they are situated. Two central jails, one for the Tamil and the other for the Telugu districts, have been set apart for the confinement of habitual offenders. Each of the central and district jails (except one of the latter class which is managed by the District Medical Officer) is under the charge of a Superintendent. The appointment of Inspector-General of Prisons and four superintendentships of central jails are reserved for commissioned medical officers of the Indian Medical Service. The Surgeon-General, the Director of Public Health, the Deputy Director of Public Health, all Presidency Magistrates, the Commissioner of Police Sessions Judges, District Magistrate, Subdivisional Magistrates and Inspectors of Schools are ex-officio visitors of jails within their jurisdiction. Non-official visitors are appointed by the Government for the jails in the City of Madras and by District Magistrates for the mofussil jails. Remissions of sentence are granted for good conduct and diligence, the days gained being liable to forfeiture for prison offences. A diligent and well-behaved convict may ordinarily earn three days' remission in a month. Selected casual convicts may be employed as night watchmen, overseers and convict warders; they earn money gratuities and are granted special remission and other privileges. Elementary education is imparted in all jails to prisoners under 30 years of age by a paid teaching staff. Lectures on moral and religious subjects are delivered by honorary lecturers and on sanitary matters by the medical subordinates attached to jails. Technical instruction is given to convicts employed in the various industrial departments to enable them to earn their livelihood on release Each jail is provided with a library and the prisoners are given facilities for reading and study. Recreation is provided for well-behaved prisoners in association wards between lock-up and sleeping time. A Central Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society has been organized at Madras and several district committees have been formed at various centres. At the head-quarters of each sub-magistrate is a subsidiary jail, in which remanded or under-trial prisoners and convicts sentenced to imprisonment for not more than one month are generally confined; these subsidiary jails are superintended by sub-magistrates and inspected periodically by District Medical Officers. There is a Reformatory School at Chingleput for the reception of juvenile offenders under the age of 15 years.

Civil law.—The administration of civil justice is carried on by 24 District Judges, 31 Subordinate Judges, two special Small Cause Judges and 152 District Munsifs. In addition there are at present on a temporary basis one District Judge, 19 Subordinate Judges, 1 Small Cause Judge and 14 District Munsifs. In the Presidency town there are a City Civil Court consisting of one judge and Small Cause Court consisting of a Chief Judge and two other judges. The heads of villages may be appointed village munsifs, with power to hear petty suits of a value not exceeding Rs. 50 (or with the wirtten consent of both parties, Rs. 200), or, alternatively, a panchayat court with similar powers may be constituted, in which case the village munsif ceases to exercise jurisdiction.

Registration.—Registration Offices for the registration of documents have been established at convenient centres throughout the Presidency which for this purpose is divided into districts and sub-districts. The latter are under sub-registrars of whom there are 583, including 7 officers working as clerks in the Inspector-General's office, 5 temporary and 5 ex-officio officers. Excluding the temporary and ex-officio officers the remaining officers are divided into two grades, a lower and an upper, on time-scales of pay. The upper grade consists of 20 per cent of the total number. The districts are presided over by District Registrars, 32 in number, also on a time-scale of pay. This number includes the three appointments of Personal Assistant to the Inspector-General of Registration, Inspector of Registration Offices and Assistant to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies. The head of the department is the Inspector-General of Registration, who is also ex-officio Registrar of Joint Stock Companies and Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages. The Assistant to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies is the Assistant Registrar of Joint Stock Companies for the Madras City and ex-officio Registrar of Provident Insurance Societies and Life Assurance Companies. All District Registrars are ex-officio Assistant Registrars of Joint Stock Companies within their jurisdiction. All registering officers are Registrars of Births and Deaths under the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act. 1886. One hundred and ninety-five officers are also notaries public. Several of them exercise magisterial powers of the third class for the trial of offences punishable under the local laws and some of them are members of local bodies. Sub-Registrars stationed at the head-quarters of Deputy Tahsildars are placed in charge of the sub-treasury during the absence of the Deputy Tahsildar on tour. At taluk stations, they are in charge of the double lock chests during the absence of the Tahsildar on tour if there is no sub-magistrate at the station, or when both the Tahsildar and the sub-magistrate are absent on duty simultaneously.

Local Boards.—A district board has been formed for every district. Taluk boards exist at all districts except the Nilgiris. Union boards have been established in areas which though more or less urban are not yet fit to become Municipalities. The area under a district board is ordinarily the revenue district excluding all municipalities, while that under a taluk board is usually coterminous with a revenue divisional charge, but in some districts, taluk boards have been constituted for single revenue taluks. The Madras Local Boards Act, 1920, gives each class of local board (district, taluk and union) an independent status and distinguishes their funds and functions. Not less than three-fourths of the members should be elected; the president of a union board should invariably be elected; the president of a taluk board should be elected unless the Government otherwise direct; and the president of a district board may be appointed or elected at the discretion of the Government. The privilege of electing their presidents has been conceded to two district boards; and official presidents have been replaced by non-official presidents in all districts but the Nilgiris. The Revenue Divisional Officer is no longer an ex-officio member of the district board or the ex-officio president of the taluk board and the privilege of electing its president has been conceded to all except 14 taluk boards. The total number of members of a district board is subject to a maximum of 52 and a minimum of 24. The president of every taluk board in the district is an ex-officio member of the district board. One-fourth of the members of the district board are appointed by Government and the rest are elected by the taluk boards in all districts except in the Nilgiris where the two planters' associations and the tax-payers and inhabitants of the district elect the members. The total number of members of a taluk board is subject to a maximum of 24 and a minimum of 12. Three-fourths of the total number of members of taluk boards are elected by the tax-payers and inhabitants of the taluk, and the rest are appointed by the presidents of district boards. The qualifications of voters have been considerably lowered and women are no longer debarred from voting or from standing as candidates at elections. Presidents, vice-presidents and members of local boards do not ordinarily receive any remuneration but they may be paid their travelling expenses. Presidents are responsible for seeing that the resolutions of their boards are carried into effect. Under the Madras Local Boards Act, 1920, no village can be constituted into a union unless it has a population of 5,000. The total number of members of a union board is subject to a maximum of 15 and a minimum of 7. Three fourths of the members are elected by the tax-payers and inhabitants of the union and the rest are appointed by the president of the taluk board. Union boards exist in all districts except the Nilgiris and South Kanara. The main source of income of district and taluk boards is a tax of one anna in the rupee on the annual rent value of all occupied lands in the district. The district board can levy an extra tax not exceeding 3 pies in the rupee on the annual rent value of occupied lands and the taluk board can levy another tax of three pies in the rupee. The levy of a railway cess has been abolished. The income of union boards is derived chiefly from a tax on houses. Local boards also derive an income from tolls and ferries, profession and companies taxes, pilgrim tax and fees for the use of markets, cart-stands and slaughter-houses. A consolidated budget of all the local boards in the district has to be submitted to the Government but the local boards have a free hand in framing their budgets. Government cannot interfere in this matter unless a budget fails to provide for the due discharge of all liabilities in respect of loans or for the maintenance of a working balance. The main ordinary duties of local boards are the construction and maintenance of roads, bridges, avenues, hospitals, dispensaries, markets, water-works, wells, drains, latrines, the training of nurses, midwives, and vaccinators, the supervision of sanitation and the diffusion of education. District and taluk boards employ engineering establishments for the construction and maintenance of public works vested in them or under their control, but the services of officers of the Public Works Department are occasionally utilized with the permission of Government for the execution of special works considered to be beyond the powers of the ordinary local fund staff. The District Collector, the Surgeon-General, the Director of Public Health and his assistants, the Sanitary Engineer and his deputies, the District Medical Officer, the District Health Officer, the Chief Engineer, the Superintending Engineer of the circle, the Director of Public Instruction and the Inspector of Schools may, with the permission of the president, address a local board on any matter affecting the general administration, sanitation, public works or public instruction.

Municipalities.—The duties devolving on local boards are discharged in municipal areas by independent bodies styled municipal councils. Each council consists of not less than 16 and not more than 36 members. Under the Act the elective strength should not be less than three-fourths; the rest of the members are appointed by Government. The Revenue Divisional Officer is no longer an ex-officio member of the Council and official supervision has been largely relaxed. The property tax leviable on buildings and lands comprises a tax for general purposes and it may also comprise a water and drainage tax, a lighting tax and a railway tax. The rate of this tax is fixed by each council independently. Other sources of municipal income are a professional tax, tolls, taxes on vehicles and animals, a companies tax and in some cases a pilgrim tax. In hill stations a tax on private menial and domestic servants may in addition be levied. Unless a municipal council is indebted, it has a free hand as to the taxes to be levied and the rates at which they should be levied. The registration of births and deaths is compulsory in all municipalities and the vaccination of children, is also obligatory. Some councils employ paid chairmen, while others have paid secretaries to assist their honorary chairmen. Every rate-payer is given a vote and is eligible for election to the council. Women can also vote at municipal elections but cannot at present stand as candidates at elections. They may, however, serve on special committees of the council.

Madras Corporation.—The municipal affairs of the City of Madras are administered by a council and a Commissioner. The council consists of 50 councillors, of whom 30 are elected by the rate-payers and inhabitants of the 30 municipal divisions, three elected by the Madras Chamber of Commerce, three by the Madras Trades Association, two by the South Indian Chamber of Commerce, one by the Port Trust Board, one by the Anglo-Indian Association of Southern India, and one by the University of Madras. The remaining nine councillors are appointed by the Government. There are four standing committees, of seven members each, dealing with taxation and finance, works, health and education. The Commissioner, who is appointed by the Government, is a paid officer and is the head of the executive. He can attend meetings of the council or of any standing committee and take part in the discussion, but he has no right to move any resolution or to vote. At the first meeting after the first day of November in each year the council elects one of its number to be its president. The taxes leviable in the City of Madras are in general similar to those in the mofussil municipalities, but the Corporation levies also a tax on timber brought into the city and a duty on transfers of property in the shape of an additional stamp duty. The council can itself fix the rate at which the property tax is to be levied. The present rate is 18¾ per cent of the annual value of buildings and land. The three principal officers of the municipal corporation are the Revenue Officer, the Health Officer and the Engineer who are appointed by the council subject to confirmation by the Government. A special engineer has also been appointed by the council with the approval of the Government to carry out the extensive water and drainage schemes now in hand. Subject to confirmation by the Government, the council has power, in the event of any unusual mortality or the prevalence of any dangerous disease within the city, to appoint a special health officer to investigate the causes thereof and to suggest remedies, and to appoint a special revenue officer for the purpose of carrying out a periodical revision of assessment, introducing a new tax or discharging any extraordinary duty connected with the revenue administration of the Corporation. But no necessity for either of these appointments has so far arisen.

Marine.—The Marine Department includes the Presidency Port Officer and the Deputy Conservator of the Port of Madras, who are officers of the Royal Indian Marine, and 12 other Port officers, one of whom is Personal Assistant to the Presidency Port Officer and Agent for Government Consignments, Madras, while the others are stationed at minor ports. The port of Madras is under the control of a body of trustees constituted under the Madras Port Trust Act II of 1905.

Civil Veterinary.—The Civil Veterinary Department has an executive and an educational branch. At the head of the executive branch is the Chief Superintendent, Civil Veterinary Department, who is a member of the Indian Civil Veterinary Department, with three superintendents and four deputy superintendents under him. The college is presided over by another member of the Indian Civil Veterinary Department under whom are a professor of pathology and bacteriology, a professor of surgery and other lecturers. The whole department works directly under the Ministry of Development.

Horticulture.—Botanic gardens are maintained on the hills in immediate charge of the Curator of the Government Gardens and Parks, the Nilgiris, who works under the orders of the Director of Agriculture.

Cinchona and quinine.—The Government have large cinchona plantations on the Nilgiris and a factory at Neduvattam for the manufacture of quinine. Quinine produced at the factory is supplied to the medical departments of Madras and Bombay and to hospitals and dispensaries throughout the Madras Presidency. and elsewhere in India. It is also sold to the public in packet form through the agency of post offices. The plantations and factory are under the Deputy Director of Agriculture (Cinchona).

Public Works.—The Public Works Department is responsible for the construction and maintenance of buildings belonging to Government (except certain buildings in charge of the Forest, Salt, Excise and Separate Revenue Departments), navigable canals, and irrigation works which are ordinarily capable of irrigating more than two hundred acres of land; it does not as a rule maintain roads, though a few important roads are in its charge. At the head of the Public Works Department are two Chief Engineers, the senior of whom is the Secretary to Government and the junior Joint Secretary; one controls the general roads and buildings branch and the other the irrigation branch of the business of the department. No railways in the Presidency are worked by the State, but the Government are kept in touch with the Railway administrations by the senior Government Inspector of Railways who, for this purpose, is also a Secretary to Government. The Presidency is divided into five circles, over each of which there is a Superintending Engineer, who controls the district staff of executive and assistant executive engineers. These are employed both on irrigation and other public works. The superior officers belong to the Indian Service of Engineers and in addition a new provincial service was constituted in 1920 under the style of the "Madras Engineering Service" to include the bulk of the officers required for the charge of permanent subdivision and equivalent posts. There are, besides, specialist appointments, including the Sanitary Engineer to Government, the Consulting Architect and his assistant—and temporarily also a special Consulting Architect—the Electrical Inspector and the Electrical Engineer. A special Harbour Engineer was appointed in 1920 to advise the Government on important harbour works, but he and his staff were transferred in 1921 to the Marine Department. The Boiler Inspectors are under the control of the Public Works Department, which deals with questions relating to the working of the Steam Boilers and Prime-movers Act. The accounts of the department are audited by the Accountant-General. Payments are made by means of cheques drawn by officers on Government treasuries or the Imperial Bank of India, the expenditure being limited to the amount of budget allotments.

Audit.—Under the Reforms the audit of the transactions of both the Central and Provincial Governments is a central subject, while that of local funds is a provincial subject. The audit of the former is entrusted to the Accountant-General, who is an officer of the Government of India under the direct orders of the Auditor General in India. The audit of local funds is conducted by the Examiner of Local Fund Accounts working under the administrative control of the Local Government. The Accountant-General is also ex-officio Deputy Controller of the Currency and is assisted by a currency officer of the rank of Assistant Accountant-General who is in immediate charge of the Currency office. In this capacity as principal Audit Officer, the Accountant-General is assisted by two Deputy and three Assistant Accountants-General besides four Assistant Accounts Officers. One of the Deputies is in charge of the civil audit and the other in charge of the public works audit. Each year the Accountant-General reviews the result of the audit conducted by him during the past official year in his audit and appropriation reports which are transmitted, through the Auditor-General in India, to the Finance Department to be placed before the Committee on Public Accounts for scrutiny and report to the Legislative Council.

Salt, Abkari and Separate Revenue.—The manufacture and sale of salt and of intoxicating liquors and drugs including opium are controlled by the Salt, Abkari and Separate Revenue Department. The head of the department is the Commissioner who is a Member of the Board of Revenue. There are three Deputy Commissioners, who have charge of the Northern, Southern and Central territorial divisions, and an Assistant Commissioner of Distilleries who is responsible for the supervision of distilleries. One Deputy Commissioner and the Secretary to the Commissioner are usually Members of the Indian Civil Service. There are 11 Assistant Commissioners and 85 Inspectors. The manufacture of salt is a Government monopoly and one of the principal duties of the officers of the department is the prevention of the unauthorised manufacture of salt. The factories are of two classes; in factories for the manufacture of salt for sale to Government, salt is manufactured by ryots who are paid for their salt by Government as soon as it is stored, and this salt is again sold by Government normally at fixed rates and occasionally in public auction; in factories for the manufacture of salt for general sale, private persons are permitted not only to carry on manufacture subject to the conditions of their licences but also to dispose of their salt at their own price and discretion. Salt which has been sold by Government, and salt which is the property of licencees or of purchasers from them, may not be removed from the factories until duty at the rate fixed by the Government of India has been paid.

The manufacture and the sale of any intoxicating liquor or drug except under due authority are prohibited by law. In the case of imported liquors, the duties leviable under the tariff for the time being in force are credited to Customs, and the excise revenue therefrom is derived only from licences for the privilege of vend. The right of vend in taverns licensed for the retail sale of liquor on and off the premises is sold in public auction; in other cases, fixed fees are charged for licences. A brewer must take out a licence and comply with certain rules, duty, which is at present fixed at 8 annas per imperial gallon, must be paid once in a quarter on the total quantity of beer brewed during the quarter, less 5 per cent. allowed for wastage.

The revenue derived from country spirit is levied partly by means of a still-head duty and partly by licence fees and the sale of the right of vend; country spirit is arrack which is generally distilled from jaggery or molasses. Under the "contract distillery system," which is now in force throughout the whole Presidency with the exception of the major portion of the Agency division where the central distillery and outstill systems are in force, the exclusive privilege of manufacture and supply of country spirits throughout a district or other specified area is disposed of by tender to approved individuals and firms. Tenderers are required to state at what rate over and above the still-head duty they are prepared to supply spirits of specified strengths from a central source of supply (distillery and warehouse) in each contract area. The successful tenderer has the monopoly of supply of liquor of his own manufacture to retail vendors within the area of his contract at rates which are fixed by Government, and he must generally establish wholesale depots at convenient places for this purpose; he must also pay the still-head duty at the rate fixed by Government on all liquor so issued The duty, except in certain low-duty areas, varies from Rs. 6-14-0 to Rs. 8-7-7 per proof gallon, except in Madras City and the Saidapet taluk of the Chingleput district were it is Rs 10-10-0 per proof gallon; the annual fee for a licence to establish and maintain a distillery is Rs. 100 and licences for warehouses are issued free. If a distiller himself establishes a wholesale depot, no fee is charged, but to facilitate the supply of spirits to retail vendors in tracts which are not within easy reach of a distillery or a warehouse licences are issued at the instance of the contractor to persons who are not distillers, on payment of a fee of Rs. 15 for the wholesale vend of country spirits, the licencees being allowed to sell only to other wholesale depot keepers and independent arrack shopkeepers in the districts or other tracts to which the licence applies. The manufacture is separated from the sale of liquor. The right of retail vend of country spirits is sold annually in public auction by separate shops. The rates of still-head duty are fixed by the Governor in-Council and may vary from year to year. Liquor may be issued and sold only at certain specified strengths, viz., 35° or 60° under-proof, except in the low-duty area round Pondicherry in the South Arcot district and the Attapadi valley, where liquor of strength 40° under-proof may be sold.

Unfermented or "sweet" toddy—the sap of a cocoanut, sago, palmyra, date or dadasal palm—is not subject to any taxation, but it must be drawn in pots freshly coated internally with lime or containing sufficient lime to prevent fermentation. Fermented toddy is taxed by means of rents payable for the right of retail vend and also, throughout the greater part of the Presidency, by means of the tree-tax system under which a fixed fee is charged for every tree, from which it is intended to draw fermented toddy. The right of retail vend is sold in public auction. Under the tree-tax system, no palm tree may be tapped for the purpose of producing fermented toddy without a licence, upon issue of which the tree is given a distinguishing mark. The fees for licences to tap cocoanut and sago palms are Rs. 4-8-0 and Rs. 9-0-0 a tree for each half-year and the fee for a licence to tap a palmyra or date palm is Rs. 3 a year in the major portion of the Presidency, in some districts, fees are levied at five sixths of these rates and in some at 25 per cent. in excess of these rates. Special rates are in force in the Agency.

An excise licensing board has been appointed for the City of Madras with power to determine the number and location of shops for the sale of intoxicants of all kinds. In district municipalities and unions of an urban character special local committees are appointed to advise the Collectors in respect of the number and location of shops. In other areas, the number and sites of shops are determined by the Collector in consultation with the District Superintendent of Police. Representations made by district or talukboards, village panchayats and other public bodies are duly considered and weight is attached to local opinion and the opinion of persons specially interested, e.g., railway authorities and large employers of labour. Lists of shops proposed for any lease within the jurisdiction of municipal councils and district and taluk boards are placed before the body concerned three months before the date fixed for the auction sale and their views are taken into consideration. Instructions have been issued to Collectors that, as a rule, rural shops must not be located without permission within a furlong of a metalled road, that when shops on a roadside are anctioned in rural areas the minimum distance between such shops should ordinary be five miles, that sites selected should be so far public that persons entering shops do not escape observation but not so prominent as to compel attention and that where possible, the shops should be located on Government land. The general rule is that shop licences are issued for a single year and the number and sites of shops are determined beforehand and are not altered except for very special reasons. Maximum numbers of shops to be opened in each district have been fixed according to requirements.

The cultivation of the poppy is prohibited, and the whole of the opium required for the Presidency is supplied by the Government factory at Ghazipur and stocked in district treasuries in the first instance and thence distributed to taluk cutcherries. It is issued to licensed vendors from taluk cutcherries at a price fixed from time to time. Import of opium or intoxicating drugs other than those used for smoking is permitted only—

(a) in the case of imports by sea by licenced dealers in opium for medicinal purposes or by licenced chemists, or.

(b) under special orders of the Board of Revenue to be obtained in each case.

The privilege of the retail vend of opium and of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating drugs (other than smoking preparations) prepared therefrom is sold in auction by shops.

Licences for the cultivation of the hemp plant are issued only in the Bapatla taluk of the Guntur district and in the Polur taluk of the North Arcot district; elsewhere, its cultivation is absolutely prohibited. In tracts where it is licenced, the cultivators are required to convey the produce to public storehouses whence removals are allowed only on pre-payment of excise duty at Rs. 20 per seer of ganja and Rs. 3 per seer of bhang. Licences for the vend of these intoxicating drugs are sold in public auction.

Salt and Excise.—With effect from the 1st April 1924 the combined Salt and Abkari Department has been bifurcated into Salt and Excise Departments with a separate staff for each. The Salt Department is in charge of an officer designated the Collector of Salt Revenue. For purposes of administration, the Presidency is divided into two Assistant Commissioners' Divisions. The Excise Department is now placed under the control of an Excise Commissioner who is a member of the Board of Revenue. There are 9 Assistant Commissioners, 63 Inspectors and 29 Assistant Inspectors.

Income-tax.—The assessment and collection of income-tax are controlled by the Commissineer of Income-Tax, appointed by the Governor-General-in-Council; under the Commissioner there are Assistant Commisioners.

Stamps.—The Collector of Madras is also Superintendent of Stamps and Stationery and has under him an Assistant Superintendent who is a Deputy Collector. The net revenue from stamps during the year 1922-23 was Rs. 2,19,83,332. The charges were Rs. 6,01,238.

Customs.—The sea and land customs establishments are controlled by the Collector of Customs, Madras, he is assisted by two Assistant Collectors who are members of the Imperial Customs Service and eight Inspectors who are borne on the cadre of the Salt, Abkari and Customs Department.

Registration of Births and Deaths.—The registration of births and deaths is compulsory in municipalities and may be made compulsory in rural areas by the Local Government under the Madras Registration of Births and Deaths Act (III of 1899); during the year 1921 this Act was in force in 2,726 towns and villages. In rural tracts the registers of births and deaths are maintained by railway station-masters or by headmen of villages according as the tracts are within or outside railway limits; where registration is not compulsory, the headman has to ascertain by careful enquiries the occurence of births and deaths outside railway limits. The registers are inspected and checked by officers of the Land Revenue, Medical and Vaccination Departments and by chairmen of municipalities and unions; but the officer responsible for the compilation of statistics for the whole presidency is the Director of Public Health.

Labour.—A new Department of Labour was temporarily constituted in the year 1920 under a Commissioner of Labour who is an officer of the Indian Civil Service. This department deals with questions concerning the welfare of labourers and the depressed classes, the administration of the Factories Act, the management and control of criminal tribes settlements and the emigration of labour. In his administration of the Factories Act, the Commissioner of Labour is assisted by one Chief Inspector, three Inspectors and one Assistant Inspector.

Medical Sanitation and Vaccination.—The higher appointments in the Medical Department are usually held by commissioned officers of Indian Medical Service. The head of the departments is the Surgeon-General with the Government, who also superintends the Medical College, Madras, and the Medical Schools at Royapuram, Tanjore, Vizagapatam, Calicut and Madura. The branch of the department which deals with sanitation, vaccination and epidemics is superintended by the Director of Public Health and his assistants. The Government maintain all the important hospitals in Madras City and all the district headquarter hospitals. The staff of the General Hospital includes three surgeons, four physicians and a resident medical officer; one of the surgeons or physicians is also the superintendent of the hospital and draws an extra allowance on that account, and all the seven are usually professors of the college; one of the professors of the colleg is also Principal and draws an extra allowance. The professor of chemistry is also the Chemical Examiner to Government. Four medical officers are stationed in Madras town which is divided into four departmental districts; the Presidency Surgeon, First District, is Inspector of Emigrants and Superintendent of the Medical School, Royapuram. A District Medical and Sanitary Officer is stationed at the head-quarters of each mofussil district and Civil Surgeons are stationed in seven other towns. The District Medical and Sanitary Officers, Tanjore, Vizagapatam, Malabar and Madura, are also the Superintendents of the Medical Schools in the respective districts. Medical Officers receive special fees for the inspection of vessels. Lunatic asylums are maintained by the Government at Madras, Calicut and Vizagapatam. There is a separate superintendent for the Asylum at Madras, but at Calicut and Vizagapatam the District Medical and Sanitary Officer and the Medical Superintendent of the Central Jail, respectively, are the superintendents. A leper hospital is maintained by Government at Madras in charge of an assistant surgeon working under the control of the Presidency Surgeon, First District. The Public Health Board advises local boards, municipal councils and the Government itself on all matters of public health administration; a sanitary engineer is employed to investigate and report on sanitary projects. The salaries of officers in the subordinate grades, including sub-assistant surgeons, vaccinators and sanitary inspectors, are paid wholly or mainly by local boards and municipal councils who maintain hospitals and dispensaries throughout the Presidency. Deputy Inspectors of Vaccination are paid wholly by Government.

Scientific Departments.—Appointments in connexion with science include the Superintendent, Government Central Museum, who is also Librarian of the Connemara Public Library, the Superintendent, Archæological Survey, and the Assistant Archæological Superintendent for Epigraphy for the Madras Presidency, the last two of whom have, under the reforms, become officers of the Imperial Department.

Legislative Council.—When first constituted by the Indian Councils Act of 1861, the Legislative Council of Madras consisted of the ordinary members of the Governor's Executive Council and a number of additional members besides the Advocate-General, of whom not less than half were to be non-officials nominated by the Governor. The number of nominated members, exclusive of the Advocate-General, was fixed at not less than four and not more than eight and thus the strength of the whole Council was so small that the Council could be described as "a mere committee for the purpose of making laws, a committee by means of which the executive Government obtained advice and assistance in their legislation and the public derived the advantage of full publicity at every stage of the law-making process." The Council could not inquire into grievances, call for information or examine the conduct of the executive; and even its legislative function consisted merely of registering the orders of the Government in a manner which ensured publicity and discussion. By the Councils Act of 1892 the minimum and maximum numbers of additional members, exclusive of the Advocate-General, were raised to 8 and 20, respectively. The Governor had power to nominate all of them, but he was to do so subject to certain regulations made by the Governor-General-in-Council with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, and under these regulations seven non-official members were to be nominated on the recommendations of various local, commercial and learned bodies. Technically the function of the nominating bodies was to be that of mere recommendation, but,in practice,the nomination was always accepted and thus in course of time the system of election came to be firmly established. The Council was to contain an official majority, but it had the right of asking questions and of discussing though not voting upon the budget. The next stage in the development of the Council was marked by the Indian Councils Act, 1909 (The "Minto-Morley Reforms"), the salient features of which were (1) a great expansion in the strength of the Council—the Council consisted of 42 additional members, besides the ordinary members of the Governor's Council; (2) the legal recognition of the elective principle—21 members out of the 42 additional members were elected; (3) the abandonment of the official majority, though a combination of officials and nominated non-officials could obtain a majority over the elected members; (4) the grant of rights (a) to move resolutions on the budget and divide upon them, (b) to move resolutions upon matters of general public importance and (c) to ask supplementary questions.

The Government of India Act of 1919 made still further change in composition and functions to the Local Legislative Council. The Council is no longer the Governor's Executive Council supplemented by a number of additional members for the purpose of legislation, but is a separate body consisting of members nominated or elected as provided by the Act and having an independent existence of its own. The members of the Executive Council are ex-officio members of the Legislature but the Council contains in addition 98 elected and 25 nominated members. The Ministers are appointed by the Governor but must not be officials and must be at the time of appointment or become within six months elected members of the Council. Of the nominated members not more than 19 may be officials; 5 are nominated to represent backward communities which are unlikely in any other way to secure representation, and one to represent the inhabitants of the Agency Division, which has been declared a backward tract. The Governor is not a member of the Legislative Council but has the right to address the Council and may for that purpose require the attendance of the members. Until the expiration of a period of four years from the first meeting of the Council, as constituted under the Act, the President is to be a person appointed by the Governor, but thereafter he will be a person elected by the Council from among the members and approved by the Governor. The Deputy President is a member of the Council elected by the Council and approved by the Governor. Of the 98 elected members 13 represent Muhammadan and 5 Indian Christian constituencies; the Europeans and Anglo-Indians of the Presidency each have one representative, as also the Madras University and the planting community; commercial bodies have 5 and the larger landholders 6; and the remaining are elected by general non-Muhammadan constituencies. Twenty-eight of these seats are reserved for non-Brahmans, though at the elections held at the end of 1920 considerably more than this number were actually secured by non-Brahmans. For the rural constituencies the general qualification for a vote is the payment of Rs. 10 per annum in rent or revenue; for urban constituencies the payment of taxes at the minimum rate, or, in Madras, the occupation of a house of an annual value of not less than Rs. 60; irrespective of these qualifications, retired, pensioned or discharged officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers of His Majesty's regular forces are entitled to vote. Generally speaking, a voter must be a British subject, not of unsound mind and not under 21 years of age; a sex disqualification which formed part of the original rules has since been removed. The total number of voters on the first electoral rolls was over a million and a quarter; and though this is a small proportion of the population of the Presidency, the enfranchisement of this number must be recognized as a great advance on the former system of indirect election. The number that actually went to the polls was 303,558.

The general qualifications for election to the Council run on the same lines as the qualifications for the franchise, with certain additions. The age minimum is raised to 25; conviction for a serious offence in a criminal court becomes a disqualification; and no person who is already a member of any legislative body constituted under the Act is eligible for election. Government servants are debarred from election, and the acceptance of any Crown office must be followed by resignation, except in the case of Ministers. The rules provide for the settlement of election disputes by a court of three commissioners of high judicial standing. New members are required to take an oath of allegiance to the Crown. On any failure to take this oath, the seat is declared vacant by the Governor, who may also declare vacant the seat of any member who is absent from India for a long period.

Powers of the Council.—Generally speaking, the Legislative Council has power, subject to the provisions of the Act, to make laws for the peace and good government of the province; but no legislation which affects any Act of Parliament is permissible. Considerable latitude is now allowed in respect of legislation for the imposition of taxation Previous to the passing of the Act, the consent of the Governor-General had to be obtained for all such legislation. This restriction has been removed in the case of certain scheduled taxes such as those on non-agricultural land and luxuries. Under the concurrent powers of legislation now granted to the Central and Provincial Legislatures, it is open to the provincial Council to amend, in its application to their own province, certain forms of legislation passed by the Central Legislatures. But it is obvious that, to ensure uniformity in India and to safeguard the observance of the general policy of the country, a large measure of control over matters affecting broader issues must be retained in the hands of the Central Legislature. This precaution is ensured by the scheduled limitation of the powers of the local Council; thus the following forms of legislation are not within the province of the Provincial Council:—

(a) Laws imposing new taxation, except such laws as are permitted by schedule (vide supra);

(b) Laws affecting the public debt of India or customs or taxes imposed by the authority of the Central Government;

(c) Laws affecting the Imperial forces or relations with foreign Princes or States;

(d) Laws regulating central subjects;

(e) Laws affecting provincial subjects which are declared to be subject to the legislation of the Central Government, or affecting the powers of the Governor-General, or such laws as aim at repealing or altering legislation which, according to the rules provided under the Act, can only be altered or repealed with previous sanction.

Powers of the Governor.—In pre-Reform days it was generally possible for the Government to pass any measure which it considered necessary and to prevent the passage of any measure which it regarded as injurious or unsound. With a large non-official majority these powers no longer remain any other safeguards for use in emergencies have had to be provided by the Government of India

Act and the rules framed thereunder. Where any Bill has been introduced or is proposed to be introduced, or any amendment to a Bill is moved or proposed to be moved, the Governor may certify that the Bill or any clause of it or the amendment affects the safety or tranquillity of the Province or any part of it, or of another province and may direct that no further proceedings shall be taken in connection with it. Similarly, where the Council has refused leave to introduce, or has failed to pass in a form recommended by the Governor any Bill relating to a reserved subject, the Governor may certify that the passage of the Bill is essential for the discharge of his responsibility for the subject, and thereupon the Bill is deemed to have been passed. A measure so passed must ordinarily be reserved for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure, though where in the opinion of the Governor-General a state of emergency justifies such action, he may immediately signify his assent and the Act will come into force subject to subsequent disallowance by His Majesty in Council; and Acts passed under these provisions must be laid before both Houses of Parliament. It is further open to the Governor or the Governor-General, when a Bill has been passed by the Legislative Council, to withhold his assent; or the Governor may, instead of declaring that he assents to, or withholds his assent from, the Bill, return the Bill to the Council for reconsideration in whole or in part, together with any amendments which he may recommend; or, in certain cases for which provision is made in the rules, he may, or must, reserve the Bill for the consideration of the Governor-General. A Bill so reserved, if it does not receive the assent of the Governor-General within six months, lapses unless within that period the Governor has returned, or notified his intention to return it, to the Council for further consideration.

Financial procedure.—The annual budget of the province is presented to the Council yearly on a day appointed by the Governor. There are two stages in the passage of the financial programme—a general discussion and the voting of demands for grants. But the following heads of expenditure are not subject to submission to the vote of the Council:—

(a) contributions payable by the Local Government to the Governor-General-in-Council;

(b) interest and sinking fund charges on loans;

(c) expenditure the amount of which is prescribed by law;

(d) salaries or pensions of persons appointed by or with the approval of His Majesty or by the Secretary of State in Council; and

(e) salaries of the High Court Judges and of the Advocate-General.

Normally, a separate demand is made in respect of the grant required for each department, but the Finance Member may unite the grants of two or more departments in one demand. On the appointed day, a motion for the granting of each demand is made by the responsible Member of Council or Minister. The members of the Legislative Council are then free to bring forward motions for the omission or reduction of a grant; but it is not open to them to move for the increase of any grant or for the alteration of its destination. There is statutory provision for excess grants and for supplementary grants. As in the case of ordinary legislation, the Governor has power to carry through demands in respect of reserved subjects when he is of opinion that such expenditure is essential for the proper discharge of his responsibilities, and in the case of all subjects, to enforce such expenditure as he considers essential for the safety of his province.

Resolutions.—Members have a right to move resolutions on matters of general public importance; fifteen days' notice must be given. Every resolution must be in the form of a recommendation to the Government, and no resolution may be moved on matters affecting relations with foreign States, relations with or the administration of Princes or Chiefs under the suzerainty of His Majesty, or on any matter which is sub judice. The Governor may disallow any resolution, before it is placed on the agenda, on the ground that the public interests would suffer thereby or that it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Local Government. The standing orders of the Council forbid the moving of a resolution which covers the same ground as a previous resolution of the same session.

Questions.—On giving seven days' notice a member may put a question on any matter of public concern, with the object of obtaining information from the member of the Government within whose special cognizance the subject-matter lies. The limitations on resolutions mentioned above apply equally to questions, and questions regarding controversies with higher authorities and the answers thereto are confined to matters and statements of fact. Any member who is dissatisfied with the answer given to his own or another member's question may follow up the question with a supplementary question.

Motions for adjournment.—It is open to any member to move for the adjournment of the business of the Council for the purpose of the discussion of a definite matter of urgent public importance. But the Governor may disallow such a motion on any of the grounds mentioned in the case of resolutions.

Education.—Public instruction is controlled by the Educational Department of Government. The control which Government exercise over the University of Madras is very slight, and consists chiefly in an annual audit of accounts and in the statutory rule whereby all changes in the by-laws of the University have to receive the sanction of the Governor-in-Council. Colleges may be affiliated to the University in compliance with certain regulations. Certain institutions are maintained and managed by Government directly; they include at present 10 colleges for general education and 9 colleges for special branches of education, of which 4 are not under the Educational Department, 36 secondary schools, 789 primary schools and 89 training schools for special education. Other institutions are aided by Government by money grants for various purposes on prescribed conditions. Government, local boards and municipalities make grants-in-aid to 362, 22 and 839 schools, respectively, of the secondary and primary grade and to 201 other institutions under private management. Local boards and municipalities maintain in addition 2 colleges, 194 secondary schools and 9,708 elementary schools. Over these schools Government exercise considerable control by their scrutiny and sanction of the budgets of local bodies; the budget grants are made on the recommendation of the officers of the Educational Department. District boards and municipalities are subsidised by Government for the maintenance of secondary schools under their control, the net cost of those opened in 1918 and subsequent years being fully or partly met from Provincial funds. The Madras Elementary Education Act of 1920 requires taluk boards and municipalities to constitute "Elementary Education Funds" under their control and the budget estimates relating to such funds are subject to the approval of the Local Government. The Government further grant secondary school-leaving certificates to pupils of recognised schools, i.e., schools which are managed in accordance with certain conditions laid down by Government. The Government notify from time to time the text-books which may be used in aided and recognized institutions. Scholarships are awarded annually by Government in recognized schools and colleges, some of them being reserved for females or members of the backward classes. In order to maintain a supply of competent teachers, Government maintain 89 training schools and 3 training colleges for teachers, grant stipends to a large number of their students and, after examination, issue teaching certificates; the staff of a recognized or aided school must consist of teachers holding such certificates or having some equivalent professional qualifications. There are 20 training schools for masters and 15 for mistresses under private (mission) management. Sex does not affect a candidate's eligibility to appear for the public and University examination, and women can obtain degrees on the same terms as men; girls may, as a rule, attend the elementary schools for boys and there are secondary and elementary schools for girls only; 4 colleges for women are affiliated to the University. The education of backward and indigent classes is specially encouraged by the maintenance of schools and the grant of assistance in money to schools for such classes under private management at increased rates and on conditions easier than those prescribed for ordinary schools. Technical education is promoted by the maintenance of technical colleges affiliated to the University, by a system of technical examinations, by the inclusion in the secondary school-leaving certificate scheme of technical subjects and by the award of scholarships to be held in technical schools and colleges. In elementary schools the pupils are usually taught in their own vernacular, but English is the medium of instruction and examination in the high school departments of all high schools except a few vernacular high schools for girls and in all colleges affiliated to the University. Physical education is practically compulsory in all recognized schools. Four classes for the training of physical training instructors are maintained, 2 by Government and 2 by aided high schools. The examinations for the higher grade teachers' certificates include questions on moral training. Religious instruction is not included in any of the prescribed courses of instruction: but while Government does not provide religious instruction in its own institutions with the exception of the Madrasa-i-Azam, teachers in recognized schools may impart religious instruction at any time provided that secular instruction is given for the prescribed number of hours.

The head of the Educational Department under Government is the Director of Public Instruction. The department is broadly divided into (a) the superior service and (b) the subordinate service. The former consists of the Indian Educational Service and the Madras Educational Service. The Indian Educational Service consists of 66 posts, 13 of which are included in the Women's Branch. These posts are filled by persons appointed in England or in India with the approval of the Secretary of State. The Madras Educational Service consists of 62 posts, 19 of which are included in the Women's Branch. These posts are filled by recruitment in India. There are also certain special posts, not included in the Indian Educational Service but recruited from England, and others not included in the Madras Educational Service to which appointments are made by the Local Government. The pay of officers in the Indian Educational Service ranges from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,755 per mensem, with allowances in special cases, while that of persons in the Women's Branch ranges from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,050. In the Madras Educational Service the minimum and maximum pay are Rs. 250 and Rs. 800, and in the Women's Branch Rs. 200 and Rs. 500.

For the purpose of the administration of the education of boys the Presidency is divided into 16 circles and for that of girls into 5 circles, each of which is under an inspector or inspectress of schools. There is an Inspector of European Schools belonging to the Indian Educational Service with a provincial assistant. The inspectors and inspectresses are members of the Indian Educational Service. Where inspectors' circles include more than one district each district has an assistant inspector. Under these are 181 sub-assistant inspectors; there are also 14 sub-assistant inspectors of Muhammadan and Mappilla schools and one sub-assistant inspector for Bangalore. There are a superintendent and 2 supervisors of Sanskrit schools. For the supervision of girls' schools there are 5 provincial assistant inspectresses and 18 sub-assistants of the subordinate service. Except in the Agency and in connexion with Sanskrit schools, the cadre of supervisors of boys' elementary schools was recently abolished. An adviser with an assistant and 8 touring demonstrators supervise physical training.

The Text-book Committee was appointed to take into consideration such books as may be referred to it by the Director of Public Instruction and to advise him on their suitability, to advise the Educational Department on the steps to be taken for the preparation and publication of new text-books when necessary and to help in forming under the control of the Director of Public Instruction (1) an educational library containing copies of all text-books approved from time to time by the department, copies of text-books approved or prescribed in other provinces of India and in other countries and copies of works on the theory, the practice and the history of education and (2) an educational museum containing plans and models of school buildings and specimens of maps, diagrams, apparatus and appliances suitable for schools. The committee consists of 40 members appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, who is the ex-officio president. The committee submits half-yearly to the Director a list of books considered, with its recommendations. The Director publishes lists of books approved for use in institutions under public management and approved for use in recognized institutions under private management.

Educational institutions are classified independently in three ways. First, they are classified as private institutions and public institutions. All indigenous schools which have not accepted the departmental standards of instruction and all others in which the course of instruction, however advanced, does not conform to the standards prescribed or accepted by the University or by the department are private institutions. Public institutions include all other institutions whether under public management (i. e., managed by Government, by local boards or by municipalities) or under private management; the latter may be either aided by Government, by local boards or by municipalities or financially independent.

Schools not managed by Government are divided into "recognized" and "unrecognized." The conditions of recognition (vide the Madras Educational Rules) deal with the general educational qualifications of the staff, the prohibition of political activities among managers, teachers and pupils, the proportion of teachers to pupils, the accommodation and appliances, sanitary inspection, fees, the admission, promotion and withdrawal of pupils, discipline and registers.

Secondly, public institutions are classified, according to the standard of instruction provided into elementary schools (lower and higher), secondary schools, special schools (art, law, etc.), arts colleges (second grade and first grade) affiliated to the University of Madras and professional colleges (law, etc.) also affiliated to the University. In second grade colleges the highest instruction is that required for the intermediate examination in arts and science, while in first-grade colleges students are educated for the B.A. honours degree or pass examination. In each of the professional colleges instruction for the corresponding degree examination is given.

Lastly, schools may be divided into "English" and "Vernacular." English schools include all schools in which English is used as the general medium of instruction either throughout the schools or in one or more of the higher classes or forms. Other schools are vernacular schools.

Examinations are held annually to test the teaching qualifications of the candidates and certificates are granted on the results of these examinations. They are of three kinds:—general teachers' certificates, of ability to teach the subjects that are ordinarily contained in the curricula of schools for general instruction; technical teachers' certificates, certificates of ability to teach in any one of the subjects included in the Government technical examination scheme. and physical training instructors' certificates. Teachers' certificates are of three grades:—collegiate, granted only to persons who have taken the degree of Licentiate in Teaching in the University, secondary and elementary. There are three grades of technical teachers' certificates, namely, advanced, intermediate and elementary. In each grade, certificates are divided into first and second classes. Examinations for secondary and elementary certificates are held at different centres by the Commissioner for Government Examinations. The examination for the teachers' certificates comprises a written test in pedagogy for the secondary grade and in some subjects of general education also for the elementary grade. Successful candidates are called probationary certificated teachers. After not less than 18 months of satisfactory teaching work in a recognized school probationers are, if suitable, confirmed after a further test. No candidate is admitted to the test for a technical teachers' certificate unless he has passed the advanced or intermediate or elementary technical examination, as the case may be in the subject in which he desires to be tested or an equivalent examination. The nature of the examination varies with the subject, but must include a practical test in teaching a class in the subject.

Training institutions are divided into three classes, training colleges and secondary and elementary training schools, according to the grade of teachers' certificate for which the pupils are trained. In addition to the colleges at Saidapet and Rajahmundry, Government maintain at present 20 training schools for masters, 15 training schools for mistresses, and 2 for physical training instructors. Government also maintain in full the L. T. class attached to the St. Joseph's College, Trichinopoly, and aided secondary training classes attached to the Pithapur Raja's College, Cocanada, C. M. S. Noble College, Masulipatam, S. P. G. High School, Nandyal, and Thirthapati High School, Ambasamudram. Local boards from time to time run sessional schools for sessions of a few months; teachers specially appointed for this work move from place to place, their object being to improve the general education of local teachers who have not secured the secondary school-leaving certificate and not to give instruction in the theory and art of teaching. Students from the Madras Presidency are admitted to the Government training institutions free; but outsiders are called upon to pay fees. A course usually occupies two years, but for the L. T. degree it occupies only one year. Stipends are granted by Government to the great majority of the students. Local boards also may grant stipends.

Schools are classified, according to the aims and character of the instruction given in them, into secondary and elementary. Secondary schools prepare their pupils for the University and for professional, commercial and industrial careers. Elementary schools aim more at providing a foundation of general and useful knowledge than at preparing children specially for a course of secondary education; but the education in the three lowest standards is such as to constitute a common foundation for both elementary and secondary education. A much higher standard of staff, buildings and equipment is expected of secondary than of elementary schools and the fees are correspondingly higher.

This simplification of classification and the change in the relations between the secondary and elementary schools have made public examinations marking the transition from one grade of education to another unnecessary and the old primary and lower and upper secondary examinations have been abolished. The University matriculation examination is still held, but the schools have universally taken up the secondary school-leaving certificate scheme, and the number of candidates for matriculation from this Presidency has become negligible.

The need for leaving certificates as evidence of a course of education having been satisfactorily accomplished was, however, recognized. These certificates are of two grades: elementary and secondary. The first are granted on the result of an examination in the ordinary school subjects held in the elementary schools itself by an officer not lower in rank than a sub-assistant inspector. The second are granted by a board of which the Director is the president in accordance with the following scheme. The list of subjects includes all those now studied in schools and any others which seem useful.

With a view to enabling pupils of promise to prosecute their studies, the Government award certain scholarships annually. Particulars regarding them are published annually in the Fort St. George Gazette.

Special scholarships, tenable for one year, are awarded to deserving Mappilla pupils in the Ernad and Wallavanad taluks in Malabar with a view to subduing, by the spread of education, the ignorant fanaticism of the masses of this community. General scholarships are awarded annually to pupils reading in the higher standards of elementary schools Special scholarships are given to encourage the education of the children of aboriginal, backward and criminal tribes and classes such as the Koyas, Savaras, Valayas and Koravars; Muhammadans and Adi-Dravidas and Adi-Andhras in secondary schools also have their allotted scholarships. Industrial Schools are under the control of the Director of Industries. There are 41 aided institutions providing instruction to persons of both sexes in various industrials subjects. These institutions are scattered throughout the Presidency and are under the immediate charge of a special inspector. In addition to the aided institutions, there are four Government institutions, three of which are situated in Madras and the fourth at Madura. The Madras Trades School aims at supplying the industrial public with intelligent and skilled mechanics, electricians and plumbers equipped with a sound theoretical and practical training. Admission to the school is restricted to bona fide apprentices and workmen who are actually engaged in the trade which they wish to study.

Technical examinations are held annually under the control of the Commissioner or Government Examinations in 88 subjects under the following heads :—civil engineering, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, physical science, geology, biology, sanitary science, pharmacy, veterinary science, commerce, vernacular shorthand, drawing, jeweller's work, printing, book-binding, trype founding, leather work, textile fabrics, glass and pottery, tailoring and dress-making and cookery.

With a view to providing facilities to men of suitable age and skill possessing exceptional initiative in any branch of industry and who seem likely to add considerably to their usefulness by a special training in Europe, eight State Technical Scholarships of the value of £ 200 plus 25 per cent. bonus have been instituted. These scholarships are awarded for not less than two or more than five years. The nominations are made by a board specially constituted for the purpose. Fifteen scholarships of the value of Rs. 60 per mensem tenable at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, have been instituted with a view to providing adequate facilities for the technical training of intending chemists. The scholarships are awarded for study in the departments of applied chemistry, bio-chemistry and electrical technology. Six scholarships per annum of the monthly value of Rs. 60 tenable at the Victoria Institute, Bombay, are awarded to students of this Presidency. The minimum educational qualifications required of the applicants is a completed secondary school-leaving certificate. The scholarships are tenable for a period of four years, and are awarded for the study of applied chemistry, sanitary engineering and plumbing, and textile manufacture. Sixty scholarships tenable for five years are awarded annually by the Director of Industries to pupils learning a trade or profession in recognized industrial schools, or to selected apprentices (boys or girls) serving properly arranged apprenticeships for a specified term of training in workshops or mills where suitable provision is made for class instruction. The aim of these scholarships is to encourage deserving apprentices and pupils to complete their whole apprenticeship or period of training at one institution or workshop, and so to some extent to check the present tendency of apprentices to move from workshop to workshop in search of a few annas increase in wages to the detriment of their training and the annoyance of their employers. These scholarships which are ordinarily awarded to the members of the artisan class or to others whose families are already engaged in the trade, rise in value from Rs. 1-8-0 in the first year to Rs.7-8-0 in the fifth year and a yearly bonus is given for good work.

The Local Government exerts considerable influence over education not only directly by the maintenance of institutions from provincial funds and by the exercise of the extensive powers of control vested in them over local boards and municipal councils by the Acts relating to those bodies, but also indirectly by making grants to managers of institutions under private management on condition of compliance with certain regulations and by allowing local boards and municipal councils to make similar grants towards the cost of maintenance of elementary schools on the recommendation of officers of the Educational Department. If aid is sought on behalf of an institution, the conditions of recognition must be fulfilled unless the institution has been exempted from their operation. The recognition of secondary schools vests in the Director of Public Instruction, while the recognition of elementary schools vests in the District Educational Councils formed under the Madras ElementaryEducation Act. Text-books which are not included in the authorized list of text-books may not be used in aided institutions without the express sanction of the Director. The whole income of an aided school must be devoted to educational purposes.

The systems of distributing grants differ in elementary schools for Indians, secondary schools for Indians, colleges and special schools and European schools. Teaching grants in elementary schools are given on the basis of the number of teachers and vary according to the grade of instruction given and the teachers' qualifications. The grants may be reduced or suspended in cases where there has been falsification of the registers or misrepresentation regarding the employment of teachers or the attendance of pupils, or violation of any of the conditions of recognition and aid or any other irregularity. They may also be increased by 50 per cent. for any improvement in efficiency, more especially for the introduction of any method of teaching calculated to train the children's faculties and powers of expression and observation, proper attention to physical exercise and generally any attempt to fit the children to their position in life and diminished by 20 per cent. for inefficiency. These grants are paid by District Educational Councils out of funds placed at their disposal by Government.

In secondary schools teaching grants are intended to supplement equally the income guaranteed from endowments, subscriptions, donations and other private sources and in practice the sum assigned usually amounts to half the net cost of the school, excluding expenditure on account of which grants can otherwise be given, such as on new building, furniture and apparatus, and assuming that fees are received from all pupils at rates fixed by Government and called the standard rates.

The grants for colleges and special schools are fixed by the Director after taking into consideration all the facts of the case.

Grants for European schools are fixed for three years by the Director on general considerations. Grants are also made towards stipends, to managers of training institutions, to students in technical schools, for the maintenance of European children, for school buildings, for hostels or boarding houses for students, for furniture, books and appliances required for schools, public libraries and reading rooms. In many cases the amount of grants depends on the sums contributed by managers of institutions or private persons. Full details regarding grants will be found in the Grant-in-Aid Code.

The Law College, Madras, is at present the only educational institution in the Presidency itself which affords facilities for the study of law. It was founded in 1891 as it was found that the law classes formerly attached to the Presidency College were unwieldy and the course of instruction was inadequate. The ostensible aim of the college is instruction in the theory of law; practically it is intended to afford instruction to students preparing for the various examinations in law. It is affiliated to the Madras University. The rules regulating its constitution and working are sanctioned by the Local Government. The staff has been reorganised with effect from the beginning of 1925. The general management of the college is vested in a council, subject to the general control of the Director of Public Instruction; the council consists of two or more Judges of the High Court, the Principal, the Advocate-General, two professors and such other members as may be appointed by Government; the executive management of the college is vested in the principal who is independent of the council in all matters of discipline. The college contains four kinds of classes; (1) M.L. classes; (2) B.L. classes; (3) Pleadership classes; and (4 Special classes for students attending the college but not preparing for the University or Pleadership Examinations. Fees are levied at half rates from Muhammadans and Oriyas. There are two terms a year. Lending and consulting libraries are attached to the college.

The Medical School established by Government in 1835 became a College in 1851. The control of the college was transferred in 1855 from the Medical Board to the Director of Public Instruction and in 1911 from him to the Surgeon-General; in 1857 the college was affiliated to the University of Madras. The Government of the college is, subject to the general control of the Surgeon-General, now vested in the principal, who is aided by a consultative council composed of all the professors and of any other members who may be appointed by Government. The staff consists of a principal, twelve professors, two lecturers, twenty-three assistant professors and a physical training instructor. The college contains four departments, (i) the College department, in which students are prepared for the M.B. & B.S. and the L.M. & S. degrees; (ii) the Assistant Surgeons' department, consisting only of military pupils, selected by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, for qualifying as military Assistant Surgeons, and of female pupils; (iii) the Chemist and Druggist department; and (iv) the Sanitary Inspector's department. Attendance at the lectures given in the Medical College is recognized in Great Britain as partial qualification for degrees and diplomas granted in that country. Numerous scholarships, medals and prizes are awarded to students of the college. Museums, a library and a gymnasium are attached to the College. Students have also the advantage of attending classes held in the General Hospital, the Ophthalmic Hospital, the Maternity Hospital and the Mental Hospital.

In the year 1876 a School of Agriculture was established at Saidapet. Prior to this date instruction of an elementary character had been given to a few apprentices. In 1878 the name of the institution was changed into that of "Agricultural College." The principal of the college was then also the Superintendent of the Government Farm at Saidapet. The educational side of his work was controlled by the Director of Public Instruction, while his practical administration was under the control of the Board of Revenue. In 1885 the farm was abolished and the college came under the sole control of the Educational Department. The growth of agricultural science and research led to the moving of the college to its present site at Coimbatore in 1906; the first batch of students entered the college in June 1908 and diplomas were first awarded in March 1911. Attached to the college are a hostel for students and quarters for the staff. The general farm and college estate occupy about 500 acres, of which about 340 acres are under cultivation. In addition to ordinary farm buildings there are a dairy, workshops and a veterinary hospital, and three plant-breeding stations for cotton, paddy and sugarcane. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is vested in the principal, subject to the control of the Director of Agriculture. There are a number of scientific sections of an instructional of scientific nature in the college, each in charge of a member of the Indian Agricultural. Service under the direct control of the Director of Agriculture. The instruction given at the college is designed to be a practical and scientific training for those who intend to make agriculture their profession The college was affiliated to Madras University early in 1922 when the University degree of B. Sc. Ag., was instituted. The courses of instruction provided are (1) a two years' course of a practical nature in which scientific instruction as such plays no part; a certificate of proficiency is awarded to competent students; and (2) a three-years' course leading up to the degree of B. Sc Ag. in which a thorough training in the practice and theory of scientific agriculture is given. Students are required to have passed completely the intermediate examination in arts of the Madras University and should be qualified in Group I or II. Free tuition and lodging are given to students of the Presidency and of Coorg. A certain number of Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 25 per mensem are offered to students entering the degree course and there is one private scholarship of Rs. 110 per annum for which students from Malabar are eligible. Successful students have the prospect of employment as managers or agents to zamindars, planters and estate owners or in the Government Agricultural Department.

In 1903 the Veterinary College at Vepery, Madras, was instituted, in connection with the Society for Preventing Cruelty to Animals infirmary, to meet the pressing demand for subordinates trained in veterinary duties. The college affords theoretical and practical instruction with the object of training men for service under Government, municipalities, local boards or private employees. The present staff of the college consists of a principal, two other Imperial officers, an assistant principal, three lecturers and two assistant lecturers. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is invested in the principal who is under the direct control of Government in the Development Department. A veterinary hospital, a bacteriological laboratory, a shoeing forge and a hostel are attached to the college. The age limits for admisson to the college are from 18 to 22 years. Except in the case of Europeans and Anglo-Indians, educational qualifications of a school final examination standard are demanded. All students are on probation for the first two months of the three years course. During the first year students are given practical instruction in nursing, dressing, handling, casting and securing animals as well as in the names of the instruments and appliances used in ordinary practice. In the second year they attend hospital practice and receive clinical instruction. They also attend at the forge and pharmacy, carry out dissections and perform operations on dead subjects. During the third year they perform the duties of clinical clerks and dressers, perform operations on dead subjects and afterwards on living animals, conduct post mortem examinations and carry out practically all the duties appertaining to their profession. The tuition is free to all students who execute an agreement binding themselves to serve Government for five years, if required, after completing their course in the college satisfactorily. All others are required to pay tuition fees in advance at the rate of Rs. 400 per annum. Forty students are admitted to the college each year and all are awarded scholarships; five of the forty scholarships are reserved for Muhammadans. Students who are in the enjoyment of Government scholarships are required to refund the amount they have received as stipends and to pay tuition fees if they leave the college without sanction or are expelled for misconduct. A diploma of graduation in veterinary science is awarded to students who pass the final examination on the completion of their course. Graduates of the college are eligible for appointment to posts in the Provincial and subordinate services in this Presidency, but Government are under no obligation to find employment for them.

The Engineering College at Guindy, Madras, established in the year 1794 as a Survey School developed into a Civil Engineering College in 1857. It received official recognition in 1886 and was affiliated to the Madras University in 1877. It affords theoretical and practical instruction in the professional duties of engineers and subordinate engineers. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is vested in the principal, under the control of the Director of Public Instruction. The full staff consists of a principal, six professors, a number of instructors and assistants who are recruited from the cadre of the Department of Public Works, a workshop instructor and an instructor in physical training. The college contains two classes : a five years Engineer class for training civil and mechanical engineers and a four years' course subordinate class for training subordinates for the Public Works Department, Revenue Department, Local Boards and Municipalities. Casual students are also admitted to the Engineer class. Students in the higher course of engineering are prepared for the B E. degree examination of the Madras University. Government awards scholarships tenable in the college and there are also certain endowed scholarships. Some of the students of the engineering class who proceed to the Perambur work-shops of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, the central power station of the Madras Electric Supply Corporation, the Madras harbour works, or the Madras water-supply and drainage works, receive a refund of half the premium charged, if their subsequent work gives satisfaction. Four stipends are awarded annually to persons to be trained as teachers in technical or industrial schools. On his successful completion of a course in either of the two classes a student is granted a diploma, and this diploma gives him a prior claim to certain appointments in the Public Works Department and under local boards.

The Teachers College was established as the Government Normal School in 1856, was converted into a college and affiliated to the University in 1886. The staff consists of a principal, a vice-principal, five lecturers and instructors for manual training, drawing and physical training and a number of assistants. The college is intended primarily for the training of graduate teachers from the Presidency, but if accommodation is available students from Native States are admitted. A secondary training class is attached to the college. The students, who receive stipends from Government ranging from Rs. 12 to Rs. 20 per mensem, according to their qualifications, are trained for the L T. degree examination of the Madras University. Instruction is also given to the students in physical training, drawing and manual training and they may appear for public examinations in these subjects. A model school of the secondary standard is attached to the college and has an independent staff of teachers. There is also a kindergarten department presided over by a Europan lady. The college has a large library and all educational museum. Connected with the college are a teachers' association, of which all the students are members a reading room and a recreation club and a hostel. The college accommodation is extensive and it is provided with a well equipped laboratory for physical and natural science.

The Training College, Rajahmundry, which was abolished in 1911, was re-opened in 1917 with a view to providing for the training of graduate teachers in Telugu districts. The staff consists of a principal, a junior professor of education, three lecturers and instructors in drawing and physical and manual training. The college prepares students for the L. T degree examination but has not been affiliated to the University. Attached to the college are a model school of the secondary standard with an independent staff of teachers and a secondary training section.

In the year 1856 Sir Henry Lawrence, K.C B., offered a donation of Rs. 5,000 and a subscription of Rs. 1,000 a year, so long as he might be in India, for the establishment at some hill station in this Presidency of an institution on the lines of the Lawrence Asylums of Sonawar and at Mount Abu, for the benefit of children of soldiers of the British army who were serving or had served in Madras. The Lawrence Asylum was accordingly established in 1858 at Ootacamund with the aid of the foundation money and of subscriptions raised in the army and in England. It was amalgamated with the Madras Military Male Orphan Asylum in 1871 on the completion of new buildings at Lovedale near Ootacamund. Though the Asylum does not belong to Government, it is largely controlled by Government who have sanctioned a code of rules relating to its management and constitution and furnish it with two fixed annual grants-in-aid amounting to Rs. 54,000. The institution consists of brahches for boys and for girls, the maximum strength of the branches being 300 and 165. It is intended for European and Eurasian children, especially the orphan children of military officers and soldiers. The management of the Asylum is vested in a committee, of which the General Officer Commanding Madras district is ex-officio chairman and the principal is ordinarily the secretary. The staff consists of a principal, a headmaster in the branch for boys, a headmistress in the branch for girls and several assistant teachers in each branch. Instruction in literary subjects is given to boys as far as the standard of the European schools high school examination, but only such pupils as would clearly benefit by a high school education are allowed to go beyond the middle school. Instruction is also given in technical subjects such as shorthand, typewriting and telegraphy, and special classes are held for pupils preparing for the medical and railway examinations. Religious instruction of a non-sectarian character is given, but visits from clergymen of the various denominations are permitted. Scholarships are awarded to pupils of promise to enable them to complete a course in an arts or a technical college or for industrial training in some well-known firm or institution. Stipends are also given to girls to enable them to be trained as teachers.

No person can be appointed in this Presidency to a Government post carrying a salary of Rs. 35 per mensem in the mofussil or Rs. 40 per mensem in Madras City or more, unless he has passed with success through the secondary stage of education. Government accept as evidence of this standard a pass in the matriculation examination of any Indian University, in a school final examination, in the European schools high school examination, or in certain examinations held in Great Britain, or a Madras secondary school leaving certificate showing knowledge in English, elementary mathematics and vernacular composition and translation and in at least one of the other subjects selected by the candidate. Persons in the public service have to pass certain special tests before they can hold some of the higher appointments; these tests include translation, accounts, civil judicial, criminal judicial, revenue and jail tests.

For the conduct of examinations held by Government, the office of Commissioner for the uncovenanted Civil Service examinations, or, as the office is now called, Commissioner for Government Examinations was instituted in 1860. It was entrusted at first to the Director of Public Instruction subsequently to a member of the Board of Revenue, and finally in 1880 to the Director of Public Instruction. Examiners are appointed by the Commissioner and are paid out of the fees realized from the candidates. Most of the examinations prescribed for entry into or promotion in the various departments of the public service are conducted by the Commissioner. The examinations are held at a large number of centres in the Presidency, and in some cases in the Native States.

The junior officers of the various Government departments are required to pass tests in such subjects as languages, law, and departmental rules, and high proficiency in the vernacularsis encouraged by the granting of rewards after examination. To conduct these examinations, the Board of Examiners has been constituted and the president selects examiners from the board. The present board consists of a president who is usually a member of the Board of Revenue, certain ex-officio members, and a varying number of special members appointed by Government from time to time. The Accountant-General, Inspector-General of Police, certain Conservators of Forests, the Chief Presidency Magistrate, the Professor of Medical Jurisprudence in the Medical College, the Registrar of the High Court and the Translators to Government are ex-officio members of the board. The Officers who are examined by the board include members of the Indian Civil Service, Police Officers Forest Officers, Cantonment Magistrates, Officers of the Provincial Service, Officers of the Agricultural, Veterinary and Fishery Departments, European and Anglo-Indian Officers of the Educational Department, and European and Anglo-Indian Officers of other Civil departments in the Presidency. Military officers including commissioned Medical Officers who are District Medical and Sanitary Officers are examined only in the vernacular languages. Ladies related to European Officers in the employment of Government, the railways, the Imperial Bank of India and certain firms are eligible for examination in the vernacular languages and for the rewards granted for proficiency. The examinations are usually held twice a year (in January and July, at Madras but may, in some cases, be held simultaneously at others centres. The tests for officers of the Salt Abkari and Customs Departments are also conducted by this board through examiners appointed from the department.

The pleadership examination was instituted in 1879 for the purpose of ascertaining the qualifications of persons desirous of becoming pleaders in courts subordinate to High Court, with reference to the rules framed by the High Court under section 6 of the Legal Practitioners' Act XVII of 1879. The board consists of a Judge of the High Court, the Advocate-General, the Government Pleader, the Principal of the Law College, a Barrister and a High Court Vakil, with the Deputy Registrar of the High Court, Appellate Side, as member and secretary. The examination is held once a year at Madras. The High Court from time to time prescribes the subjects of examination and determines the general qualifications and standard of proficiency for the first-grade certificate. Examiners are appointed by Government to conduct each examination on the recommendation of the examination board.

AGRICULTURE

During the year land was acquired for a millet breeding station and the lay-out of the farm and the construction of some of the necessary buildings were completed. A representative collection of specimens of the various crops together with models of the agricultural implements were sent to the British Empire Exhibition. Bales of cotton were also supplied to the Indian Cotton Committee for this purpose. The certificate course at the Agricultural College, Coimbatore not being popular it was replaced by a special intermediate course with agriculture as the main subject.

The sugarcane breeding stations at Coimbatore did excellent work. A new cotton farm was established at Nandyal. Research work with coconuts was continued on the lines of past years. A new line of research was definitely undertaken i.e., the self-pollination of a few trees specially selected as being of a desirable type and heavy yielders. A book on "Coconuts" by H. C. Sampson was published.

*Taken from the Departmental Administration Reports.

The Pomological station opened at Coonoor in 1920 has now been fully planted with various kinds of fruits. Strawberries were successfully grown as an intercrop with fruit trees. During the year there was a large demand for small fruits for jam making and for plants; apples and plums did particularly well but the only variety of raspberry, which has proved successful is that known as the Bangalore raspberry, a cultivated variety of the species indigenous to the Nilgiris- Rubus lasiocarpus. At Kallar the Sapodilla (Aschras sapota), a fruit new to the district was successfully grown. A large number of plants were identified by the Government Lecturing and Systematic Botanist and Part V of Gamble's "Madras Flora" was published.

The entire work relating to agricultural statistics and the statistics of retail prices of the principal food-grains and salt was transferred from the Board of Revenue to the Agricultural Department on 1st June, 1922. Various improvements were made in these returns with a view to making them more concise and intelligible With the exception of season and crop reports and the fortnightly returns of retail prices all important reports and returns were published in the Fort St. George Gazette. Summaries were also supplied for publication in the Press.

Expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 14,47,949 as compared with Rs. 14,82,243 last year: receipts rose from Rs. 3,22,815 to Rs. 3,54 655. The increase in receipts was mainly due to the higher price which the cotton lint and seeds sold by the department fetched over the ruling price.

FORESTS.

During the past few years the policy of the Forest Department was one of "marking time." This was partly due to the necessity for economy and partly because a forward policy in the development and exploitation of the valuable timber forests could not be initiated until the arrival of the recently appointed Chief Forest Engineer. The year 1923-24 was marked by the initiation of new methods of exploitation introduced by the new Chief Forest Engineer. Another important step was the appointment of a new Forest Utilisation Officer to deal exclusively with the Commercial side of the Forest Department. A number of exhibits were sent to England for the British Empire Exhibition. In furtherance of the policy of enlisting public opinion in support of measures of local forest conservancy two committees were appointed for the districts of Kurnool and Chittoor consisting of the local Forest Officers, the Members of Legislative Council and other influential gentlemen The system of placing Class V forests under the management of panchayats has been further extended by the agency of a special staff created for this purpose. In sylviculture special attention was paid to a policy of clear felling succeeded by the creation of plantations of seedlings in valuable deciduous forests where complete regeneration could not be secured by merely aiding Nature's processes. Experimental work was carried out by a Forest Research Officer and useful information, chiefly on the evergreen species was obtained. With regard to the Chentsus, the policy laid down be Government was that efforts to reform the younger generation by means of education should be continued, that regular and suitable employment should be provided, that due respect for law and order should be maintained in order to control the criminal propensities of the Chentsus and to afford adequate protection to the servants of Government employed among them Measures calculated to give effect to this policy were initiated It was further decided that all expenditure in connection with the Chentsus should be met from the Forest budget. It is interesting to note that the construction of a well in one Chentsu hamlet has freed the inhabitants from the attacks of the guinea worm. The area of reserved forests amounted to nearly 20,000 square miles.

There was a decrease in the number of forest offences of all kinds. Of the 30,205 cases disposed of during the year, 9,023 cases were taken to court, 19,719 cases were compounded and 1 463 cases were withdrawn. Of the cases disposed of by magistrates, the percentage of acquittal was nearly 28. Cases compounded after they were taken on a magistrate's file were shown as acquittals The increase in the number of offences was greatest under the head of unauthorized felling. The amount of compounding fees realized during the year was Rs. 2,81,310. The system of early-burning, was considerably extended. The results are reported to be satisfactory. A distinct advance was made during the year in sylvicultural work by the extension of systematic operations for the establishment of young crops of valuable species. Experience has shown that in valuable deciduous forests natural regeneration, however much it is assisted, is not to be relied upon to produce a sufficiency of young stock to take the place of the mature timber removed in the course of selection fellings. Clear-felling followed by sowing or planting, and the efficient tending of the young crop so obtained, is the system now adopted in the teak forests of Mount Stuart (South Coimbatore), Wynaad and Mudumalai (Nilgiris).

The output of timber during the year under review was 99,520 tons of 50 cubic feet. 26,260 tons were extracted by departmental agency and 65,540 tons by purchasers, Messrs. Parry & Co. were the managing agents of the Russellkonda Saw Mill. There is a steady demand for the timber which buyers describe as the best sawn sal on the markets to which it has penetrated. The outturn of this mill was however low and attention is being paid to remedying this by the more careful selection of the timber to be supplied to it. 15,951 cubic feet of teak, rosewood, laurel and other woods were sent to Messrs. Howard Brothers & Co., London. From various forests 23,567 tons of fuel were removed departmentally and 319,267 tons by purchasers. Prices of fuel in the large towns showed a tendency to decrease. The total value of bamboos removed from the forests by all agencies during the year was Rs. 4·03 lakhs. It is anticipated that, owing to the almost universal flowering of the big bamboo (Bambusa arundinacea), the revenue from this source will decrease materially in future. This bamboo appears to require some 12 to 15 years to grow into mature clumps. 710 tons of sandalwood were sold for Rs. 7,86,118. The average price realized was Rs. 1,108 per ton. About 21 per cent. of the total area of forests in the Presidency were closed to grazing, either for the whole year (16·4 per cent.) or for a part of the year (4·3 per cent) The areas closed were approximately the same as in the previous year. For grazing in the open area of 16,108 square miles permits were issued for 2,087,062 animals while 93,299 animals were allowed free grazing, the incidence being one cow unit to 4·08 acres as compared with 5·75 acres in the previous year. This increase is due to an increase of 327,894 in the number of animals licensed to graze. This latter increase was due in part to the revision of grazing schemes.

The number of elephants in charge of the department at the beginning of the year was 118 valued at Rs. 3,57,550, including four baggage elephants working in Upper Godavari and Kurnool West Divisions. Nineteen elephants were captured, 10 were born in captivity, 15 died, 23 were sold and the stud at the end of the year numbered 104 valued at Rs. 3,42,350. The stock of buffaloes and bullocks at the beginning of the year numbered 224, with a book value of Rs. 19,214.

A special panchayat staff was at work in 11 districts in the Presidency. Out of 966 square miles of class V forests in these districts, 858 square miles (60 per cent. of the total) were placed under panchayat management. Thirty-eight new panchayat for the management of 68 square miles of class V forests were formed during the year by the special panchayat staff. A liberal policy was adopted in fixing the assessments and the people in general showed themselves to be anxious to undertake the management of class V forests. Some considerable financial saving was effected by the substitution of panchayat for departmental management. There were several instances of the purchase of coupes by co-operative societies. One society, whose members were Adi-Dravidas, constructed a cart-track into the felling area. The panchayat management of the class II forests in the Tiruvannamalai range under the forest village system continued to work very satisfactorily. One Forest Officer, indeed, on visiting a village, where, before the introduction of this system, he had been invariably met with grievances and complaints, was received with tom-toms, music, and eulogies of the Forest Department. The spread of the panchayat system rendered possible the abolition of two ranges, one in Bellary and the other in Cuddapah.

Twenty-six students passed out of the college in 1924, of whom seven were from Madras. Six students were granted Honours certificates, fifteen obtained Higher standard certificates and five Lower standard certificates. There were no failures.

The total gross revenue during the year amounted to Rs. 54·87 lakhs against Rs. 52·73 lakhs in the previous year. The expenditure debited to the Forest Department was Rs. 46·30 lakhs as against Rs. 47·89 lakhs in the previous year. The result was a surplus of Rs. 8·57 lakhs as compared with Rs. 4·84 lakhs in the previous year. The Forest College worked at a loss of Rs. ·60 lakhs. General direction cost Rs. 1·18 lakhs and the special panchayat staff, Rs. ·30 lakh.

FACTORIES.

The Department of Factories continued to be under the control of the Commissioner of Labour There were 1,023 factories on the list of registered factories at the end of the year, the number at the end of the previous year being 769. This increase in registration is largely due to the extensive provisions of the amended Factories Act. Of the 1,023 factories, 670 are perennial and 353 are seasonal factories, 33 perennial and 280 seasonal factories are connected with the cotton industry. The average number of operatives employed in factories was 115,158. The actual number is probably much higher as mill owners in the majority of cases omit to include contract coolies. The increase was due to the increase in the number of registered factories. Of the 115,518 operatives, 6,129 were employed in Government and Local Fund factories. The total numbers of women, boys and girls employed in 1923 were 23,101, 4,485 and 2,322 respectively. The decrease in child labour is attributed to the enforcement of restrictions on such labour. Under the amending Act the minimum and maximum ages for children have been raised from 9 and 14 to 12 and 15 years, respectively. The health of the operatives was generally good The sanitation of factories was generally satisfactory, but prosecutions were instituted in six cases. Wages fluctuated slightly in different districts and trades. There were 12 strikes during the year none of which were of an abnormal nature. Their duration lasted from 15 minutes to 15 days 3,044 operatives out of 8,139 in the factories affected actually going on strike. In nine cases the strike collapsed, in two strikers' demands were granted, and in another some of the workers returned unconditionally, while some left the factory. There were 13 fires during the year causing damage estimated at Rs. 2,05,004, but there was no loss of life or injury to any person. The number of accidents that occurred during the year was 938 as against 881 in 1922, the average per 100 rising from 80 to 81. There was a substantial decrease in the number of fatal accidents, but an increase in the number of serious accidents. Of the 8 fatal and 41 serious accidents, 6 and 14 respectively, were caused by mechanically driven machinery. The occupiers and managers of 80 factories, 84 persons in all, were prosecuted for evasions of the provisions of the Act. Thirty persons were convicted and sentenced to fines ranging from Rs. 2 to Rs. 800. The importance of welfare work was realized by many firms. Two firms introduced a provident fund. An ellected welfare committee was organised in the Cordite Factory, Aruvankadu. Tiffin rooms were provided in five and washing places in nine factories in Madras City, while five of the ten factories and the Government Fisheries Experimental Station provided schools for the education of their employees' children.

INDUSTRIES.

The most important event of the previous year in connection with industrial policy in the Presidency was the passing of the State Aid to Industries Act. Provision of Rs. 8 lakhs for grant of loans under this Act was made in the Budget for 1923-24.

The Statutory Board of Industries was constituted in February 1924 under the Madras State Aid to Industries Act, 1922, and held its first meeting in March 1924. Seven applications for assistance were considered and appropriate recommendations were made to Government. The committee appointed by Government to conduct an examination into the steps which are desirable to further the development of the leather industry submitted its report in November 1923. A committee was also appointed to obtain the necessary material for introducing a revised Apprenticeship Bill. The Department of Industries took part in a number of Industrial and agricultural exhibitions held in various parts of the Presidency. It was also adequately represented in the Madras Court of the Indian Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition. Continuous aid to the public and to other Government departments was rendered by the Bureau of Industrial and Commercial Information and a number of inquiries in regard to overseas trade from the Director General of Commercial Intelligence, Calcutta, and the general public were answered. A number of analyses were again carried out for private parties. Among other samples was a sample of exceptionally good asbestos and the owner of the sample was advised to exploit the deposit and was put in touch with firms interested in the asbestos trade. Financial reasons hindered the establishment of a cement industry at Bezwada which the department was endeavouring to establish and no good results were the boring for coal in the Kistna and Godavari districts. The development of granite quarries of Sholingur was hindered by the cost of obtaining railway facilities. An attempt to develop the local market for "Palampores" was unsuccessful, but a trial consignment was ordered by a British firm and a quantity was sent to the British Empire Exhibition. The question of producing cheaper prints for the local market was also investigated. A comprehensive exhibit of lace was also sent to the British Empire Exhibition. The possibilities of developing the copra, coconut oil and coir industries on the east coast of the Presidency were under investigation during the year. Sir Frederick Nicholson who, as stated in the administration report for 1922-23, was studying the toy industry in England has himself undertaken the establishment of an experimental toy factory at Coonoor. An inquiry into the commercial possibilities of sugar manufacture from coconut jaggery led to an adverse conclusion. The Industrial Chemist visited Madras, Salem, Vellore and Coimbatore during the year. The main inquiry on which he was engaged was that connected with the retting of coconut husk and this was practically completed. Experiments in malting cholam on a large scale were conducted in co-operation with the Department of Agriculture. The investigation upon prickly pear was completed but the value placed upon the paper-making material obtained from "lantana" was lower than the probable cost of manufacture. Some experiments were also made in the preservation of rubber latex, but no new process was discovered. Numerous inquiries relating to dyes and other agents or processes were answered and proposals for reorganizing the Dye House at the Central Jail, Vellore were submitted. The new factory buildings for the Kerala Soap Institute were completed during the year, but operations were practically suspended for five months, while the machinery and plant were being erected. In spite of this, production expanded from 204 to 248 tons. The sales of soap amounted to 191 tons 10 cwt. valued at Rs. 1,33,554, a considerable decline as compared with the previous year. The reduction in turn-over was due partly to adverse trade conditions, but mainly to the severe competition of cheap and colourable imitations of its products. A new sales system was introduced and some large contracts were acquired towards the end of the year. The profit and loss statement showed a net loss of Rs. 9,939-8-5 on the year's working as against a loss of Rs 23,320-12-5 incurred in 1922-23 The Government Industrial Institute, Madras, which is now exclusively devoted to the manufacture of ink, showed a profit of Rs. 2,796-7-6 for the year's working. It was fully employed in complying with orders received from large and small consumers. The result of the year's working of the Fruit Preserving Institute was a loss of Rs. 23158-8-5, and the future policy in regard to the factory is under the consideration of Government. The Government Glue Factory was closed for five months during the year and was worked at a total loss of Rs. 17,566 2-4. The loss was attributable to the difficulty experienced in finding a large enough market for its products. The Sugarcane Crushing Factory at Pallapalaiyam worked at a profit and sufficiently demonstrated the success and economy of power-crushing. The organization of the ten peripatetic weaving parties was the same as last year, nine teaching methods and one being engaged in the construction of apparatus. The demand for new appliances was generally found to be greater in villages previously visited by weaving parties where weavers had been fully convinced of the advantages of their introduction than in villages visited for the first time. Sericultural operations were reorganized during the year. The demonstration silkworm rearing farm at Kamakarai near Singanallar was closed and in its place a peripatetic rearing party was established; to the hill farm at Coonoor was assigned the functions of a central distribution station for eggs, seeds, cuttings and seedlings and of a research institute for the silk industry of the Presidency; and for the development of the industry outside the Kollegal taluk of Coimbatore district, which is the only place in which sericulture is an established industry, the Silk Superintendent was deputed to various selected localities to assist private persons in establishing mulberry plantations. The number of loans granted for the purpose of installing pumping machinery was 11 as against 9 in the previous-years and the total amount sanctioned for this purpose was Rs. 78,000. Fifty-one installations of pumping or industrial machinery were undertaken by the department and 383 plants were maintained by them at the owners' cost as against 39 and 286, respectively, in the previous year. The demand for power drills was very great, but it was found possible to cope with only a few of these applications with the machinery available. The total depth bored was 24,187 feet as against 20,640 feet in the previous year, the average depth of a boring being 89 feet. Owing to severe drought in many parts of the Presidency the demand for pumping sets was also very great, not only for agricultural purposes but in connexion with municipal water-supplies. The survey of under-ground water-supplies was continued, about 275 miles of levels were taken and 185 borings were connected with mean sea level. The total receipts of the engineering section of the department amounted to Rs. 90,442-5-8 as against Rs. 52,077-10-10 for the previous year, while the charges decreased from Rs. 2,44,296-6-8 to Rs. 2,13,526-2-0.

A State technical scholarship was awarded for the study of textile chemistry, and arrangements were made for the holder to study for the degree of M. Sc. and to obtain a thorough training in bleaching and dyeing at the Manchester College of Technology. Three further scholarships which became vacant were awarded for the study of the practice and chemistry of leather manufacture, the manufacture of standard food products, and electro-metallurgy, respectively. Two former scholarship holders obtained suitable appointments on their return to India. At the end of the year there were eleven scholarship-holders from this Presidency at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore; and four scholarships tenable at the Victoria Jubilee Technical Institute, Bombay, were awarded. Sixty new scholarships tenable at industrial schools were also granted. The Madura Industrial Institute and the Madras Trades School maintained their efficiency. The Branch of the Trades School attached to the Railway Workshops at Perambur had 127 Students on its rolls. The six students who completed the senior apprenticeship course all obtained suitable employment in the Railway Workshops. A certain number of workmen were also trained in the workshops of the Engineering Department. The Leather Trades Institute continued both educational and research work. The number of industrial schools recognised by the Department of Industries was 46, of which all except two were aided by grants from public funds to the extent of Rs. 67,450—12—0. The number of pupils under training was 2,198 as against 1,928 in the previous year. The finances of many of these institutions continued to suffer from a decrease in the amount of contributions from abroad. The average number of students on the rolls of the School of Arts and Crafts rose from 259 to 337 and the average attendance from 191 to 240. There were 20 twenty women students on the rolls. The percentage of successes obtained in the various Government Technical Examinations rose from 58 per cent to 68 per cent. Though no funds were provided for this purpose, a small collection of school work was sent to the British Empire Exhibition. Seven pupils who left the school during the year obtained suitable work.

The net cost of the Department of Industries further declined by Rs. 57,245-4-1 to Rs. 6,62,899-0-0. The decrease in the net cost was partly due to the reduction of expenditure under the heads of "Direction," "Headquarters Engineering Branch" and "Government Industrial Institute, Madura" and partly to an increase in receipts from the Weaving Branch, the Pumping and Boring Branch and from certain schools.

FISHERIES.

W. James Hornell, F.L.S., F.R.A.I., who had fifteen years distinguished service and who was Director of Fisheries since 1918 retired in August 1923. The Canneries did good work though they worked at a loss. Many important improvements in the method of the manufacture of fish oil, guano and fish meal were effected. Research for the purpose of discovering the means of preventing well-known defects to which cured fish are liable was taken up for the first time. There were only 11 fish curing yards under the management of the Department of Fisheries at the beginning of the year, 2 new yards were opened and 93 yards were brought under its control. The total quantity of fish brought into the first 13 yards was 899,277 maunds, the cured weight being 238,909 pounds. Seventeen thousand tons of fish manure with an estimated selling price of Rs. 6 80,000 were also manufactured. The quantity of oil manufactured was 7250 tons valued at Rs. 14,50,000.

The net profit realised on the pearl and chank fisheries was Rs. 35,368, the profit being derived entirely from chank. The marine Aquarium continued to be very useful, attractive and popular. The number of visitors during the year was nearly ten thousand. The receipts from all sources in the Aquarium were nine thousand rupees. The receipts of the Department of Fisheries fell from Rs. 3·11 lakhs in 1922-23 to Rs. 2·95 lakhs and the expenditure rose from Rs. 3·15 lakhs to Rs. 3·23 lakhs, the net deficit being Rs. 28,500.

MADRAS VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

Consequent on the recommendations of the Retrenchment Committee, two important changes in the organization of the department were made during the year. Prior to November 1st, 1923, the Presidency was divided into two divisions. The first of these comprised the Telugu districts and was in charge of an officer of the Indian Veterinary Service designated Superintendent, whilst the remainder of the Presidency was in direct charge of the Chief Superintendent. Each division was split up into two circles in charge of Deputy Superintendents. The Retrenchment Committee were of opinion that distinction between the work of Superintendents and that of Deputy Superintendents was unnecessary and that the Presidency should be divided into circles, each of which should be in charge of a Deputy Director working directly under the Chief Superintendent. The Committee's recommendation was accepted by Government and, with effect from 1st November, 1923 the first division was abolished and the four circles were reconstituted into five. The fourth circle, comprising as it does seven districts, is still a somewhat unwieldy charge especially as its headquarters cannot conveniently be located elsewhere than at Madras which is situated in a corner of it. In these circumstances, the Government have under consideration the question of a further division of the fourth and fifth circles into three.

The Retrenchment Committee also recommended the abolition of the grade of Veterinary Inspectors as it considered that, although inspection by these officers served a useful purpose in preventing waste of medicines and misuse and loss of instruments, the saving in this direction did not compensate for the increased expenditure necessitated by the appointment of Inspectors and that inspection by a Deputy Superintendent only should be sufficient. This recommendation was also accepted and the change was brought into force in June 1925, a selection grade of Veterinary Assistants comprising ten appointments on Rs. 125—5—175 being created to compensate for the loss of prospects caused by the abolition of the Inspectorate. It is too soon to form an estimate whether the abolition of the Inspectors has resulted in any loss of efficiency and if so to what extent; but there can be little doubt that it necessitates closer and more frequent inspection by the Deputy Superintendents of the work of the Assistants.

Six new veterinary institutions were opened during the year. This represents a satisfactroy advance on the previous year when, owing to the prevailing financial stringency, it was only possible to open two. Since the close of the year a dispensary has been opened at Tuticorin and sanction has been accorded to the opening of dispensaries at Anantapur, Gurzala and Kallakurichi.

The Chief Superintendent reports a fall in the number of in-patients and out-patients at no less than 21 institutions. This is attributed to various causes such as scarcity of fodder, heavy rains, introduction of fees and changes in personnel, none of which appear adequately to account for it Although in June 1923, the introduction of fees was sanctioned in hospitals with an average daily attendance of 25 or more, fees are only charged for certain classes of animals such as camels elephants, horse, dogs and cats. Cattle, buffaloes, calves, sheep and goats which provide by far the greater number of the animals treated continue to be treated free. It may be that the abolition of the inspectorate has been a more effective agency in bringing about the decrease than any of those mentioned. The special attention of the Circle Officers has been directed to improving the efficiency and thereby the popularity of those institutions which show a decline in attendance It is satisfactory to note that, on balance, the number of cases treated showed, an advance the total figures being 85,089 against 80,877 during the previous year. The number of cases supplied with medicine but not brought to the hospitals again fell heavily but the Government agree with the Chief Superintendent that no action is called for in regard to this as the practice of supplying medicine to patients which are not actually brought to the institution is not one to be encouraged.

The Government are glad to note that the mortality from contagious diseases again showed a marked fall, the figures for 1923—24 being 23,134 against 28,178 in the previous year. They have little doubt that the comparative immunity from disease which the Presidency continues to enjoy is attributable in no small measure to the work of the Veterinary Department. Black quarter is now an even more serious cattle disease than rinderpest but fortunately the bacteriological laboratory at Mukteswar has been able to discover an anti-serum which by enabling cattle to be inoculated during an outbreak should considerably reduce the mortality from this disease.

There was a considerable fall both in the number of inoculations carried out and in the number of cases of contagious disease which were treated whilst there was an increase under the other two heads. The Chief Superintendent attributes the fall in the number of inoculations mainly to the introduction of fees for the 'serum alone' method of inoculation against rinderpest but it is obviously more closely connected with the smaller prevalence of epidemic disease It was hoped that the levy of a small fee of As. 8 for inoculation against rinderpest would result in the realization by the ryots of the value of the operation and that this would prove an incentive to them to produce their animals for the subsequent inocu ations necessary to preserve their immunity. But as it now appears that the fees have deterred cattle-owners from taking full advantage of the protection against cattle disease afforded by the inoculations, the Government have decided to abolish fees from April 1925.

The Government expressed the hope in 1923, that by exempting persons bringing animals for treatment at veterinary institutions as a class from payment of tolls, district boards and municipal councils would remove difficulties in the way of such animals being treated at veterinary institutions. The Government are glad to note that this suggestion has been widely adopted and that only a few district boards and municipalities now levy tolls in such cases.

The only important change introduced at the Veterinary College as the result of the recommendations of the Retrenchment Committee was in regard to stipends. The Committee recommended that stipends should be entirely abolished. The Government were unable to accept this recommendation but directed that their number should be reduced to 15 annually The change has not so far materially affected the strength of the College, the strength of which at the end of the year was 84 against 88 at the end of the previous year. The results of the yearly examinations were creditable to the College staff. The Government are glad to note that the retresher course which was held for the second year was considered by the Board of Examiners to have amply justified the institution of this course.

SUMMARY OF THE REVENUE AND FINANCE FOR 1923-24.*

The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 185 lakhs in the Exchange Treasury and in the revenue treasuries other than those managed by branches of the Imperial Bank of India and closed with a balance of Rs. 93 lakhs.

The receipts on account of the Central Revenue exceeded those of the previous year by Rs. 2,04,82,034 The increase occurred chiefly under Income tax (Rs. 27 89 lakhs, Salt (Rs. 61·87 lakhs) and the earnings of State Railways (Rs. 108·08 lakhs). The central expenditure charged to Revenue was more than that in 1922-23 by Rs. 6,72,782, large increases under income-tax and interest on ordinary debt and smaller increases under salt and other heads being partly set off by decreases under the heads of railways, superannuation allowances and pensions and interest on other obligations.

Special attention was paid during the year to the collection of income-tax and nearly 90 per cent. of the year's demand was collected. The arrears left at the close of the year were only Rs. 18 lakhs as against Rs. 85 lakhs in the year previous. The charges during the year included Rs. 10,45,949 paid to the Madras Government for income-tax work done for the two previous years.

Of the total quantity of salt manufactured during the year, nearly 3 million maunds were Government salt and 10¼ million maunds were excise salt. The quantity of salt imported by sea mainly from Bombay fell from 1,704,429 to 1,419,853 maunds, while that imported by rail from Bombay and Goa rose from 251,692 maunds to 276,498 maunds. The quantity issued for export by sea to Ceylon was only 20,620 maunds against 518,874 maunds in the previous year. The quantities issued to the French Government and the Travancore Durbar were 63,844 and 418,008 maunds.

The net amount paid to the Central Government by the Provincial Government in 1923-24 was Rs. 3,39 32,016. The opening balance under Loans and Advances on the 1st April, 1923 was Rs. 1,80,51,249. No advances were made during the year.

The provincial accounts opened with a balance of Rs. 8,55,383 on 1st April, 1923 and closed with a balance of Rs. 19,34,501. The receipts on account of provincial revenues exceeded those of the previous year by Rs. 35,82,790. The provincial share of the income-tax receipts was Rs. 10,61,272 in 1923-24 while it was nil in 1922 23.

Under the Devolution Rules, the Provincial Government is required to make every year a provision of Rs. 6 61 lakhs in the Budget Estimate for expenditure upon relief of, and insurance against, famine. The closing balance of the Famine Insurance Fund was Rs. 12,40,067.

24. On the day and at the time appointed under regulation 22 the Returning Officer shall, before he commences to count the votes, read the provisions of section 14 of the Indian Election Offences and Inquiries Act, 1920, to such persons as may be present, and shall then proceed as follows:—

(a) The covers received from or deposited by electors shall be opened one after another and the envelopes and declaration papers taken out therefrom. The Returning Officer shall then examine whether the declaration paper is the one sent out by him and whether the declaration and attestation are prima facie regular. If he is not satisfied that a declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector concerned or if the declaration or attestation is not in order, he shall endorse the word "rejected" on the back of the declaration paper and keep it with the connected envelope in a separate bundle. He shall file the other declaration papers and the envelopes containing the corresponding ballot papers in a separate heap. These envelopes shall then be opened, the papers enclosed therein taken out and counted, and the number thereof recorded by the Returning Officer in a statement.

(b) The Returning Officer shall then mix together all the ballot papers so counted and totalled up and distribute them in convenient bundles to the persons appointed to assist in counting the votes.

(c) When the ballot papers have been so distributed, but not before, the Returning Officer shall allow the candidates and their agents, reasonable opportunity to inspect without handling, the ballot papers, and shall on every ballot paper which is wholly or partially rejected endorse the word "rejected." If any candidate or agent present questions the correctness of the rejection, he shall also record on the ballot paper the grounds for the rejection. No candidate or agent shall be allowed to see the serial number on the back of any ballot paper.

(d) The Returning Officer shall, as far as practicable, proceed continuously with the counting o the votes; and shall, during any necessary intervals during which the counting has to be suspended, place the ballot papers, packets and other documents relating to the election under his own seal and the seals of such candidates, or agents as may desire to affix them and shall cause adequate precautions to be taken for their custody.

25. (1) A ballot paper shall be rejected if—

(a) the number of votes recorded thereon exceeds the number of vacancies to be filled;

(b) no vote is recorded thereon;

(c) it is void for uncertainty;

(d) it bears any mark by which the elector can be identified; and

(e) the Returning Officer is not satisfied that the declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector, or if the declaration or attestation is not in order:

Provided that in a case where more than one vote can be given on the same ballot paper, if one of the marks is so placed as to render it doubtful to which candidate it was intended to apply, the vote concerned but not the whole ballot paper shall be invalid on that account.

(2) Except on the abovementioned grounds a ballot paper shall not be rejected.

(3) The decision of the Returning Officer as to the validity of a ballot paper shall be final, subject only to reversal on an election petition.

26. Upon the completion of the counting, the Returning Officer shall seal up in separate packets—

(1) the counted ballot papers;

(2) the rejected declaration papers and connected envelopes;

(3) the ballot papers rejected at the count;

(4) the file of declaration papers; and

(5) the marked copy of the electoral roll.

He shall also prepare and sign a statement in Form VI and shall record on each packet a description of its contents and the date of the election to which it refers.

27. The Returning Officer shall then prepare and certify a return in Form VII setting forth—

(1) the names of the candidates for whom valid votes have been given;

(2) the number of valid votes given for each candidate;

(3) the name of the candidate elected;

(4) the number of votes declared invalid;

and shall permit any candidate or any representative duly authorised under sub-rule (6) of rule 14 to take a copy or an extract from such return.

Voting for Non-Muhammadan Constituency.

28. No elector of this constituency shall be allowed to vote in any other way than is provided in the regulations in this part.

29. Not less than fifteen clear days before the date fixed for the poll the Returning Officer shall issue through the post a declaration paper and a ballot paper to each elector to the address entered against his name in the electoral roll, unless the elector has, since the publication of the roll, changed his address and intimated the fact in writing to the Returning Officer.

30. The declaration and ballot paper shall be in Form VIII. It shall be printed in such language as the Local Government may by an order direct. The same serial number shall be entered on the face of the declaration paper and on the back of the ballot paper. To each elector shall be issued the declaration paper and the ballot paper whose serial numbers correspond to the number which the elector bears on the electoral roll.

31. Before the ballot paper is issued to an elector, the Returning Officer shall—

(a) have the name of the elector entered on the declaration paper and initial the ballot paper on its back; and

(b) place a mark against the name of the elector concerned in the electoral roll, or the copy of it, used for the purpose of the election.

32. With the ballot paper the Returning Officer shall send a cover addressed to himself in Form IV, an envelope with the number of the ballot paper entered on its face and a letter in Form V. The Returning Officer shall have the number of the ballot paper entered at the left-hand bottom corner of the cover in Form IV.

33. Each elector, upon receipt of his ballot paper, if he desires to vote in the election, shall sign the declaration in the declaration paper and record his vote on the ballot paper.

34. (1) Every elector shall have one transferable vote.

(2) An elector in giving his vote—

(a) must place on his ballot paper the figure 1 opposite the name of the candidate for whom he votes;

(b) may in addition place on his ballot paper the figure 2 or the figures 2 and 3 and so on opposite the names of other candidates in the order of his preference.

35. The elector shall then enclose the ballot paper in the envelope and stick it up, and enclose the envelope and the declaration paper in the cover and send the cover by registered post to the Returning Officer so as to reach him not later than the day and the latest hour fixed for the poll. The covers received after such day and hour shall be rejected :

Provided that, at his option, the elector may deposit the cover in a ballot box which shall be provided at the office of the Returning Officer on the day and during the hours fixed for the poll

36. (1) If an elector is incapacitated from blindness or other physical cause, from voting in the manner prescribed above, it shall be competent for him to record his vote by the hand of any of the officers or other persons mentioned hereunder ; and such officer or other person shall, on the declaration paper, certify the incapacity and attest the fact of his having been requested by the elector to mark the ballot paper for him, and of its having been so marked by him in the presence of the elector.

(2) The following officers or other persons are empowered to attest votes of incapacitated electors under this regulation :—

(i) District and taluk board members and municipal councillors.

(ii) Gentlemen who bear a title conferred or recognized by the Government of India.

(iii) Members of the Legislative Council of the Governor of Madras, of the Legislative Assembly and the Council of State.

(iv) Stipendiary Magistrates other than a village magistrate, Judges of the Court of Small Causes, Madras, and the City Civil Court, Madras, Sub-Judges, District Munsifs and District and Sub-Registrars.

37. An elector who has not received his ballot and other connected papers sent by post or whose papers, before their despatch back to the Returning Officer, have been inadvertently spoilt in such manner that they cannot be conveniently used, or who has lost his papers may, on his transmitting to the Returning Officer a declaration to that effect signed by himself, require the Returning Officer to send him new papers in place of those not received, spoilt or lost, and, if the papers have been spoilt, the spoilt papers shall be returned to the Returning Officer who shall cancel them on receipt. In every case when new papers are issued, a mark shall be placed against the number of the elector's name in the roll to denote that new papers have been issued in place of those not received, spoilt or lost.

38. No election shall be invalidated by reason that an elector has not received his ballot paper provided that a ballot paper has been issued to him in accordance with these regulations.

39. The Returning Officer shall, as soon as may be practicable after the close of the poll, appoint a date which shall be not later than ten days from the date of the poll, and the time and place for the counting of votes and shall give notice in writing thereof to all candidates and election agents.

40. (1) No person shall be allowed to be present at the counting of votes except the Returning Officer and such persons as he may appoint to assist him in counting the votes, and such other persons as have a right to be present under sub-rule (6) of rule 14.

(2) No person shall be appointed to assist in counting the votes, who has been employed by or on behalf of any candidate for any purpose whatsoever connected with the election.

41. On the day and at the time appointed under regulation 39 the Returning Officer shall, before he commences to count the votes, read the provisions of section 14 of the Indian Election Offences and Inquiries Act, 1920, to such persons as may be present, and shall then proceed as follows :—

(a) The covers received from or deposited by electors shall be opened one after another and the envelopes and declaration papers taken out therefrom. The Returning Officer shall then examine whether the declaration paper is the one sent out by him and whether the declaration and attestation are prima facie regular. If he is not satisfied that a declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector concerned or if the declaration or attestation is not in order, he shall endorse the word "rejected" on the back of the declaration paper and keep it with the connected envelope in a separate bundle. He shall file the other declaration papers and the envelopes containing the corresponding ballot papers in a separate heap. These envelopes shall then be opened, the papers enclosed therein taken out and counted, and the number thereof recorded by the Returning Officer in a statement.

(b) The Returning Officer shall then mix together all the ballot papers so counted and totalled up and distribute them in convenient bundles to the persons appointed to assist in counting the votes.

(c) When the ballot papers have been so distributed, but not before, the Returning Officer shall allow the candidates and their agents, reasonable opportunity to inspect, without handling, the ballot papers, and shall on every ballot paper which is wholly or partially rejected endorse the word "rejected." If any candidate or agent present questions the correctness of the rejection, he shall also record on the ballot paper the grounds for the rejection. No candidate or agent shall be allowed to see the serial number on the back of any ballot paper.

(d) The Returning Officer shall, as far as practicable, proceed continuously with the counting of the votes ; and shall, during any necessary intervals during which the counting has to be suspended, place the ballot papers, packets and other documents relating to the election under his own seal and the seals of such candidates, or agents as may desire to affix them, and shall cause adequate precautions to be taken for their custody.

42. (1) A ballot paper shall be rejected if

(a) the figure 1 is not marked thereon;

(b) the figure 1 is set opposite the name of more than one candidate;

(c) the figure 1 and some other figure is set opposite the name of the same candidate;

(d) the paper is void for uncertainty;

(e) it bears any mark by which the elector can be identified;

(f) the Returning Officer is not satisfied that the declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector or when the declaration or attestation is not in order.

(2) Except on the abovementioned grounds a ballot paper shall not be rejected.

(3) The decision of the Returning Officer as to the validity of a ballot paper shall be final subject only to reversal on an election petition.

43. The manner of counting shall be as follows:—

The Returning Officer shall arrange the ballot papers (other than invalid papers) in parcels according to the first preferences recorded for each candidate. He shall also ascertain the total number of valid papers.

44. The Returning Officer shall then count the number of papers in each parcel, and credit each candidate with one vote in respect of each valid paper on which a first preference has been recorded for him.

45 The Returning Officer shall then divide the total number of valid papers by a number exceeding by one the number of vacancies to be filled, and the result increased by one, disregarding any fractional remainder, shall be the number of votes sufficient to secure the return of a candidate (hereinafter called the "quota").

46. If at any time the number of votes credited to a candidate is equal to or greater than the quota, that candidate shall be elected.

47. (1) If the number of votes credited to an elected candidate is greater than the quota, the surplus shall be transferred in accordance with the provisions of this regulation to the continuing candidates indicated on the ballot papers in the parcel of the elected candidate as being next in order of the electors' preference.

(2) (a) If the votes credited to an elected candidate consist of original votes only, the Returning Officer shall examine all the papers in the parcel of the elected candidate whose surplus is to be transferred and shall arrange the transferable papers in sub-parcels according to the next preferences recorded thereon

(b) If the votes credited to an elected candidate consist of original and transferred votes or of transferred votes only, the Returning Officer shall examine the papers contained in the sub-parcel last received by the elected candidate and shall arrange the transferable papers therein in further sub-parcels according to the next preferences recorded thereon.

(c) In either case the Returning Officer shall make a separate sub-parcel of the non-transferable papers and shall ascertain the number of papers in each sub-parcel of transferable papers and in the sub-parcel of non-transferable papers.

(3) If the total number of papers in the sub-parcels of transferable papers is equal to or less than the surplus, the Returning Officer shall transfer each sub-parcel of transferable papers to the continuing candidate indicated thereon as the elector's next preference.

(4) (a) If the total number of transferable papers is greater than the surplus the Returning Officer shall transfer from each sub-parcel the number of papers which bears the same proportion to the number of papers in the sub-parcel as the surplus bears to the total number of transferable papers.

(b) The number of papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel shall be ascertained by multiplying the number of papers in the sub-parcel by the surplus and dividing the result by the total number of transferable papers. A note shall be made of the fractional parts, if any, of each number so ascertained.

(c) If owing to the existence of such fractional parts, the number of papers to be transferred is less than the surplus, so many of these fractional parts taken in the order of their magnitude, beginning with the largest, as are necessary to make the total number of papers to be transferred equal to the surplus, shall be reckoned as of the value of unity and the remaining fractional parts shall be ignored. If two or more fractional parts are of equal magnitude, that fractional part shall be deemed to be the larger which arises from the larger sub-parcel and if the sub parcels in question are equal in size, preference shall be given to the candidate who obtained the larger number of original votes.

(d) The particular papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel, shall be those last filed in the sub-parcel.

(e) Each paper transferred shall be marked in such a manner, as to indicate the candidate for and to whom the transfer is made

(5) (a) If more than one candidate has a surplus, the largest surplus shall be first dealt with.

(b) If two or more candidates have each the same surplus, regard shall be had to the number of original votes obtained by each candidate, and the surplus of the candidate credited with the largest number of original votes shall be first dealt with and, if the numbers of the original votes are equal, the Returning Officer shall decide which surplus he will first deal with.

(c) The Returning Officer need not transfer the surplus of an elected candidate when that surplus together with any other surplus not transferred is less than the difference between the total of the votes credited to the two continuing candidates lowest on the roll.

48. (1) If at any time no candidate has a surplus (or when under the preceding regulation any existing surplus need not be transferred) and one or more vacancies remain unfilled, the Returning Officer shall exclude from the poll the candidate credited with lowest number of votes and shall examine all the papers of that candidate, and shall arrange the transferable papers in sub-parcels according to the next preferences recorded thereon for continuing candidates, and shall transfer each sub-parcel to the candidate for whom that preference is recorded.

The Returning Officer shall make a separate sub-parcel of the non-transferable papers.

(2) If the total of the votes of two or more candidates lowest on the poll, together with any surplus votes not transferred, is less than the votes credited to the next highest candidate, the Returning Officer may in one operation exclude those candidates from the poll and transfer their votes in accordance with the preceding regulation.

(3) If, when a candidate has to be excluded under this regulation, two or more candidates have each the same number of votes and are lowest on the poll, regard shall be had to the number of original votes credited to each of those candidates and the candidate with fewest original votes shall be excluded and, where the numbers of the original votes are equal, regard shall be had to the total number of votes credited to those candidates at the first transfer at which they had an unequal number of votes, and the candidate with the lowest number of votes at that transfer shall be excluded, and, where the numbers of votes credited to those candidates were equal at all transfers, the Returning Officer shall decide by casting lots which shall be excluded.

49. (1) Whenever any transfer is made under any of the preceding regulations, each sub-parcel of papers transferred shall be added to the parcel, if any, of papers of the candidate to whom the transfer is made, and that candidate shall be credited with one vote in respect of each paper transferred. Such papers as are not transferred shall be set aside as finally dealt with and the votes given thereon shall thenceforth not be taken into account.

(2) If after any transfer a candidate has a surplus, that surplus shall be dealt with in accordance with, and subject to, the provisions contained in regulation 47 before any other candidate is excluded.

50. (1) When the number of continuing candidates is reduced to the number of vacancies remaining unfilled the continuing candidates shall be elected.

(2) When only one vacancy remains unfilled, and the votes of some one continuing candidate exceed the total of all the votes of the other continuing candidates together with any surplus not transferred, that candidate shall be elected.

(3) When the last vacancies can be filled under this regulation, no further transfer of votes need be made.

51. The Returning Officer shall then declare the names of the candidates who have been duly elected and shall prepare a return in Form IX.

52. Any candidate or his agent may at any time during the counting of the votes, either before the commencement or after the completion of any transfer of votes (whether surplus or otherwise), request the Returning Officer to re-examine and recount the papers of all or any candidates (not being papers set aside at any previous transfer as finally dealt with) and the Returning Officer shall forthwith re-examine and recount the same accordingly. The Returning Officer may also at his discretion recount votes either once or more often in any case in which he is not satisfied as to the accuracy of any previous count:

Provided that nothing herein shall make it obligatory on the Returning Officer to recount the same votes more than once.

53. (a) After the declaration of the result of the voting, the Returning Officer shall seal up in separate packets—

(1) the counted ballot papers;
(2) the rejected declaration papers and connected envelopes;
(3) the ballot papers declared invalid;
(4) the file of declaration papers; and
(5) the marked copy of the electoral roll.

(b) He shall also prepare and certify a return in Form VI and permit any candidate or his agent to take a copy of this return or of the return in Form IX.

54. The Returning Officer shall, after declaring the result, forward a copy of the return in Forms VII and IX to the Secretary to the Government of India, Legislative Department.

Miscellaneous.

55. All the packets relating to the elections shall, subject to the control of the Local Government, remain in the custody of the Returning Officer.

56. The packets of ballot papers whether counted or rejected and of the declaration papers shall not be opened and their contents shall not be inspected or produced except under the order of a competent court or of Commissioners appointed to hold an inquiry in respect of an election, but all other documents relating to the election shall be open to inspection subject to such conditions as the Local Government may impose and to the payment of a fee of Rs. 5.

57. The packets aforesaid shall be retained for a period of one year and shall thereafter be destroyed subject to any direction to the contrary made by the Local Government, or by a competent court or by Commissioners appointed to hold an inquiry in respect of an election.

C	939	F	341	I ...	118	Total ...	6.000

The Quota.

It is found that the total of all the valid votes is 6,000. This total is divided by six (i.e., the number which exceeds by one the number of vacancies to be filled) and 1,001 (i.e., the quotient 1,000 increased by one is the "quota" or the number of votes sufficient to elect member.

A's votes exceed the quota, and he is declared elected.

First transfer.

A has 1,008 surplus votes (i.e., A's total 2,009 less the quota 1,001), and it is necessary to transfer this surplus [Regulation 47 (1)].

All A's 2,009 papers are examined and arranged in separate sub-parcels, according to the second preference indicated thereon [Regulation 47 (2) (a)].

A separate sub-parcel is also formed of those papers on which no further available preference, i.e., no further preference for any continuing candidate, is shown, and which are therefore not transferable [Regulation 47 (2) (c)].

The result is found to be as follows:

A next available preference is shown—

„ for D on	257 papers.
„ for E on	11 „
„ for F on	28 „
„ for G on	1,708 „
Total of transferable papers ...	2,004 papers.
Total of non-transferable papers ..	5
Total of A's papers ...	2,009

Since the total number of transferable papers (2.004) exceeds the surplus (1,008), only a portion of each sub-parcel can be transferred, and the number of papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel must bear the same proportion to the total number of papers in the sub-parcel as that which the surplus bears to the total number of transferable papers.

In other words, the number of papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel is ascertained by multiplying the number of papers in the sub-parcel by 1,008 (the surplus), and dividing the result by 2,004 (the total number of transferable papers).

The process is as follows:—

D's sub-parcel contains 257 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore .—

$$257 \times \frac{1,008}{2,004} \text{ or } 129\frac{540}{2,004}$$

E's sub-parcel contains 11 papers and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$11 \times \frac{1,008}{2,004} \text{ or } 5\frac{1,068}{2,004}$$

F's sub-parcel contains 28 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore —

$$28 \times \frac{1,008}{2,004} \text{ or } 14\frac{168}{2,004}$$

G's sub-parcel contains 1,708 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$1,708 \times \frac{1,008}{2,004} \text{ or } 859\frac{228}{2,004}$$

Total 1,008

The numbers of papers to be transferred as determined by the preceding process contain fractions, and since only whole papers can be transferred, so many of the largest of these fractions, taken in order of their magnitude, as will make the total number of papers to be transferred equal to the surplus are reckoned as of the value of unity.

Thus, as the whole numbers determined above amount to only 1,007, viz., (129 + 5 + 14 + 859) or one short of the surplus 1,008, the largest fraction $\frac{1,068}{2,004}$ is reckoned as unity, and the numbers of papers to be transferred are as follows:—

To D ... 129 papers.	To F	14 papers.
To E ... 6 „	To G .	859 „
	Total being, A's surplus ...	1,008 „

The particular papers to be transferred to D, E, F and G are those last filed in their respective sub-parcels, and, therefore, at the top of the sub-parcels. The papers to be transferred are to be marked so as to indicate the candidates from and to whom the transfer is made.

These papers are added in separate sub-parcels of D, E, F, and G.

The totals of the votes credited to these candidates then become:—

	Votes.		Votes.
D	746 + 129 = 875	F ...	341 + 14 = 355
E ...	493 + 9 = 499	G ...	157 + 859 = 1,016

The remainders of the papers in the sub-parcels (i.e., those papers not transferred), together with the papers on which no further available preferences were marked, are collected together and formed into one parcel, representing A's quota of votes (1,001), and these papers are set aside as finally dealt with. The parcel is made up as follows:—

The remainder of D's sub-parcel, 257 less 129 = ..	128
The remainder of E's sub-parcel, 11 less 6 = . ..	5
The remainder of F's sub-parcel, 28 less 14 =	14
The remainder of G's sub-parcel, 1,708 less 859 = ...	849
Non-transferable papers	5
Total, being A's quota ...	1,001

The operations involved in this transfer are summarized in the following table:—

TRANSFER OF A'S SURPLUS.

Surplus	1,008
Number of transferable papers	2,004
Proportion to be transferred $\frac{\text{Surplus}}{\text{No. of transferable papers.}}$	$\frac{1,008}{2,004}$

Names of candidates marked as the next available preferences.	Number of original papers.	Number of papers transferred.	Number of papers retained for A's quota.
B		.	...
C ..	...		..
D	257	129	128
E	11	6	5
F	28	14	14
G	1,708	859	849
H		.	..
I	...	..	...
K		...
Total number of transferable papers	2,004	1,008	996
Number of non-transferable papers	5	...	5
Total ...	2,009	1,008	1,001

The state of the poll on the conclusion of the transfer is as follows:—

	Votes.		Votes.		Votes.		Votes.
A ..	1,001 elected.	C ...	939	F	355	K ...	93
G ...	1,016 „	D	875	H	152
B .	952 „	E .	499	I	118	Total ...	6,000

G now has 1,016 votes, a number which is more than the quota. He is accordingly declared elected.

Second Transfer.

G's surplus (1,016 less 1,001, or 15) would have to be transferred were it not for the provision of regulation 47 (5) (c). Under the latter rule, the Returning Officer need not transfer a surplus which is less than the difference between the two lowest candidates on the poll, and where, therefore, the transfer could not alter the relative position of these two candidates, even if the whole surplus were transferred to the lowest candidate. In this case the difference between I and K, the two lowest candidates, is 25 (118 less 93), and therefore G's surplus need not be transferred.

The Returning Officer proceeds to distribute the papers of the candidate with the smallest total of votes.

K's parcel of 93 papers is therefore examined. It is found to contain 89 papers on which F is the next preference, and 4 on which C is the ext preference.

Therefore 89 papers are transferred to F and 4 to C.

The poll now stands as follows:—

	Votes.			Votes.			Votes.
A	1,001 elected.		C	943		F .	444
G ...	1,016 „		D	875		H . ..	152
B ...	952		E ...	499		I	118
						Total ...	6,000

Third Transfer.

The poll shows that as a result of the second transfer no further candidate obtained the quota which would entitle him to election, and the next operation has to be determined upon.

The difference between I and H (152 less 118, i.e., 34) exceeds G's surplus (15), which therefore, is still allowed to remain untransferred [Regulation 47 (5) (c)].

Candidate I is lowest on the poll and his papers have to be distributed in the same manner as K's [Rule 48 (1)]. But as the combined totals of H and I together with G's surplus (15 + 118 + 15 = 285) are less than 444, the total of F, the next highest candidate, the Returning Officer avails himself of regulation 48 (2), and distributes the papers of both H and I in one operation.

The papers 152 + 118, or 270 in all) in the parcels of H and I are examined in one operation, and it is found that—

	Papers.
B is marked next preference on	119
D is marked next preference on	107
Non-transferable papers	44
Total ...	270

It should be stated that on some papers some or one of the candidates A, G, I, H and K may have been marked as next in order of preference on the papers examined, but, as all these candidates are already either elected or excluded, any papers so marked pass to those of the other candidates for whom the next available preferences have been recorded.

The operation is completed by the transfer of 119 papers to B, and 107 to D, whilst the 44 non-transferable papers are set aside as finally dealt with [Regulation 49 (1)].

The poll now stands as follows:—

	Votes.			Votes.			Votes.
A .	1,001 elected.		D	982		F	444
G ..	1,016 „		C	943		Non-transferable papers	44
B ..	1,071 „		E	499
						Total ..	6,000

B has now 1,071 votes, a number which exceeds the quota, is accordingly declared elected.

Fourth Transfer.

B's surplus (70) exceeds the difference (55) between E and F, the two candidates lowest on the poll, and it is, therefore, necessary to distribute it.

For this purpose, only sub-parcel of papers last transferred, containing 119 papers, is taken into account.

These are examined and arranged in sub-parcels (in the same manner as A's papers were examined and arranged) with the following result:-

No further preference is shown on 35 papers.

The total number of transferable papers (84) is thus greater than the surplus (70), and the proportion to be transferred is 70/84. But there is only one candidate, E, entitled to participate in the transfer. E accordingly receives the whole of the surplus, and the 70 papers last filed in E's sub-parcel are therefore transferred to him, after being marked so as to indicate their transfer from B to E [Regulation 47 (4) (b)].

The remainder of the papers in E's sub-parcel, together with the non-transferable papers, are placed with B's original parcel. The whole constitutes B's quota, and these papers are set aside as finally dealt with [Regulation 49 (1)].

B's quota is made up as follows:—

Original parcel	952
Remainder of E's sub-parcel	14
Non-transferable papers	35
Total ...	1,001

The poll now stands as follows:—

	Votes			Votes.		Votes.
A ..	1,001 elected.	D	...	982	F	441
G	1,016 „	C	..	913	Non-transferable papers	44
B ...	1,001 „	E ...	...	569
					Total ..	6,000

Fifth Transfer.

No candidate is elected as the result of the transfer, and the next operation has to be determined upon.

G's surplus is still not distributable, being smaller than the difference between the totals of E and F the two lowest candidates [Regulation 47 (5)(e)].

F is lowest and his papers have to be distributed.

On examination it is found that of F's 444 papers, 353 show a next preference for C, and the remainder, 91 contain no further preference.

The operation is completed by the transfer of 353 papers to C, whilst the 91 non-transferable papers are set aside as finally dealt with [Regulation 49 (1)].

The poll now stands as follows:—

	Votes.		Votes.		Votes
A ...	1,001 elected.	C .	1,296	Non-transferable papers ..	135
G ...	1,016 „	D	982
B ..	1,001 „	E .	569
				Total ...	6,000

The presiding officer shall make a note of the circumstances, and of his decision on the list of challenged votes.

28 An elector who has inadvertently dealt with his ballot paper in such a manner that it cannot conveniently be used as a ballot paper may, on delivering it to the presiding officer and satisfying him of the inadvertence, obtain another ballot paper in place of the spoilt paper, and the latter shall together with its counterfoil, be marked as cancelled.

29. A presiding officer, polling officer, or polling agent, or any public servant who is on duty at a polling station at which he is not entitled to vote shall, if he is certified by the returning officer of the constituency concerned to be entitled to vote at the election be allowed to record his vote at that polling station. The name of the polling station at which he would otherwise have been entitled to vote shall be entered in the counterfoil of the ballot paper together with the other particulars to be entered therein.

(5) the marked copy of the electoral roll,

(6) the counterfoils of the ballot papers;

(7) the tendered votes list; and

(8) the list of challenged votes;

and shall forward such packets to the Returning Officer.

32. The packets shall be accompanied by a statement in Form VI made by the presiding officer, showing the number of ballot papers entrusted to him and accounting for them under the heads of ballot papers in the ballot box, unused, spoilt, and tendered ballot papers, and ballot papers dealt with under regulation 29.

33. Subject to any directions given in that behalf by the Returning Officer, the packets and statements shall be forwarded by the Presiding Officer to the Commissioner of the Corporation of Madras in the Madras City and to the divisional or taluk office as the Returning Officer may direct in the mofussil. Each packet shall be numbered and shall bear a note as to its contents and the name of the polling station. Empty boxes need not be sent but should be handed over to the village headman or such other officer as the Returning Officer may direct. The Commissioner of the Corporation of Madras or the divisional or taluk officer, as the case may be, shall forward to the Returning Officer, immediately on receipt from all the polling stations in the city, division or taluk, the packets referred to in regulation 31 together with a statement in Form VII which shall be compiled from the statement in Form VI and from the nil reports received from the presiding officers.

Postal voting.

35. Not less than fifteen clear days before the date fixed for the poll, the Returning Officer shall issue through the post a declaration paper and a ballot paper to each elector to the address entered against his name in the electoral roll unless the elector has, since the publication of the roll, changed his address and intimated the fact in writing to the Returning Officer.

36. The declaration and ballot paper shall be in Form VIII. It shall be printed in such language as the Local Government may by an order direct. The same serial number shall be entered on the face of the declaration paper and on the back of the ballot paper. To each elector shall be issued the declaration paper and the ballot paper whose serial numbers correspond to the number which the elector bears on the electoral roll.

37. Before the ballot paper is issued to an elector, the Returning Officer shall—

(a) have the name of the elector entered on the declaration paper and initial the ballot paper on its back; and

(b) place a mark against the name of the elector concerned in the electoral roll, or the copy of it, used for the purpose of the election.

38. With the ballot paper, the Returning Officer shall send a cover addressed to himself in Form IX, an envelope with the number of the ballot paper entered on its face and a letter in Form X. The Returning Officer shall have the number of the ballot paper entered at the left-hand bottom corner of the cover in Form IX.

Provided that in a case where more than one vote can be given on the same ballot paper, if one of the marks is so placed as to render it doubtful to which candidate it was intended to apply, the vote concerned but not the whole ballot paper shall be invalid on that account.

(2) Except on the abovementioned grounds a ballot paper shall not be rejected.

(3) Nothing contained in clause (ii) or clause (iii) of sub-regulation (1) shall be deemed to authorize the refusal of the nomination of any candidate on the ground of any irregularity in respect of a nomination paper, if the candidate has been duly nominated by means of another nomination paper in respect of which no irregularity has been committed.

8. (1) The Returning Officer shall endorse on each nomination paper his decision accepting or rejecting the same and, if the nomination paper is rejected, shall record in writing a brief statement of his reasons for such rejection.

(2) The scrutiny shall be completed on the day appointed in this behalf under clause (b) of sub-rule (2) of rule 11 and no adjournment of the proceedings shall be allowed.

13. The Returning Officer may, for sufficient cause and with the previous consent of the Local Government, postpone the date or extend the period fixed, for polling.

14. The Returning Officer shall select for each constituency as many polling stations as he thinks necessary and shall appoint a presiding officer for each polling station and such other persons (hereinafter referred to as polling officers) to assist the presiding officer as he thinks necessary.

15. The presiding officer shall keep order at the polling station, shall see that the election is fairly conducted, shall regulate the number of electors to be admitted at one time, and shall exclude all other persons except—

(a) the polling officers, the candidates, and one agent of each candidate (hereinafter referred to as the polling agent) appointed in writing by the candidate and authorized in this behalf by the Returning Officer ;

17. (1) The presiding officer shall close the polling station at the hour appointed for closing under regulations 12 and 13, so as to prevent the admission thereto of any elector after that hour.

(2) No ballot paper shall be issued after that hour but any elector who has received his ballot paper before that hour shall be allowed a reasonable opportunity to record his vote.

18. Each polling station shall be furnished with such number of compartments in which electors can record their votes screened from observation, as the Returning Officer thinks necessary. As far as possible, separate compartments and separate entrances and exits shall be provided for women electors

The Returning Officer shall provide at each polling station materials sufficient for the purpose of enabling electors to mark the ballot papers, as many ballot boxes as may be necessary, and copies of the electoral roll or of such part thereof as contains the names of the electors entitled to vote at such station.

20. (1) Every ballot box shall be so constructed that the ballot papers can be introduced therein but cannot be withdrawn therefrom, without the box being unlocked. The presiding officer at any polling station immediately before the commencement of the poll, shall show the ballot box empty to such persons as may be present in such station, so that they may see that it is empty, and shall then lock it up, and place his seal upon it in such manner as to prevent its being opened without breaking such seal, and shall place it in his view for the receipt of ballot papers and keep it so locked and sealed.

(2) Before the polling station is open for the recording of votes, the presiding officer shall read to such persons as may be present the provisions of section 14 of the Election Offences and Inquiries Act, 1920, and shall explain the substance thereof in the vernacular of the district.

21. (1) Every ballot paper shall be in Form III and shall have the names of the candidates as they appear in the nomination papers arranged in alphabetical order. If there are two candidates whose names are the same, they shall be distinguished by the addition of their occupation or in some other way. Ballot papers shall be printed in such language or languages as the Local Government may by an order direct.

(2) The ballot papers printed in each language shall be serially numbered, the serial number being printed on the face of the counterfoil and on the back of the ballot paper.

22. Immediately before a ballot paper is delivered to an elector, the number, name and description of the elector as stated in the electoral roll shall be called out, and the number and name of the elector shall be entered on the counterfoil. The presiding officer shall then initial the ballot paper on its back and deliver it to the elector, and a mark shall be placed on a copy of the electoral roll against the number of the elector, to denote that he has received a ballot paper, but without showing the particular ballot paper which he has received. On the counterfoil shall be entered the name of the constituency and the name or distinctive number of the polling station.

23. The elector, on receiving the ballot paper, shall forthwith proceed into one of the compartments in the polling station, and there mark his paper, and fold it up so as to conceal his vote and after showing to the presiding officer his (i.e., the presiding officer's) initials thereon shall put his ballot paper so folded up into the ballot box. Every elector shall vote without undue delay and shall quit the polling station as soon as he has put his ballot paper into the ballot box.

24. (1) If the elector is unable to read the ballot paper or to mark it and applies for assistance in doing so, the presiding officer shall read it for him and if so required mark the ballot paper according to the directions of the elector and give it to him to be put into the ballot box.

(2) In the case of every elector whose ballot paper is marked in this manner by the presiding officer a note shall be made on the corresponding counterfoil of Form III by the presiding officer of the reason why it was so marked.

25. (1) When a person presents himself to vote and at any time before a ballot paper is supplied to him the presiding officer or polling officer may, of his own accord, and shall if so required by a candidate or polling agent, put to such person any or all of the following questions :—

(i) Are you the person enrolled as follows (reading the whole entry from the roll)?

(ii) Have you already voted at the present election in this constituency?

and at a general election

(iii) Have you already voted at this general election for the Legislative Council in any other general constituency?

and the person shall not be supplied with a ballot paper unless he answers the question or questions put to him and unless his answer to the first question is in the affirmative, the second question in the negative, and at a general election the third question also in the negative.

(2) Except as mentioned herein, every person whose name is found on the electoral roll shall be entitled to be supplied with a ballot paper.

26. If a person representing himself to be a particular elector named on the electoral roll applies for a ballot paper after another person has voted as such elector, the applicant shall, after duly answering such questions as the presiding officer may ask, be entitled to receive a ballot paper in the same manner as any other elector. Such ballot paper (hereinafter referred to as a tendered ballot paper) shall be of a colour different from the other ballot papers, and, instead of being put into the ballot box, shall be given to the presiding officer and endorsed by him with the name of the elector and his number on the electoral roll and the name or number of the electoral area to which the roll relates and shall be set aside in a separate packet and shall not be counted by the Returning Officer. The name of the elector and his number in the electoral roll and the name or distinctive number of the polling station to which the roll relates shall be entered in a list in Form IV annexed to these regulations, which shall bear the heading 'Tendered votes list'. The person tendering such ballot paper shall sign his name and address on that list or affix his thumb impression thereto.

27. If any polling agent declares and undertakes to prove that any person by applying for a ballot paper has committed the offence of personation, the presiding officer may require such person to enter in the list of challenged votes (which shall be in Form V annexed to these regulations) his name and address, or, if he is unable to write, to affix his thumb impression thereto and may further require such person to produce evidence of identification. If such person on being questioned in the manner provided in regulation 24 answers the first question in the affirmative and the other questions in the negative, he shall be allowed to vote after he has been informed of the penalty for personation. The presiding officer shall make a note of the circumstances, and of his decision of the list of challenged votes.

28. An elector who has inadvertently dealt with his ballot paper in such a manner that it cannot conveniently be used as a ballot paper may, on delivering it to the presiding officer and satisfying him of the inadvertence, obtain another ballot paper in place of the spoilt paper, and the latter shall, together with its counterfoil, be marked as cancelled.

29. A presiding officer, polling officer, or polling agent who is on duty at a polling station at which he is not entitled to vote shall, if he is certified by the Returning Officer of the constituency concerned to be entitled to vote at the election, be allowed to record his vote at that polling station. The name of the polling station at which he would otherwise have been entitled to vote shall be entered in the counterfoil of the ballot paper together with the other particulars to be entered therein.

30. (1) Such ballot paper shall be placed in an envelope and sealed by the presiding officer and returned with the certificate referred to in regulation 29 to the Returning Officer who has granted the same, and such Returning Officer shall cause such vote to be included among the other votes given for the candidate designated by the elector.

(2) The certificate referred to in regulation 29 shall be in the following form:—

FORM.

Certified that entitled to vote at——————for—————————— constituency has been employed in connection with the election for —————————— constituency and is prevented from voting at the said station and that I have therefore authorised him to vote at——————————

Signature of Returning Officer.

31. The presiding officer of each polling station, as soon as practicable after the close of the poll, shall, in the presence of any candidates or polling agents who may be present, make up into separate packets and seal with his own seal and the seal of such candidates or agents as may desire to affix their seal:—

(1) each ballot box in use at such station unopened but with the key (which should also be sealed in the same manner as the ballot box) attached;

(2) the unused ballot papers;

(3) the tendered ballot papers,

(4) the spoilt ballot papers;

(5) the marked copy of the electoral roll;

(6) the counterfoils of the ballot papers.

(7) the tendered votes list; and

(8) the list of challenged votes;

and shall forward such packets to the Returning Officer.

32. The packets shall be accompanied by a statement in Form VI made by the presiding officer, showing the number of ballot papers entrusted to him, and accounting for them under the heads of ballot papers in the ballot box, unused, spoilt, and tendered ballot papers, and ballot papers dealt with under regulation 29.

33. Subject to any directions given in that behalf by the Returning Officer, the packets and statements shall be forwarded by the presiding officer to the Commissioner of the Corporation of Madras in the Madras City and to the divisional or taluk office as the Returning Officer may direct in the mofussil. Each packet shall be numbered and shall bear a note as to its contents and the name of the polling station. Empty boxes need not be sent but should be handed over to the village headman or such other officer as the Returning Officer may direct. Where no vote has been recorded in any constituency, the presiding officer shall submit a nil report together with the statement in Form VI. The Commissioner of the Corporation of Madras or the divisional or taluk officer, as the case may be, shall forward to the Returning Officer, immediately on receipt from all the polling stations in the city, division or taluk, the packets referred to in regulation 31 together with a statement in Form VII which shall be compiled from the statement in Form VI and from the nil reports received from the presiding officers.

Postal voting.

34. Regulations 35 to 48 shall apply to the eight constituencies excepted by regulation 11. No elector of these constituencies shall be allowed to vote in any other way than is provided in these regulations.

35. Not less than fifteen clear days before the date fixed for the poll, the Returning Officer shall issue through the post a declaration paper and a voting paper to each elector to the address entered against his name in the electoral roll, unless the elector has, since the publication of the roll, changed his address and intimated the fact in writing to the Returning Officer.

36. The declaration and voting paper shall be in Form VIII. It shall be printed in such language as the Local Government may by an order direct. The same serial number shall be entered on the face of the declaration paper and on the back of the voting paper. To each elector shall be issued the declaration paper and the voting paper whose serial numbers correspond to the number which the elector bears on the electoral roll.

37. Before the ballot papers are issued to an elector, the Returning Officer shall—

(a) have the name of the elector entered on the declaration paper and initial the voting paper on its back; and

(b) place a mark against the name of the elector concerned in the electoral roll, or the copy of it, used for the purpose of the election.

38. With the ballot papers, the Returning Officer shall send a cover addressed to himself in Form IX, an envelope with the number of the voting paper entered on its face and a letter in Form X. The Returning Officer shall have the number of the voting paper entered at the left-hand bottom corner of the cover in Form IX.

39. Each elector, upon receipt of his ballot papers, if he desires to vote in the election, shall sign the declaration in the declaration paper and record his vote on the voting paper by placing a mark against the name of the candidate or candidates of his choice.

40. The elector shall then enclose the voting paper in the envelope and stick it up and enclose the envelope and the declaration paper in the cover and send the cover by registered post to the Returning Officer so as to reach him not later than the day and the latest hour fixed for the poll. The covers received after such day and hour shall be rejected:

Provided that, at his option, the elector may deposit the cover in a ballot box which shall be provided at the office of the Returning Officer on the day and during the hours fixed for the poll.

41. (1) If an elector is incapacitated from blindness or other physical cause, from voting in the manner prescribed above, it shall be competent for him to record his vote by the hand of any of the officers or other persons mentioned hereunder · and such officer or other person shall, on the declaration paper, certify the incapacity and attest the fact of his having been requested by the elector to mark the voting paper for him, and of its having been so marked by him in the presence of the elector.

(2) The following officers or other persons are empowered to attest votes of incapacitated electors under this regulation :—

(i) District and taluk board members and municipal councillors.

(ii) Gentlemen who bear a title conferred or recognized by the Government of India.

(iii) Members of the Legislative Council of the Governor of Madras, of the Legislative Assembly and the Council of State.

(iv) Stipendiary Magistrates other than a village magistrate, Judges of the Court of Small Causes, Madras, and the City Civil Court, Madras, Sub-Judges, District Munsifs and District and Sub-Registrars.

42. An elector who has not received his ballot papers sent by post or whose ballot papers, before their despatch back to the Returning Officer, have been inadvertently spoilt in such manner that they cannot be conveniently used as ballot papers, or who has lost his ballot papers may, on his transmitting to the Returning Officer a declaration to that effect signed by himself, require the Returning Officer to send him new ballot papers in place of those not received, spoilt or lost, and, if the ballot papers have been spoilt, the spoilt ballot papers shall be returned to the Returning Officer who shall cancel them on receipt. In every case when new ballot papers are issued, a mark shall be placed against the number of the elector's name in the roll to denote that new ballot papers have been issued in place of those not received, spoilt or lost.

43. No election shall be invalidated by reason that an elector has not received his ballot papers provided that ballot papers have been issued to him in accordance with these regulations.

Counting of Votes.

44. The Returning Officer shall, as soon as may be practicable after the close of the poll, appoint a date which shall be not later than seven days from the date of the poll, and the time and place for the counting of votes and shall give notice in writing thereof to all candidates and election agents.

45. (1) No person shall be allowed to be present at the counting of votes except the Returning Officer and such persons as he may appoint to assist him in counting the votes, and such other persons as have a right to be present under sub-rule (6) of rule 11.

(2) No person shall be appointed to assist in counting the votes, who has been employed by or on behalf of any candidate for any purpose whatsoever connected with the election.

46. On the day and at the time appointed under regulation 44 the Returning Officer shall, before he commences to count the votes, read the provisions of section 14 of the Indian Election Offences and Inquiries Act, 1920, to such persons as may be present, and shall then proceed as follows :—

(a) (i) If the constituency is one in which the voting is personal, the ballot box or boxes relating to each polling station or the envelopes containing votes under regulation 29 shall be opened one after another, and the Returning Officer shall take out the papers therefrom, count them or cause them to be counted, and record the number thereof in a statement. Such statement shall not be shown to any candidate or agent.

(ii) If the constituency is one in which postal voting is allowed, the covers received from or deposited by voters shall be opened one after another and the envelopes and declaration papers taken out therefrom. The Returning Officer shall then examine whether the declaration paper is the one sent out by him and whether the declaration and attestation are prima facie regular. If he is not satisfied that a declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the voter concerned or if the declaration or attestation is not in order, he shall endorse the word "rejected" on the back of the declaration paper and keep it with the connected envelope in a separate bundle. He shall file the other declaration papers and the envelopes containing the corresponding voting papers in a separate heap. These envelopes shall then be opened, the papers enclosed therein taken out and counted, and the number thereof recorded by the Returning Officer in a statement.

(b) The Returning Officer shall then mix together all the ballot papers so counted and totalled up and distribute them in convenient bundles to the persons appointed to assist in counting the votes.

(c) When the ballot papers have been so distributed, but not before, the Returning Officer shall allow the candidates and their agents, reasonable opportunity to inspect, without handling, the ballot papers, and shall on every ballot paper which is wholly or partially rejected endorse the word "rejected". If any candidate or agent present questions the correctness of the rejection, he shall also record on the ballot paper the grounds for the rejection. No candidate or agent shall be allowed to see the serial number on the back of any ballot paper.

(d) The Returning Officer shall, as far as practicable, proceed continuously with the counting of the votes; and shall, during any necessary intervals during which the counting has to be suspended, place the ballot papers, packets and other documents relating to the election under his own seal and the seals of such candidates, or agents as may desire to affix them, and shall cause adequate precautions to be taken for their custody

47. (1) A ballot paper shall be rejected if—

(a) the number of votes recorded thereon exceeds the number of vacancies to be filled,

(b) no vote is recorded thereon;

(c) it is void for uncertainty;

(d) it bears any mark by which the elector can be identified; and

(e) in the case of a postal vote, the Returning Officer is not satisfied that the declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector, or if the declaration or attestation is not in order:

Provided that in a case where more than one vote can be given on the same ballot paper, if one of the marks is so placed as to render it doubtful to which candidate it was intended to apply, the vote concerned but not the whole ballot paper shall be invalid on that account.

(2) Except on the above mentioned grounds a ballot paper shall not be rejected.

(3) The decision of the Returning Officer as to the validity of a ballot paper shall be final, subject only to reversal on an election petition.

48. The following procedure shall apply to constituencies other than those for which postal voting is allowed:—

The Returning Officer shall not open the sealed packets of the tendered votes, the marked copy of the electoral roll or the counterfoils of the ballot papers. He shall verify the statement submitted by the presiding officer under regulation 32 by comparing it with the number of counted votes and rejected ballot papers, the unused ballot papers in his possession and the tendered votes list, shall then reclose and reseal each packet which has been opened by him, and shall record on each packet a description of its contents and the date of the election to which it refers.

49. The following procedure shall apply in the case of postal vote constituencies.—

Upon the completion of the counting, the Returning Officer shall seal up in separate packets—

(1) the counted ballot papers;

(2) the rejected declaration papers and connected envelopes;

(3) the voting papers rejected at the count;

(4) the file of declaration papers; and

(5) the marked copy of the electoral roll.

He shall also prepare and sign a statement in Form XI and shall record on each packet a description of its contents and the date of the election to which it refers.

50. The Returning Officer shall then prepare and certify a return in Form XII setting forth—

(1) the result of the verification referred to in regulation 48;

(2) the names of the candidates for whom valid votes have been given;

(3) the number of valid votes given for each candidate;

(4) the name of the candidate elected;

(5) the number of votes declared invalid; and

(6) the number of tendered votes given, and shall permit any candidate or any representative duly authorized under sub-rule (b) of rule 12 to take a copy or an extract from such return.

Miscellaneous.

51. (1) The Returning Officer shall, after reporting the result of the election under rule 18 forward a copy of the return made under regulation 50 to the Secretary to Government, Law (Legislative) Department, who shall thereupon publish in the Gazette the name or names of the candidates elected.

(2) All the packets relating to the elections shall, subject to the control of the Local Government, remain in the custody of the Returning Officer.

52. The packets of ballot papers whether counted, rejected or tendered, and of the counterfoils thereof, or of the declaration papers as the case may be, shall not be opened and their contents shall not be inspected or produced except under the order of a competent court or of Commissioners appointed to hold an inquiry in respect of an election, but all other documents relating to the election shall be open to inspection subject to such conditions as the Local Government may impose and to the payment of a fee of Rs. 5.

53. The packets aforesaid shall be retained for a period of one year and shall thereafter be destroyed subject to any direction to the contrary made by the Local Government, or by a competent court or by Commissioners appointed to hold an inquiry in respect of an election.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MADRAS.

The University of Madras was founded under the Act of Incorporation XXVII of 1857. This Act was in operation until 1904, when, as a result of the Commission appointed by the Government of India in 1902 to examine the working of the Universities under that system, the Indian University Act VIII of 1904 was passed with the intention of reorganising the Universities in India and of enlarging their functions in the matters of University teaching and of supervision over affiliated colleges. This Act again has been superseded by the Madras University Act VII of 1923 which was passed by the Legislative Council of Madras early in 1923, and came into force on 1st May, 1923. This Act was passed so as to reorganize the University "with a view to establishing a teaching and residential University at Madras while enabling the University to continue to exercise due control over the quality of the teaching given by colleges which are to constitute the University or are affiliated to it." The Chancellor, the Pro-Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, the Senate, Syndicate, the Academic Council and the Council of Affiliated Colleges constitute the body corporate of the University. The visitor of the University is the Governor-General; the Chancellor is the Governor of Madras, the Pro-Chancellor is the Minister of Education; the Vice-Chancellor is a whole-time officer, to whom a salary may be paid, who holds office ordinarily for three years, and is appointed by the Chancellor from among five persons recommended by the Senate. The authorities of the University under this new Act are (1) the Senate, (2) the Syndicate, (3) the Academic Council, (4) the Faculties, (5) the Boards of Studies, (6) the Council of Affiliated Colleges and (7) such other authorities as may be declared by the Statutes to be Authorities of the University. The first Senate under the new Act consists of 205 members made up of—Class I—40 Ex officio members, Class II—1 Life member, Class III—other members consisting of 30 members elected by Registered Graduates, 10 members elected by the Academic Council, 10 members elected by the Council of Affiliated Colleges, 12 members elected by the non-official members of the Legislative Council from among their own body, 5 members elected by the Principals of second-grade colleges, 3 persons elected by Headmasters of Secondary Schools, 4 persons elected by the Corporation of Madras from among their own body, 48 members elected by the District Boards and Municipalities from among themselves, 2 members elected by the Madras Chamber of Commerce, 2 members elected by the Southern India Chamber of Commerce, 2 members elected by the Madras Landholders' Association, 30 members nominated by the Chanceller and 6 members representing the chief vernacular languages in the Presidency. The Senate is the supreme governing body of the University having power to review the action of the Syndicate, the Academic Council and the Council of Affiliated Colleges.

The Syndicate consists of the Vice-Chancellor and the Director of Public Instruction as ex-officio members, 8 members elected by the Senate from among its members, 3 members elected by the Academic Council from among its members, 3 members elected by the Council of Affiliated Colleges from among its members and 3 members nominated by the Chancellor. The Syndicate is the chief executive authority of the University having powers to administer the property and funds of the University and to regulate and determine all matters concerning the University in accordance with the Act, the Statutes and Ordinances.

The Academic Council consists of about 125 members made up of 50 ex-officio members, 5 members elected by the principals of second-grade colleges from among themselves, 38 members elected by the teaching staffs of constituent colleges, 19 members elected by the teaching staffs of the affiliated first-grade and professional colleges, and 5 members elected by the Senate from its own body who are not engaged in teaching or members of the Syndicate and 2 co-opted teachers of the University. The Academic Council has the control and general regulation of teaching and examination within the University and has power to advise the Syndicate on all academic matters, to make regulations regarding the admission of students to the University and relating to courses of study and examinations, to make proposals to the Syndicate for the institution of professorships, readerships, lectureships, etc., and to control and manage University Libraries.

Some of the Boards of Studies under the new Act have been constituted. In the case of others the old Boards of Studies are still functioning as advisory bodies.

The Council of Affiliated Colleges consists of 80 members made up of 18 ex-officio members, 5 members elected by the Principals of second-grade colleges, 24 elected by the District Boards and the Municipalities, 14 elected by the affiliated first-grade colleges and 10 persons nominated by the Chancellor and 10 teachers of the University elected by the Academic Council. The Council of Affiliated Colleges has powers to make proposals to the Syndicate or the Academic Council as the case may be in regard to the teaching provided by the affiliated colleges and to advise those bodies on all matters affecting those colleges.

The University has no direct control over high school education in the Presidency, but recognizes for University purposes the high schools under the control of the Department of Education. Under the new Act the Intermediate Examination in Arts and Science is the admission test to the University Degree courses. The Intermediate course begins at the conclusion of the High School courses.

Under the new Act colleges are either constituent or affiliated. Constituent colleges are those which are maintained or recognized by the University in accordance with the provisions of the Act and which are constituted within the "limits of the University" which means the territory within a radius of ten miles from Fort St. George. Affiliated colleges are those which are situated outside the limits of the University and affiliated to the University as constituted prior to the commencement of the new Act or admitted to the privileges of affiliation under conditions prescribed in this behalf.

The following are the numbers of constituent and affiliatel colleges:—

(1) Any candidate who has been duly nominated for election may withdraw his candidature at any time by written notice signed by him and delivered to the chairman before midday of the day previous to that fixed for the poll; but no candidate who has withdrawn his candidature may subsequently cancel his withdrawal and stand at the same election.

(2) The chairman shall remove from the ballot paper the name of any candidate who

(a) dies at any time before the poll is taken; or

(b) has withdrawn his candidature in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (1).

7. (1) If the number of candidates who have been validly nominated and have not withdrawn their candidature is equal to the number of vacancies, all such candidates shall be deemed to be duly elected.

(2) If the number of such candidates is less than the number of vacancies all such candidates shall be deemed to be duly elected and the chairman shall start election proceedings afresh for filling up the remaining vacancy or vacancies and repeat the formalities prescribed in rules 1 to 5.

8 (1) If, owing to there being more candidates than there are vacancies, a poll has to be taken, the chairman shall appoint forthwith one or more polling officers for each polling station and may pay them reasonable remuneration for their services The chairman may also, if necessary, appoint one or more identifying officers to assist the polling officer in identifying the voters. Polling officers shall neither be councillors for the wards for which the poll is to be taken nor registered voters therein.

(2) If, after the taking of a poll has become necessary under sub-rule (1), the number of validly nominated candidates becomes, owing to the death of a candidate before the poll is taken, equal to or less than, the number of vacancies, election proceedings shall be started afresh and the formalities prescribed in rules 1 to 5, repeated.

Voting.

9. (1) The polling officer shall keep order at the station, shall see that the election is fairly conducted, shall regulate the number of electors to be admitted at one time, and shall exclude all persons except his own clerks, the candidates or agents whom the candidates may have appointed in writing to appear in their stead at the polling station, the police on duty, and such persons as may be admitted for the purpose of identifying the electors.

(2) The letter of a candidate appointing an agent to represent him at the polling station shall be sent so as to reach the polling officer before the voting commences.

10. The ballot box shall be so constructed that the ballot papers can be introduced therein but cannot be withdrawn therefrom without the box being unlocked. Just before the commencement of the poll the polling officer shall show the ballot box empty to such persons as may be present at the polling station and shall then lock it up and place a seal upon it in such manner as to prevent its being opened without breaking such seal and place it in his view for the receipt of ballot papers and shall keep it so locked and sealed. The key of the ballot box shall also be placed under seal.

11. The chairman shall provide for each polling officer such number of clerks as he may consider desirable and shall supply him with a copy of the electoral roll, a list of the nominations, ballot papers and boxes, and such other papers, stationery and forms as may be necessary.

12. Every ballot paper shall be in Form V and shall have the names of the candidates printed on it in alphabetical order. If there are two candidates of the same name, they shall be distinguished by the addition of their occupation or in some other suitable way.

13. (1) The name of every person presenting himself to vote and his number on the electoral roll shall be entered in a signature slip maintained in Form IV, and the voter shall thereafter, if he is literate, sign his name in the column provided for that purpose, or, if he is illiterate, shall fix his thumb impression thereto.

(2) The voter shall present his slip to the polling officer who, after satisfying himself that it has been duly signed by the voter or impressed with his thumb-mark, shall file it, provided that the polling officer may, if any doubt should arise as to the identity of the voter, require that the slip be attested by any person present who can identity the voter. If there is no such person present, the polling officer shall note on the slip the fact that the voter's identity has been questioned.

(3) Special facilities shall be accorded to women voters who observe the gosha system in accordance with the regulations framed by the Council in that behalf.

14. Immediately before a ballot paper—that is the outerfoil of Form V—is handed over to the voter, the polling officer shall

(1) initial it on the back ;

(2) enter the voter's number in the electoral roll on the corresponding counterfoil of Form V ; and

(3) affix his initials against the voter's name in the electoral roll.

The polling officer shall then tell the voter how many votes may be given and shall give him the ballot paper.

15. The voter on receiving the ballot paper shall forthwith proceed to the place set apart for the purpose and there mark a cross against the name of the candidate or candidates for whom he intends to vote. He shall then fold up the ballot paper so as to conceal his vote and put it into the ballot box.

16. (1) If the voter is unable to read the ballot paper or to make a cross thereon and applies for assistance in doing so, the polling officer shall read it for him and, if so required, mark the ballot paper according to the directions of the voter and give it to him to put in the ballot box

(2) In the case of every voter whose ballot paper is marked in this manner by the polling officer, a note shall be made on the corresponding counterfoil of Form V by the polling officer of the reason why it was so marked.

(3) The marking of a ballot paper by the polling officer under clause (1) shall not be questioned subsequently on the ground that it was not in accordance with the voter's directions.

17. (1) Any ballot paper which is not duly marked or on which votes are given to more candidates than there are members to be elected or on which any mark is made by which the voters may afterwards be identified, shall be invalid.

(2) If more than one cross is placed against any candidate's name, they shall count only as one vote in his favour, provided that the voter has not placed crosses against more candidates than there are members to be elected.

(3) If the cross or any one of the crosses is so placed as to render it doubtful for which candidate such mark is intended to apply, the vote concerned, but not the whole ballot paper in the cases where more than one vote can be given on the same ballot paper, shall be invalid: provided again that the voter has not placed crosses against more candidates than there are members to be elected.

18 If a person representing himself to be a particular elector named on the electoral roll applies for a ballot paper after another person has voted as such elector, the applicant shall, after duly answering such questions as the polling officer may ask, be entitled to mark the ballot paper in the same manner as any other voter. The ballot paper (called in these rules a tendered ballot paper) shall, instead of being put into the ballot box, be given to the polling officer, and endorsed by him with the name of the voter and his number on the electoral roll and set aside in a separate packet and is not to be counted by the chairman. The signature or thumb impression of the voter concerned shall be taken on signature slips in Form IV, but should be attached to their connected tendered ballot papers and separately filed.

19. A voter who has inadvertently dealt with his ballot paper in such a manner that it cannot be conveniently used as a ballot paper may, on delivering it to the polling officer and satisfying him of the inadvertence, obtain another ballot paper in place of the spoilt one, the latter one together with its counterfoil being marked as cancelled.

20. Immediately after the close of the poll, the polling officer shall, in the presence of the candidates or their agents, make up into separate packets and seal with his own seal and the seal of such candidates or other agents as may desire to affix their seal—

(1) each ballot box in use at his station unopened;
(2) the keys of such boxes;
(3) the unused and spoilt ballot papers, both ordinary and tendered, with their counterfoils;
(4) the tendered ballot papers with the signature slips attached to them;
(5) the marked copies of the electoral roll and the counterfoils of ballot papers; and
(6) the file of signature slips.

21. The packets shall be forwarded at once by the polling officer to the chairman accompanied by a statement in Form VI. Each packet shall be numbered and shall bear a note as to its contents.

22. On the day and at the hour appointed for the counting of votes, and in the presence of such candidates or their agents as may be in attendance the chairman shall proceed as follows:—

(1) The ballot box or boxes relating to each polling station shall be opened one after another; the chairman shall take out the papers therefrom, count them or cause them to be counted and record the number thereof in a statement in Form VII.

(2) The chairman shall then mix together the whole of the ballot papers of all the ballot boxes. The examination and counting of the votes will then commence. The chairman shall, on every ballot paper which is wholly or partially rejected, endorse the word 'rejected.' If any candidate or agent present questions the correctness of his rejection order, he shall also record on the ballot paper the grounds of rejection briefly.

(3) The chairman shall, as far as practicable, proceed continuously with the counting of the votes; and shall, during any necessary intervals during which the counting has to be suspended place the ballot papers, packets and other documents relating to the election under his own seal and the seals of such candidates or their agents as may desire to affix them; and adequate precautions shall be taken for their custody.

23. (1) After the chairman has completed the scrutiny and counting he shall prepare a return of the results of the polling in Form VIII, and, after verifying the totals of the votes with the figures in Forms VI and VII, shall subject to the provisions of rule 28, declare the election of the candidate or candidates to whom most valid votes have been given.

(2) Any candidate or his agent shall, on application, be permitted to take a copy or an extract from the return in Form VIII.

24. The chairman shall not open the sealed packets containing the tendered ballot papers and their connected signature slips or the marked copies of the electoral roll.

25. Upon the completion of the counting and the declaration of the results, the chairman shall seal up in separate packets—

(1) the ballot papers, all or some of the votes on which have been counted; and
(2) the ballot papers, all the votes on which have been rejected;

and shall mark on each packet the number of papers it contains. A note shall be made giving a description of the contents of each packet and the election to which it relates.

Disposal of Ballot Papers

26. (1) The chairman shall after declaring the result, forward a copy of the return to the District Collector and shall retain in his custody the packets of ballot papers whether counted, rejected or tendered, and of the counterfoils thereof. The packets shall not be opened and their contents shall not be inspected or produced except under the orders of an election or other competent court.

(2) The chairman shall retain the packets for a year and shall then, unless otherwise directed by the orders of an election or other competent court, cause them to be destroyed. The marked copies of the electoral roll shall be preserved for three years.

General

27. (1) If any person has been elected for more words than one, he shall, within 24 hours from the date of the last of such elections, intimate to the chairman the ward for which he chooses to serve.

(2) In default of such intimation the chairman shall notify the ward for which such person shall serve.

(3) The said person shall be deemed to have been elected for the ward so chosen or notified as the case may be; and thereupon the voters of the other ward or wards for which such person has been elected shall proceed to elect a councillor in the manner herein before provided.

28. If there is an equality of votes between any two or more candidates the chairman shall, after notice to the candidates concerned decide by drawing lots which candidate or candidates shall be deemed to have been elected.

29. The name of the candidate or candidates, duly elected shall be forwarded without delay by the chairman to the Superintendent, Government Press for publication in the Fort St. George Gazette.

30. A candidate who has been duly elected may submit his withdrawal in writing to the chairman at any time before his election is gazetted. In such cases the chairman shall declare the candidate who has obtained the next highest number of votes to have been elected. No candidate who has submitted his withdrawal may subsequently cancel it.

31. If any question arises as to the interpretation of these rules, otherwise than in connection with an election inquiry, the question shall be referred to the Local Government whose decision shall be final.

32. If no chairman or vice-charman is, in the opinion of the Local Government, available to conduct the first elections under the District Municipalities Act, 1920, the Local Government may direct the Revenue Divisional Officer or any other person to exercise the functions of a chairman under these rules.

FREEMASONRY.

FREEMASONRY IN MADRAS

The earliest Lodge in Southern India was established at Madras in 1752, and this was follo ed by three others in 1765.

About 1766, Captain Edmond Pascal was appointed Provincial Grand Master for Madras a its Dependencies, and in the following year a fifth Lodge was erected at Fort St. George.

In 1774 Umdat-ul-Umra, eldest son of the Nawab of Arcot, was initiated at Trichinopc and in his reply to the congratulations of the Grand Lodge of England on the occasion he stated th "he considered the title of an English Mason as one of the most honourable he possessed."

The Coromandel Coast, as this District was then styled, continued under the Grand Lod of England until 1777 when Freemasonry under the "Regular" Grand Lodge went into abeyance this coast until 1784 During this period- one of depression owing to the disturbed state of t country—Atholl masonry kept the Craft alive in Southern India. In 1768, an "Antient" Lodge Atholl Masons, No. 152, was started at Fort St. George, it exercised the functions of a Provinc Grand Lodge in granting warrants for subordinate Lodges, it built a masonic hall and establishec charity fund; and in 1799 its Master and Past Masters were constituted into a Provincial Gra Committee with power to hear petitions and grant dispensations.

A Provincial Grand Lodge under the Atholl sanction was regularly established at Fort { George under warrant dated the 5th September, 1781, "but the dissensions in the settlements had rent asunder every link of social life, that even the fraternal bond of Masonry had been annihilated the general wreck."

In 1786, the Carnatic Military Lodge, No 488, was established at Arcot under the Gra Lodge of England

The rivalry between the two Grand Lodges of England was reflected in India and to Mad is due the credit of anticipating in a very happy manner the Union of 1813 by the amalgamation in 17 of the "Atholls" or "Antients" and the "Regulars" or "Moderns" under Brigadier-General Hor who had been appointed on the 20th February 1786, by the Duke of Cumberland as "Provincial Gra Master for the Coast of Coromandel, the Presidency of Madras, and parts adjacent". In the followi year Lodge No. 152 tendered its allegiance to General Horne, surrendered its warrant, and joined o of the Lodges under that Officer, and six other Lodges were added to the roll, viz., Perfect Harmoı St. Thomas' Mount; Social Friendship, Madras; Trichinopoly; Social Friendship, St. Thomas' Mou the Stewards and Perfect Unanimity.

During the period 1790-1812 four Lodges were added to the roll—Solid Friendship. Trici nopoly, 1790; Unity, Peace and Concord, 1798; St Andrew's Union (19th Foot), 1802 and Phils thropists, in the Scotch Brigade (94th Foot), 1802, at Madras

All these Lodges with the exception of that of Perfect Unanimity disappeared in course time and their places have been taken by others

The Provincial title "Coast of Coromandel" was exchanged for "Madras" in 1842.

The designation of the Provincial Grand Lodge was altered into that of District Gra Lodge in 1866.

In June, 1879, the Board of General Purposes was formed.

Of interesting public events in which the District Grand Lodge has taken part may mentioned the laying on the 15th September, 1823, of the foundation-stone of the building erected use as an Orphan Asylum in Popham's Broadway, Madras, and subsequently occupied by t Industrial School This memorial foundation-stone was subsequently removed to the premi occupied by the Civil Orphan Asylum first at Egmore and now on the Poonamallee Road.

On the 6th February, 1867, the District Grand Lodge held a special communication Chepauk in order to assist His Excellency the Governor in laying the chief corner-stone of t Presidency College.

In 1839 the District Grand Lodge assisted at the laying of the foundation-stone by Lc Elphinstone, the Governor of Madras, of the new Masonic Temple erected on the beach by t Lodge of Perfect Unanimity and in this temple Lord Elphinstone was installed as Provincial Gra Master on the 18th March, 1841. This property, which was leased by the Lodge of Perf Unanimity to the Government in 1867 and subsequently sold to them in 1875, is now occupied by t Inspector-General of Police.

The District Grand Lodge possesses an interesting relic in a Bible which was presented the Provincial Grand Lodge in 1862 by Bro. Barber of the 18th Regiment, M. I This had b presented by the 'John O'Gaunt' Lodge, Leinster, to the "John O'Gaunt in the East" Lod 15th Regiment, but the latter Lodge was never constituted

Prior to 1905 the District Grand Lodge did not possess any building of its own but held meetings in the premises occupied by private Lodges, in the earlier days in those of the Lodge Perfect Unanimity, from 1867 to 1885 at the Masonic Hall in Vepery where the majority of t Lodges of Madras City held their meetings, and from 1886 to 1905 in the premises belonging to t Lodge of Perfect Unanimity on the Mount Road.

Various attempts have been made in the past with the object of erecting a central temple at the head-quarters of the district. A scheme for a central masonic hall was brought forward in 1869 but did not fructify. Ten years later it was resolved to form a Madras Freemasons' Hall Association in order to acquire and furnish a hall for the accommodation of the District Grand Lodge and of the Lodges meeting at the Presidency Town.

In 1905 the District Grand Lodge purchased the Mount Road property belonging to the Lodge of Perfect Unanimity, and the Lodges in the city became its tenants. Several schemes for the improvement of this building and its adaptation for masonic purposes were considered but had eventually to be abandoned owing to the fact that the building itself did not lend itself to the purpose The property was sold on the 1st July, 1915. District Grand Lodge continuing as tenant for some time, and in April, 1917, a plot of land in a central position in Egmore was acquired with the object of erecting thereon a suitable Freemasons' Hall with offices for the District Grand Lodge. While the scheme for the latter was under elaboration a temporary building was erected on the property acquired

The foundation stone of the new building was laid on 20th February 1923 by Bro H E. Lord Willingdon at which function the elite of Madras was present The building has nearly been completed and it is hoped to be ready early this year

During the last forty-two years the number of Lodges has increased from eighteen to thirty three and the number of brethren from slightly above 500 to upwards of 1,800 - Masonic Calendar.

Head-quarters, Adyar.

The organization consists of a President, Vice-President, Honorary General Secretary, Treasurer and a Committee of an Advisory Council of the Secretaries of all the branches. It now has 50 branches in all parts of India and nearly 3,000 members. The official magazine of the Association is called Stri Dharma. Through correspondence with the Head-quarters Secretary and through the official magazine, the branches and members are linked into a unified sisterhood with a sense of strength, courage and inspiration which could not be got by entirely independent isolated educational centres. The political policy of the Association is to work for reforms through the Legislative Council.—The aims, ideals and work of the Association are on a religious basis.

Objects. To present to women their responsibility as daughters of India; to help them to realise that the future of India lies largely in their hands; to secure for women the vote for Municipal and Legislative Council as it is or may be granted to men; to secure for women the right to be elected as members on all Municipal and Legislative Councils; and to band women into groups for the purpose of self-development, education and for the definite service of others. Membership—Women who agree and co-operate with the objects of the Association may become members. Groups of women having the same aims can be affiliated to the Women's Indian Association. Members are asked, but not obliged, to pay a subscription of 12 annas a year to the Headquarters of the Association. (Locock's Gardens, Kilpauk.)

Lunatic patients admitted to the Asylum are of two classes: (1) Voluntary Boarders; (2) Patients admitted under reception order: A voluntary boarder is a patient who suffers from some mental disorder and wishes to enter the Asylum for treatment. Such a patient must apply to the Superintendent for a form, which he (the patient) is required to fill up, sign and have countersigned by two official visitors before he can enter the Asylum as a voluntary patient. To secure the admission of a patient by his relative, the relative is required to fill in the form of reception order and present it to a first-class Magistrate of the district or division in which the patient resides, together with two medical certificates in the prescribed form, signed respectively by the Gazetted Medical Officer and by a recognized Medical Practitioner who must have examined the patient separately within the previous 7 days. Two more documents are also necessary, one a form filled up and signed by the magistrate after his inquiry into the case and the other an engagement in writing from the petitioner or some other person for the payment of the cost of the maintenance of the lunatic in the Asylum. But before applying for the reception of a patient into the Asylum, inquiry should be made as to whether accommodation is available. If in possession of means, voluntary boarders are required to pay at the rates laid down in the Asylum rules. Destitutes are admitted free; the rates at which patients are admitted are graded according to income; in the case of poor patients with families dependent on them, a reduction of charges will be made; voluntary boarders may leave the Asylum at any time, on giving the Superintendent 24 hours' notice in writing and patients admitted under reception order can be removed by the relative who petitioned for their admission on making an application in writing to the Superintendent who will give permission at his discretion; friends or relatives permitted to visit patients on Saturdays between 2 and 4 p.m. generally; further information regarding rules of admission and the charges levied can be had from the Superintendent, Mental Hospital, Madras; accommodation for 724 inmates of all classes.
